The redistricting of the state insures Congressman Valentine's re-nomination and election.—West Point Progress.

The national convention of journeymen horse shoers was recently held in Chicago. It contains 25,000 members.

A. W. Nickell, druggist, of Brownville, was in the city last Friday, looking after his business interests here.

Paul Douglas' addition to his residence is almost finished. Paul now has one of the neatest and best houses in Calvert.

The Burlington says: "Senator Van Wyck has boldly met his traducers, and they hide away in shame, silent and conscious of their guilt."

J. N. Cassell, of Aurora, this state, shot and seriously wounded J. S. Miller last Friday. Cause: Miller was too intimate with Cassell's wife.

The extension of the B. & M. to Denver, was completed last Thursday.
Through trains are now running and regular passenger trains will be put on about the 1st of July.

The Kansas City barge line, according to the president's report, has not been a very profitable enterprise. This is mainly attributable, however, to the general failure of crops last year.

The boat in which four young men were fishing in Wolf Lake, near Chicago, capsized, and all were drowned.
Their names were John Kreuger, Otto Gibson, Geo. Oswald and Geo. Knobl.

Patrik Foy, county Sligo, Ireland, a steerage passenger on steamship British King, who committed suicide last Friday, exclaimed, as he leaped over the rail into the sea, "I'm the man who killed Lord Cavendish."

There were 8,122 commitments for drunkenness in Boston last year, and of these 2,033 were women. As drunk-ness, pauperism and crime are greatly on the increase in that city, the proprietory of prohibition is being seriously considered.

Poke Wells and Chas. Cook, the bank robbers and murderers, after a trial at Ft. Madison for murder, were sentenced to the penitentiary for life. Who ought to be hung for his crimes if not Poke Wells? Better wipe out the hanging business after that verdict.

A female crank at Chicago got it into head some way that she was going to have a baby, and that if she fasted until its birth it would be like unto Elijah, the Prophet. In this effort she starved herself to death, after which it was ascertained that she was not even enroute.

THE FARMER'S FOES.

BY P. J. WOOD.

The farmer's lot is a hard one, sure,
You cannot imagine all he has to endure, No wonder he grumbles and frets at his lot,
For he can not rest easy in any one spot,

In the spring it commences; it's too wet to sow, The weather turns colder; his crop's under the snow;

Then comes the strong wind, which blows them away,

And starts a prairie fire, which burns up his hay.

And just as the weather begins to let up, Along come the cut worms and eat it all up.

The little striped gopher comes in for his share, Who divides with his cousin, a rascally pair.

So the farmer replants it, working early and late, While sitting on the fence, looking sober, sad, Are the crows and the black birds, both laying their plans

To take the corn raising all off of his hands.

Well, the wheat has come up; is about to get ripe, When ten billion of chintz bugs open the fight.

They come, and they conquer, and they march up the hill,

His harvest is past, without any bill,

Sometimes, the grasshoppers, to help out the rest, As black clouds of heaven, come out of the west

And eat all they want, of anything green, Till no living plant on the earth can be seen.

And cholera comes, too, and takes off the hogs, His sheep are all killed, by some neighbor's dogs,

The wolves come and get his chickens at night And the tax-gatherer keeps him in continual af-fright.

He is hindered at morning, by a lightning rod agent,

Who wont let him off, to fill his engagement, Till he has agreed to pay so much for his rod

That he wishes all agents were under the sod.

But he is hardly gone, ere another one comes,
Who has a new book that will help him do sums.

He'd very much like his name on his list,
And he talks it so nicely that he puts down his fist.

He is met at the door, when he comes up at noon, By a different fellow, and a different tune,

Who has a huge fortune in an iron fence scheme;
He drives a fine carriage, drawn by a matched team,

Who says there's money in it, and tells it so true That he pays for the right of a county or two,

But when he is gone, he finds out too late That he is the worst swindled man in the State.

And so it goes on, from morning till night, There's hardly a thing that comes out just right.

The order he gave for the book was a note;
In order to pay it, it will take the last shote,

You can't find any fun in farming for me; I'm going to town, and then you shall see That I'll learn a profession of an honorable kind, And lead a life that is more to my mind.

