NEBRASKA ADVERTISER

A special meeting of the Nebraska State Farmers' Alliance will be held at Hastings, Neb., Jan. 25th and 26th, '82.

The Nebraska Farmer is still whacking away at Senator Van Wyck. The story of the fly on the ox's horn would fit the case, exactly.

The dampfools of the Post—especially Nosey—picked up something too hot for them, and they hid it right down again, and went off and cried again.

The gamblers of Lincoln have been notified by the Mayor to close their hells at once, and the filerant ones to get out of the city within twenty-four hours. That's the way to do it.

A railroad boarding house, seven miles from Pittsburg, Pa., in the garret of which about forty laborers were sleeping on the night of the 10th, caught fire by the explosion of a lamp, burning about 20 of the men to death.

Mason S. Haddock succeeded by shooting a pistol ball through his head at Dayton, Ohio, 14th inst. He was Captain of Co. H, 11th Indiana cavalry during the war. He left a letter directed to the coroner, saying that ill health and despondency was the cause.

Town lots in Wymore that were purchased last June and July for $30 to $50, sold this week for $800 to $850, so says the Wymore paper. That is the new B. & M. town that played old Blue Springs out.

The Senate would not make Riddle-berger sergeant-at-arms, and thereupon Madison and his friends have made him U. S. senator. A keen rebuke to Ben. Hill and some of the others who said ungentlemanly things regarding Riddleberger, to have him placed on an equality with them in the same political body.

A gigantic fraud has been unmasked in the construction department of the A. T. & Santa Fe railroad, whereby the company has been defrauded out of about $600,000. This was carried on by a system of bogus time checks, properly certified by section bosses and indorsed over to the third party who drew the money. The fraud has been going on for six years at the rate of $100,000 a year.

How Dr. Miller was overcome by Kellogg's singing is best described in the words of the immortal A. Ward after he had listened to a well-known prima donna: "When she bowed her head I bowed mine. When she pouted her lips I pouted mine. When she laughed I laughed. When, in the next song, she looked straight at me & called me her Dear, I wildly told the man next to me he might lay my close, as I should never want 'em again no more in this world."—Omaha Republican.

Death is separated from life by the narrowest accident. Mrs. Seoville, the sister of the assassin, received a letter from him some days before the 2d of July, in which he informed her of his intention to murder the President, and then she telegraphed her husband to return to Chicago, which he did, and heard of the assassination on his arrival.
Had she telegraphed to Washington instead, the deed of blood would have been averted.—Omaha Republican.

If that is true, it goes to show that she hasn't any more sense than the law allows her.

We are of the opinion that a large majority of the state favor allowing women an equal right to vote, providing a majority of them desire it.— Ashland Gazette.

We do not think the proposition should depend on that provision at all. If it would be right—and we believe it would be—to confer upon women the privilege of voting, then that privilege should be conferred, for her to use or not, agreeable to her own pleasure in the matter. We occasionally hear the assertion made, falsely we believe, that a majority of women do not want to vote. It is invariably made as an excuse for opposing the question, but as an argument does not touch the point at issue. The question of woman suffrage is only pertinent to those who do want to vote, and not to such as do not, for nobody proposes to compel them to vote or to interfere in any way with their present social or political habits and manner and custom of doing things about the house. But they will all vote when they get the chance, regardless of what they may say about it now. Some will vote for principle, some for measures, some for spite, some just because they can, and when the Hon. Old Mrs. Skipper comes out for Congress against the handsome Tom, Majors or Church Howe, every mother's daughter of them will flock to the polls to vote for the latter.

Santa Claus!

Have you seen his

Headquarters at Nickell's

He has the largest variety of Holiday goods ever brought to Brownville.
His gifts are the most beautiful, and his stock is immense.

Don't Fail to Visit Nickell's this week.

His sales since Dec. 1st have been double those of any preceding year, and he wants you all to come and make your selections as early as possible, so he can give you more attention, and you then get first choice. He will keep my goods you purchase till you desire them.

Mr. Nickell purchased most of his goods this year in job lots and can give you a great deal lower prices than ever before.

IT WILL PAY YOU WELL.
For the trip to see his wonderful assortment, and you will be astonished to see how little money it takes to make a child happy.

A Jointed Wax Doll, with Movable head, only 15 cents.

and many things in the same ratio.
He has never had such an immense stock of Books, Silverware, and Jewelry, as this year. The most fastidious will be well pleased when they make their selections at Nickell's, and all will go away happy with the money they have saved.

Remember, Nickell's Drug Store is the place to see Santa Claus.

Heroes of the Plains.

Buel's latest book, bearing the above title, published by Dan Luman, St.
Louis, Missouri, seems to have captivated all classes of readers. Maj. Gen Wesley Merritt, of the U. S. Army, has written a letter to the author, in which he says: "You seem throughout to have appreciated the fact that a faithful rendition of the exploits of our Frontier Heroes was sufficient to captivate the attention of the reader, and to command the sympathy of all who are interested in manly courage and the progress of civilization in the Great West." The book has received many other commendations of equally high order, and is meeting with remarkable success. Hon. Wm. F. Cody, (Buffalo Bill) was so charmed with the book, he immediately negotiated with a well known dramatic writer of the East to dramatize the work and next season will play "Heroes of the Plains" on the stage. This fact stamps the book as a success and a gold mine for the publishers and their local agents. America leads the world in all grand enterprises.

U. S. Senator Ben. Hill, of Georgia, in a "few remarks" the other day on civil service reform, but when he said "Yet that very man was removed from the New York custom house on the ground that an honest administration of his office required his removal." Senator Hill knew he was uttering a falselhood when he made that assertion, for he knew that General Arthur was removed by Hayes for the same reason that Gen. Merritt was removed by Garfield—not for dishonesty in office, but to advance a political scheme, and carry out the peculiar political policy of the president. Hill's point on civil service reform would have been just as well made had he confined himself to the truth instead of traveling outside of the truth in his anxiety to stab President Arthur.

Calvert had a big row during the process of a dance, one night last week.
Calvert has no saloons of place where liquor is sold, and it could not therefore have been a drunken row. It is one case, we presume, where rowdyism and fighting cannot be hid directly at the door of the saloon keeper.—Humboldt Sentinel.

Those who kicked up the row were drunk, all the same. We presume they got their bottles filled at Brownville or Nemaha City.

Nosey of the Post declines to tell the buggy wheel story that he professed to know so much about, and says it wasn't him, but his associate liar who wrote the item. He then slashes around like a blind pup in a meat house in a column dishwasher apology to his readers. Well we hit our mark all the same, and the people have the humiliating spectacle of a pair of alleged editors playing crawfish.

Rose-water wants to be appointed night watchman by Doorkeeper Brownlow of the House. At least he says that Nebraska will be satisfied with the place, and he has always acknowledged that he is Nebraska.—State Journal.
