The Sheridan Post, last week refers, with evident gusto, to a business transaction between the publishers of the ADVERTISER and Mr. Church Howe, and gives a self-gratulatory grunt in approval of its shrewdness in making the discovery. The fact is however, there was no secret, nor attempt to make a secret, about the matter, and any who chose to interest themselves about our business was welcome to know about it, and had no occasion to go nosing around after the news according to the usual methods of the Post. Since this business with Mr. Howe will now doubtless be made the occasion of much talk and immense lying amongst the enemies of Mr. Howe and the ADVERTISER, it is probably best for us to say something for the satisfaction of our friends, with no hope or least care or desire, that our enemies shall tell the truth or be just in what they think or say, knowing as we do how utterly incapable they are of being truthful, manly and fair.

For many years, as is well known, the ADVERTISER was owned and published by Fairbrother & Hacker. Last winter in the midst of the strife over the speakership and senatorial question, Mr. Hacker made a peremptory demand for a dissolution of partnership. The ADVERTISER being compelled to identify itself with one of the factions, chose the side of Mr. Howe, and at that time was making a vigorous fight for him for the speakership. Upon the demand of Mr. Hacker the alternative presented itself of buying his interest or selling out and letting the paper go into the hands of the opposing faction. We had not the means at command to purchase. So, needing assistance we of course went amongst our friends to obtain it. We laid the situation before Mr. Howe, giving him the opportunity to retain the office in his interest. He had no pecuniary interest in the paper, but in the generosity of his nature and appreciating the support we had unselfishly given him, he said "go on and buy Hacker out, pay what you can, and I'll see you through with it if you need help." Taking our son, G. W. F., Jr. and son-in-law Ben. F. Sanders into partnership, we made the purchase, paid what we could, and when Mr. Hacker's last note became due, being unable to meet it Mr. Howe came to our rescue, saying the ADVERTISER had stood by him and he proposed to stand by it. We went to a friend, for an accommodation, who had had our conscientious support, up to that time, and when we did not owe him a dollar. In our dealing with Mr. Howe we have no crow prepared for us to eat. The other side had not money enough, never will have enough, to buy our support; and neither has Mr. Howe, or any other man. Our conscience nor any of our rights are bartered away—never will be. Mr. Howe knows us too well to attempt to dictate to us. No line or word of conversation ever passed between us regarding our future political course, as a condition of loaning us a little money. He knows that we are candid, generous and fair, that we had supported him without promise of reward in the past, and these things were sufficient for him to know. As to what our future course will be, circumstances will guide us, as in the past. The ADVERTISER is Republican of the unflinching, unwavering breed; and we unhesitatingly declare that we have no other thought now but the defense and support of Mr. Howe, when he shall need them as a staunch Republican, but not any stronger nor a moment longer than we would had we no business transaction with him. Mr. Howe, we have long been convinced, is the most able and energetic worker for the interests of the people in the county. That is why we took up his banner, and that is why we will continue to hold it up, so long as we entertain that opinion. We regret that we are poor, but we are not ashamed of our business transactions, hence this statement, that our friends may know.

Some time ago some sneak thieves went upon Mat. Alderman's premises, killed a hive of bees and stole the honey. Mat. seemed much vexed about the matter, and reported it to Constable Lannon, he proceeded to work up the case, which he finally did to his satisfaction, so that all that was needed for him to lay his grip upon the collars of the thieves, was the necessary warrant from Alderman. But up to this time the latter has failed to call the spoliators of his property to account. There is a special strong law for the protection of bees in this State; and he who knowingly permits their malicious destroyers to escape the penalty of the law fails to perform a grave duty to the public, to say nothing of redressing his own wrongs.

 Sarah H. Swan, defendant, will take notice that on the 20th day of January, 1882, Louis M. Swan, plaintiff, herein filed his petition in the district court of Nemaha county, Nebraska, against said defendant, the object and prayer of which is to obtain a divorce from defendant, on the ground that defendant has been willfully absent from plaintiff for more than three years last past without any just cause. Plaintiff prays for a decree that he be divorced from defendant. You are required to answer said petition on or before the 6th day of March, 1882.
 Dated January 20, 1882. LOUIS M. SWAN.
 By his attorney, J. S. STULL.

NEMAHA CITY.
 -One of the twin babies of Mr. Daniel Maxwell, residing near town, was found dead in bed Friday morning last.
 -Doc B. Bell Andrews has been vaccinating the natives for some time. He slapped it into 80 at a neighboring school house last Friday.
 -Titus & Williams' store is crowded from dewy morn to rosy eve—for that is headquarters—where nearly everybody get their groceries and clothing; glassware and queensware, lamp chimneys and boots and shoes, clothes pins and ladies dress goods and trimmings—in fact that is the place where they get anything they want at bottom prices.
 -Nemaha is well pleased with the new postmaster, Philip Crother, who is eminently competent, of quick business conception, and accommodating to a fault in explaining the intricacies of Uncle Sam's postal system—not really a fault, but a great tax on his time and patience.
 -Call on the ADVERTISER to get your bills, posters, letter heads, bill heads, printed. Best job office in the county and a good stock of paper always on hand.
 -Birl Hoover is running the best grocery store in town.
 -Lots of splendid ice stored here.
 -T. & W. pay for their printer's ink.
 -Titus & William—best stock of groceries and general merchandise in the city.
 -Theodore Hill of this city and Mrs. Persie Zook, of Brownville, were united in marriage Wednesday. That cage is nearly ready, and it's a nice one.
 -Capt. J. S. Minick, Grand Worthy Chief Templar of Nebraska, and Philip Crother, Grand Worthy Secretary, are always with us. Quite an honor to Nemaha. Upon their stalwart shoulders rests an arduous work; and the 'real' or woe of the order for the year '82, depends to a great extent upon their management. They work solely for the good of the order this year—don't get a cent of remuneration. This sacrifice on their part in order to free the grand lodge from debt demands a great and generous appreciation from the subordinate lodges, who should discharge their duties promptly, and energetically second every effort of these grand officers to prosper the order and the cause of Temperance.

-Nemaha will excel all next summer in the size, elegance, and cost of buildings. Some of the other towns will no doubt beat her in the number of shanties they erect.
 -Nemaha although it has one saloon, is quite an orderly town this winter. There is a good deal in the way a saloon is run after all, it seems.
 -John Crother will do the best thing for you in the way of a new harness or mending your old ones.
 -Dr. Crim runs the best boarding house. Call there and get dinner.
 -The ADVERTISER gave the Nemaha City Mill a good notice last week. The mill is making an excellent article of flour now.
