

A SMALL-POX CURE.

A Simple Remedy, Strongly Vouched for by a Member of the Royal College.

A correspondent furnishes us with a slip cut from an old number of the Courier, containing a remedy for the virulent small-pox, scarlatina and measles, which we gladly republish, thinking it may be of interest to many, now that the first-named disease is generally prevalent throughout the country. It is as follows:

A merchant and shipowner has had the following recipe sent him from England, where it was furnished by Dr. Larkin, member of the royal college of surgeons, and who vouches for it as a medicine that will effect a revolution in the head art as regards the prevention and cure of small-pox, and also the measles and scarlatina, however malignant the type, in a manner more efficient and extraordinary than could ever have been hitherto anticipated by the most ardent philanthropist. On the first appearance of fever or irritation ushering in an attack, whether occurring in families or large communities, the subdued mode of treatment should at once be entered on. Take one ounce of powdered foxglove or digitalis (valuable in the ratio of its greenness—the dark should be rejected) and one of sulphate of zinc (this article is commonly known as vitriol). These should be rubbed thoroughly in a mortar or other convenient vessel, with four or five drops of water; this done, a noggin (or about four ounces) more, with some syrup or sugar should be added. Of this mixture, a tablespoonful should be given to an adult, and two teaspoonfuls to a child, every second hour until the symptoms of the disease vanish. Thus conducted, convalescence, as if by magic, will result. The rapidity of an event so auspicious will equally delight and astonish. It may, however, be necessary to further note that should the bowels become obstructed in progress of the disease, an evil by no means common, then a drachm of the compound powder of jalap (formed of two parts cream tartar with one of jalap) and one grain of the herb, treated as above, formed into a paste with syrup or sugar, should be given to an adult and half the quantity to a child. The simple medicine shuts out every other form of article whatever, as totally unnecessary, if not pernicious. The methodus medendi of these medicines capable of effecting results so gigantic remains now only to be given, and appears to be as follows: The herb, by its anti febrile properties, lays hold at once of the fever—the profuse source of woe—which it immediately strangles, while the zinc acts the part of a tonic, instantly restoring the equilibrium. Mr. Larkin adds: "No emigrant or government vessel should hereafter be allowed to put to sea without a few pence worth of these protectors; and it is further ardently hoped that, as the dearest interests of our common humanity are so vitally interested in this discovery, the press of all countries will give publicity to this announcement.—Boston Courier.

THE PLAGUE AT KEOKUK.

A Letter From Mr. Hillis, President of the Board of Health.

KEOKUK, Ia., January 5.—There are no new cases of small-pox. One death occurred at the pest house to-day. Mr. Hillis, president of the board of health of Keokuk, having been addressed by the president of the board of health of Hannibal relative to the small-pox, answered:

G. S. SMITH, M. D., President of the Board of Health, Hannibal, Mo.

DEAR SIR: In reply to yours, bearing date of December 31, 1881, inquiring about the small-pox in this city, I answer there is a limited number of cases, confined entirely to medical students, and as yet no apparent tendency to spread among the citizens outside of the students. It originated from an affected cadaver within the medical college. There are nine cases in all, four of whom have been removed to the pest house, three miles from the city. Two died, and three are in the city doing well, but too sick to remove. The medical college has been closed by order of the board of health. You may rely upon this as being a true statement of the situation at this writing. Every means is being used to head off and stamp it out at once, with a good hope of success. The citizens are being generally vaccinated. The town is quiet, and business is moving in its channels. Thanking you for your inquiry, I have the honor to remain Yours respectfully,

D. B. HILLIS, M. D., President of the Board of Health.

KEOKUK, January 5.—No new cases of small-pox. Two deaths—one in the pest house and one in the city, making five deaths in all of the ten original cases.

An Omaha minister in a recent sermon said: The enforcement of the Slocumb law in this city means the practical closing up of one hundred saloons, and this is the most noteworthy step of progress in the history of our state. One hundred saloons are legislated out of existence, and the first of April will see one-half of the remaining ones taking in their signs. There are only about forty saloons now in operation in that city.

