

Nebraska Advertiser.

C. W. FAIRBROTHER & CO., Proprietors. CALVERT, NEBRASKA. LOCAL NEWS.

Nemaha City has a new drug store, by Bethel & Moore.

Fifteen new cases of small-pox developed last week at Joliet, Ill.

The emigrants from Nemaha City, bound for Oregon, will, they think, start the middle of May.

A Miss Ella O. Hick, at the town of Dayton, Ill., is under arrest for killing her twin babes. They were found in an old well.

Oscar Wilde is still unsatisfied with his trip to America, because there are no ruins here. Won't some one show him Sammy Tilden?

Some of the Brownville folks are mad at and abuse Nemaha City because the B. & M. Missouri river bridge is not going to be built away down at Rulo. How can Nemaha help it?

Nemaha City is elated over late preparations to put in a transfer, and build a bridge at that place; and Brownville is correspondingly depressed because the bridge is not going down to Rulo.

Now, Susan, put on your sun-bonnet, draw on your half-handers, get a pan and a case-knife, and go and gather a mess of greens for dinner. Don't care what fine-haired cranks say about fodder, we like 'em. Mustard isn't big enough yet, but you may find wild lettuce, crowfoot, lambquarter and sich, but be careful you don't pick any pizen weeds.

We looked through the orchard of our esteemed friend, Jno. Q. A. Smith, near Brownville, and satisfied ourself that he has the best apple orchard in the county, considering its size, locality, selection, variety, age of trees, and care; and if no natural calamity befalls it, such as a hail storm or tornado, he will have an immense harvest of fine fruit.

It will be a matter of interest for the brethren to know that Jesse James was a church member. Rev. G. W. Rogers, pastor in the Baptist church at Austin, Texas, in a letter to the Kansas City Times, says: "In October, 1877, at a meeting I held in the Baptist church in Kearney, he professed conversion and I baptized him. He prayed several times publicly, in prayer meeting, and seemed very much interested in Frank, for whom he prayed as 'his wayward brother.'"

It has been suggested that Calvert and Sheridan unite in building an educational edifice, THE ADVERTISER heartily endorses that suggestion. Let the two districts put their means together and construct a building on one of those centrally and beautifully situated eminences, and they will have something that will be a credit to the united towns, and serve, not only as a first-class institution in which to educate their own children, but also as an attraction to other intelligent people to locate with us.

Some persons of Brownville seem to be not at all satisfied with things out at Auburn. They were happy in hearing that a tornado struck the city, and at once became unhappy upon hearing that only one half-finished plank house had tumbled down, instead of the demolition of the town, in which half of the inhabitants were killed. Then in connection with this bad news to them, came the depressing intelligence that Calvert and Sheridan had united their destinies in one common name. This was especially harrowing to the sensitive soul of the average Brownvillian, because their main hope of retaining the county seat was based upon the perpetuation and growth of an imaginary throat-cutting feud between Calvert and Sheridan. Gentlemen, you may locate your sterna on a pine box and howl, while your customers are turning away to better establishments at more convenient places. The decrees of fate are relentless. The county seat must go.

"IT'S HANDSOME"

Is what they all say of the drug and book store of Shurts & Nickell, and well they may, for Tom put in the best part of last week painting, calomining, etc.—in fact had a regular siege of house-cleaning—and now can boast of as neat a store room as can be found anywhere. Although Tom has the nicest room in town he is not proud, and will sell you goods just as cheap as ever. Call and see him.
