We would like to urge the parents who have children in school to insist on their punctuality in attendance. Unless parents and teachers shall work together in this matter, but little, can be accomplished. The teachers would be glad to place on the "Rell of Honor," for punctuality, a much larger number of their pupils than they have thus far been able to, but this can only be done by the hearty cooperation of the parents. The average attendance of the pupils has thus far been very good, but we hope for a still better record for the month to come. The holidays with the usual excitements