All we have to depend upon for our translations of the New Testament are copies, ancient versions, translations, and the quotations made by the Fathers of the Church. The manuscripts of the New Testament are of two kinds—the uncial, the oldest class of manuscripts, written in capitals and without punctuation, and the "cursive" manuscripts, so called from their being written in a running hand that began to be used in the tenth century. Those of the old class were written between the fourth and tenth centuries, the others after the tenth century. Of the old there are one hundred and thirty in existence, of the new about one thousand five hundred. The very old and very valuable manuscripts are only five. Of these, the Alexandrian Codex was originally discovered at Alexandria, and was sent to King Charles I. in 1628. It is now in the British Museum. Nothing is known of the origin of this, but it is usually assigned to the middle of the fifth century. It is much mutilated, twenty-four chapters of the first Gospel, two of the fourth, and eight of one of the Epistles being missing. The next is the Vatican manuscript, supposed to have been written in the fourth century. A copy of this was never made till 1868, when a facsimile was issued. The condition of this was much more perfect. The third manuscript is that in the National Library at Paris, whither it was brought by Catharine de Medicis. This had been over-written—that is, the parchment had been used for other writings; but, in spite of that, the original has been deciphered. It is assigned to the early part of the fifth century. The fourth manuscript is that now in Cambridge. This is the least valuable, as it is much mutilated. It belongs to the sixth century. The manuscript found in 1844 in the convent of St. Catharine on Mount Sinai by Tischendorf, and copied by him in 1859, is the most valuable of the five, as it contains the New Testament complete. This is supposed to have been written in the fourth century. None of these most valuable authorities were consulted in any of the past English versions of the Bible, even in making that of King James' time. The Latin Vulgate, the plentiful cursive manuscripts and the translations were used.

Our Omaha Letter.

OMAHA, Jan. 2, 1882.

Saturday night was a notable one in the annals of the city of Omaha. On that night when the town clock struck the midnight hour one hundred saloons closed their doors never to reopen, while the remaining fifty (of the 150 in all) closed temporarily, or, until Wednesday, when new license will be granted to those who may comply with the provisions of the "Slocumb law."

During the earlier hours of that night liquor flowed freely—more so than water—and drunkenness marked many a disgraceful scene. The dens and doggeries for which Omaha is conspicuous, were in full blast, each trying to excel the other in their drunken merriment. "Black eyes" and "bloody noses" were the evening rage, while the police were kept busy—on the march from beat to jail, with drunken women as well as men. Such, and even worse, was the state of affairs on last Saturday evening.

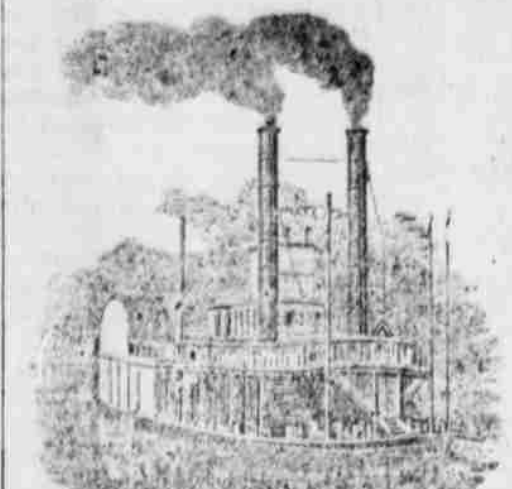

Mayor Boyd has notified all that the law will be strictly enforced and no further compromise will be made. One or two saloon-keepers have declared their intention of disobeying, but it will be of no avail.

The Millard Hotel is now enclosed and the work of finishing the interior has been commenced. The walls of the Grand Central are well up on the third story. The remodeling of the old "Cozzins House" is almost completed; while arrangements are being made for the rebuilding of the Tremont House on 16th street. Thus within the next six months Omaha will have four accessions to its list of hotels, completed and ready to accommodate the traveling public.

The pavement question is slowly reaching a solution, and now has a tendency to settle upon cedar pavements as being compatible with the financial circumstances of the city. The cedar is to be obtained from the Niobrara country, which is said to be plentiful and excellent for the purpose. One thing is certain, something must be done before the thaws and spring rains.

Senator Van Wyck is interesting himself in the laudable work of endeavoring to secure the titles of settlers to lands in the southern part of the state, which the St. Joe & Denver lays claim to—nowithstanding the settlers have patents from the government for their homes. He declared, from his seat yesterday, that if this claim of the railroad company was made good the government would treat the settlers worse than England treats the Irish farmers.—Plattsmouth Journal.

Truly a laudable work. Van Wyck is the right man in the right place. If those settlers should lose their lands by judicial decision, Senator Van Wyck will doubtless be ready with a bill to amply reimburse them from the Government treasury for all losses they may sustain of lands and otherwise.
