NEBRASKA ADVERTISER

The music of Beecher's church last year cost $5,270.

It's a wonder the whole jury isn't sick.—Inter Ocean.

J. F. Simpson, of Detroit has been found guilty, in the first degree, of the murder of his wife.

Secretary McVeagh and P. M. Gen.
James have been routed by the star routers. They retreated from the field in the midst of the fight. That's all right so far as the country is concerned, for two better men have their places.

The new town of Carson, located in Nemaha county, and named after John L. Carson, the banker of Brownville, has been platted and lots put on the market. If we are not mistaken Nemaha county is getting her full quota of new towns, and all of them to be the future county seat.—Nebraska City News.

The prospective town is at the crossing of the M. P. and R. V. railroads.

A little Ohio girl, making a contribution to the Garfield monument fund, addressed a quaint letter to "Mr. Committee," in which she said: "I am a little girl 7 years old, and I live five miles from Hiram, our dear President's former home. Now, my uncle Oscar, living in Cleveland, said I could not spell hippopotamus. He bet me a dollar.
I won the bet. It is the first dollar I ever earned, and I would like you to please accept this as a token of love to our beloved President Garfield."

A man named George Traverse, at Waverly, Nebraska, made a desperate assault on the person of his wife a few days ago, with a knife, inflicting several severe wounds about her head, arms and breast, and doubtless would have killed her there and then had not her screams brought immediate assistance. She will probably recover. Before the enraged man could be disarm-ed, believing he had fatally stabbed his wife, he drew his knife across his own neck, but did not quite touch the spot.
He is now in jail at Lincoln.

Ex-Senator Paddock is reported as saying that he wrote a letter to President Arthur declining to be assistant secretary of the treasury, and imparting the information to the president that Secretary Folger should be permitted to select his assistant from amongst his acquaintances. Most men would wait until a position was tendered them before declining. Padd. didn't wait to put the president to that trouble; and doubtless the president is under a thousand obligations to him for his advice. If the ex-Senator is chuck full of anything it is a weak, harmless sort of egotism.

Judge Horace Gray, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, has been nominated by the president to fill the vacancy on the U. S. Supreme Bench occasioned by the death of Justice Nathan Clifford. He is the second Massachusetts Chief Justice that has been called to the Supreme Bench of the United States. The former was Judge Story. Judge Gray is 55 years old, aristocratic and 6 feet 4 inches in height, and somewhat resembles Charles Sumner. In the days of Free Soilism he was one of them, and was a delegate to the first Free Soil convention of Massachusetts.

Inter Ocean: Secretary Blaine's remarks upon the inter-oceanic canal seem to have caused considerable commotion among the European statesmen, and it is not remarkable that the journals of Great Britain and Europe dissent most emphatically from the position Mr. Blaine takes. When our foreign policy was shaped by Mr. Evarts that gentleman allowed nothing to be done that would injure the interests of his professional clients, and it so happened that he was more thoughtful of the welfare of the Panama Railroad Company than of the dignity of the government. The contrast between the utterances of Mr. Evarts and Mr. Blaine on the same subject is therefore very striking, and the vigorous language used by the latter commands the respect of our rivals over the water, while the vacillating and conciliatory policy of Mr. Evarts merely gave evidence of American timidity that did not exist. The London Times recognizes the strength of Mr. Blaine's position, and, while it very naturally objects to it, says, by way of admission, that "Mr. Blaine's case, however, is stronger in some ways than he ventures to make it, as the time must arrive when the weak Central American countries will be absorbed by the United States, and the coast line will extend to the full limits that Blaine fancifully indicates."

The State Journal in an item on woman suffrage, seriously advances this curious idea:

It believes it is the bounden duty of every voter in Nebraska to cast his vote upon this question just as his wife, if he has one, instructs him to cast it.
If he has no wife let him consult his mother, or his best sister, or his favorite sweetheart, or his daughter.
Voting thus, we shall have a full, fair and conclusive decision of the question when the ballots are counted.

Our better-half instructs us to vote just as we please. That's right. We intended to do that when we asked for instructions. We enquired of her if she would vote if she had the right to.
She answered that she had never taken any interest in the suffrage question; that she did not think she would rush to the polls on every occasion, but that occasionally there was a question or principle involved in the result of elections upon which she would vote from a sense of duty, if the privilege were accorded her. We think this lady's ideas about voting are about the same as a great many others, in fact a majority of women, who are not "woman rights" stalwarts. We do not know what proportion of the women of Nebraska "want to vote," and we do not want to know, as the condition of a principle. We do know, however, some estimable women who want the right to vote, and we propose to give it to them. We also know many more just as good and intelligent whose desires on the subject we do not know. We propose to remove the obstructions in their way to the polls, and then leave them, precisely as their husbands are, free to vote or not. We do not doubt that many good women do not care about the matter, and really think they would not vote if they could, but once given them the privilege, and they would doubtless vote, if not at every election, surely when it should be greatly to their interest to do so.

Present Condition of the State Normal School.