An old liquor dealer, now retired from business, in an interview says:

"In most of the gin sold there will be found oil of vitrol, oil of turpentine, oil of almonds, sulphuric ether, and extracts of grains of paradise. It is in the manufacture of whisky, however, that the adulterators do the finest work. You can purchase oils and essences from which 'whisky of any age' can be produced. This style of whisky when tested will show sulphuric acid, caustic potassa, benzine, nux vomica, and other poisons. This is the sort of stuff that bores into the coatings of the stomach and creates ulcers. Pure whisky, in my opinion, will hurt no one when taken in reasonable quantities, but this adulterated stuff is murderous. In porter you will find opium, herbane, capsicum, cocculus indicus, copperas, tobacco, and sulphuric acid. In beer, alum, opium, nux vomica, green copperas, vitrol, sub-carbonate of potash, and jalop are used."

Money for a Rainy Day.

"For six years my daughter was sick from kidney and other disorders. We had used up our savings on doctors, when our dominie advised us to try Parker's Ginger Tonic. Four bottles effected a cure, and as a dollar's worth has kept our family well for over a year, we have been able to lay by money again for a rainy day."—A Poor Man's Wife.

Useless Fright.

To worry about any Liver, Kidney or Urinary trouble, especially Bright's Disease or Diabetes, as Hop Bitters never fails of a cure where a cure is possible. We know this.

The Distinguishing Charm.

A delightful fragrance of freshly gathered flowers and spices is the distinguishing charm of Floreston Cologne.

Prison Data.

On the evening of the 15th of May there were in the Nebraska penitentary just 270 convicts. Two hundred and seven sentenced from Nebraska; forty-eight from Wyoming Territory; ten from New Mexico, and five United States prisoners.

Douglas county has a larger representation at the penitentiary than any other county in the state. She heads the list with forty-three convicts, Lancaster comes next with sixteen convicts, followed by Gage and Lincoln, each having ten.

Strange as it may be seen, there are no preachers, lawyers or editors in the prison. Among the occupations represented are sixty-two farmers, nineteen herdsmen, forty-two laborers, eleven miners, three saloon keepers, one telegraph operator, eight Carpenters, four blacksmiths, six brick layers, four book-keepers and four barbers.

There are 232 convicts that can read and write, fifteen who can read but can not write, and twenty-three who can't read nor write.

There are 136 moderate drinkers, 85 hard drinkers, and forty temperance.— State Journal.

An Extraordinary Offer.

There are a large number of persons out of employment in every county who could be making from $100 to $200 a month working for us. There are many who have employment who could make a much larger amount by obtaining the agency of their county of an article of great merit that will sell well in all well-to-do families, and pay a profit of over 100 per cent. One agent in Pennsylvania sold 32 in two days and made over $90 clear. Any man with energy enough to call and show our invention can make $1,500 to $2,000 a year. We only want one good man in each county, to whom we will give the exclusive sale. The business is pleasant, permanent and profitable.
We wish to hear at once from those who are out of employment, or desire to get better. Send stamp and address and receive our large descriptive circular, giving full information.

RENNER MANUFACTURING CO., 116 Smithfield St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

While in North Auburn a few days since we were pleased to form the acquaintance of J. B. Kelsey, president, and P. P. Starin, cashier, of the Bank of Auburn, that place. They are both pleasant and agreeable gentlemen and will no doubt do a good business in the "deserted village."

The following general order was issued May 25, 1882, by Mr. Holdrege, general superintendent of the B. & M. railroad: Denver freight station will be opened for business Monday, May 29th, 1882, with E. J. Swords as general agent, and J. C. Swartz local freight agent.

How to Save.

All hard workers are subject to bilious attacks which may end in dangerous illness. Parker's Ginger Tonic will keep the kidneys and liver active, and by preventing the attack save much sickness, loss of time and expense.
Delay at such times means danger.— Detroit Press. See another column.

If You Are Ruined.

In health from any cause, especially from the use of any of the thousand nostrums that promise so largely, with long fictitious testimonials, have no fear. Resort to Hop Bitters at once, and in a short time you will have the most robust and blooming health.

A girl in Dublin struck her croquet partner on the head with a mallet; brain fever set in, and the young man nearly died. The girl was kept under arrest until his recovery, and when he got well she married him, and now he is sorry he didn't die.