The year now closing has been one of the most prosperous in the history of the institution. The catalogue shows an attendance of 274 students, all preparing to teach. Of these, forty were graduated last Commencement Day, six in the Higher and thirty-four in the Elementary Course, representing in all twenty counties in the state.
This is but little more than an average of the numbers graduated annually for the last five years, but in the meantime the school has risen to a higher plane in point of well-directed effort, and a marked improvement is manifest in the general culture, moral tone, and professional enthusiasm of all its students.
The principle of self-government has been so fully developed on the part of the students that to common observation the school appears to be self-regulative. A large majority of the students have not been absent from chapel exercises nor missed a recitation during the fall term, and this has been true of many of them for the whole scholastic year. Of the whole number of students in attendance this year, 157 are young ladies, and 117 young gentlemen. 260 of them are from Nebraska, and 14 of them are from other states.
They represent 38 counties and 4 states.
Their average age is a little over 20 years. The next term begins the 4th of January, 1882.

The law is very blind in Nebraska as well as in other states, when the money power is invoked, but Judge Lynch rarely makes a mistake.—Blair Republican.

The Blair Republican gives itself completely away in its last sentence.
Olive and his associates were the very same "Judge Lynch" that is the admiration of our northern contemporary.
The two men killed Olive's brother, a deputy sheriff who went to arrest them on a warrant for cattle stealing, and his friends lynched them in the usual way by taking them out of the hands of the sheriff and his posse by force.
Let us have no more praise of Judge Lynch in Nebraska. We have had enough and to spare of his inhuman proceedings.—State Journal.

The Journal is right. "Judge Lynch rarely makes a mistake," says the Republican, thus admitting that Judge Lynch does make mistakes sometimes, and cruelly puts to death innocent men.

Is it an affectation, or worse, in the Chicago Tribune to speak, as it habitually does, of President Arthur, as "Acting President Arthur?"—New York Graphic.

The Chicago Tribune has an "inspiration" of that kind, "or worse." Its favorite adjective to General Arthur's predecessor were "the dishonest, wood-pulp Garfield."—Inter Ocean.

The Washington monument commission will ask Congress for $200,000 to complete the work.

A telegram says, Ben. Lynch, a worthless resident of Putnam County was killed by his step-sons, Wm. and Levi Young. They beat his brains out with clubs.

The health officers of Chicago have taken steps to compel every man woman and child who has not been vaccinated, to have it done at once.
This is done to check the alarming spread of smallpox.

One would think there is plenty of smallpox in this country without importing more. A ship last week landed at New York with 1,113 passengers, over 1,000 being immigrants with that dreaded disease amongst them.

The family of J. A. Ingraham, a miner, of Mt. Union, Pa., was hurled into eternity in the following manner: Before going to work, Ingraham placed a can of dynamite on his cook-stove to dry. The package exploded with dreadful force, tearing the building to pieces and killing Ingraham, his wife, and their four children.

NEW WORDS.—The new Edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, numbering 1928 quarto pages, contains nearly 500 new words or new meanings of old ones. These words range over the fields of science, medicine, invention, discovery, research, etc., departments which in this age are constantly yielding fresh ideas, requiring new words to express them.

That they have not been hastily compiled is evidenced by the accuracy of and careful study given to their etymology and definitions.

The intelligent reader, or any reader who would be intelligent, will find this feature of the dictionary quite indispensable.

Godey's Lady's Book for January is full of good things. A beautiful steel plate, illustrating the escape of the Countess Isabella from the castle of Schonwaldt, as told by Sir Walter Scott in "Quentin Durward," a double page design for a window curtain, in colors; the usual rich illustrations of dress for ladies, embracing the very latest fashions; a complete novel by Ivo Churchill, entitled "Mock Jewels;" and a goodly collection of shorter stories and miscellaneous original matter. We would suggest to those who do not take it, that the Lady's Book would make a handsome holiday present to your friend. Any of our readers can be supplied promptly, by leaving their orders at this office. We will furnish our own paper and the Lady's Book for the low price of $3.15 per annum. As this issue begins the current year, now is a good time to send in your subscription. The publication office is 1006 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

There are some newspapers and some persons, severely criticizing Judge Cox for permitting Guiteau to talk so much, and so abusive. To have restrained him one of two things would have to have been done—to try him without his presence in court or had him sit there week after week with a gag in his mouth. Even had such a course as either of these been according to law and precedent, and been adopted, there would doubtless have been more general dissatisfaction than there is with the one pursued. The people now read the proceedings of the trial closely, and whatever may be the result, they know more of the assassin, and are better prepared to form opinions to suit themselves, than if he had been gagged or kept in jail. And his demeanor, and eccentric way of conducting himself before the jury will help the jury to arrive at a truer estimate of his mental condition and a verdict. His ravings, insults, and disgusting manners from day to day, are considered by the Judge, the attorneys, and the witnesses, in connection with the source from which they emanate and do not permit their dignity and good sense to be insulted by him.
When the Judge shall have delivered his charge to the jury, which we doubt not will cover all legitimate explanations, the little narrow minds of such papers as the New York Tribune will be exposed to a clearer light.

The Union Hotel

Is growing in public favor. Commercial men are learning that at the Union is the best place to stop for good fare and cordial accommodations. The increasing custom and demand for first-class fare, has made it necessary for the Union to take an up grade step. It has recently been refurbished and otherwise improved. Best table, best beds, best everything, and only $2.00 a day. The best and most convenient sample room in the city is now connected with the house.
