A Bourbon does not stop to inquire what kind of an office it is. He simply shouts, "Where is it?"—Kansas City Journal.

The interest bearing debt of the United States has been reduced since July 1st, 1865, from $2,381,530,294, to $1,437,603,750.

A collision recently occurred in a tunnel on the M. P. road in Missouri, at Barrett's station. About 18 freight cars and contents, a number containing lumber, were burned. But a few persons were injured—none killed.

The verdict of the jury, in the star route cases, convicting two of the defendants, has been set aside by the court on the ground of its unreasonableness, in the assumed fact that the men convicted could not be guilty of conspiracy to defraud the government without the aid of others more prominent in the affair.

The Liquor Dealers' Protective Association, in session at Rock Island, exhibited an inclination to support the Democratic ticket in the coming election, and a resolution to that effect was withdrawn only because they deemed it inexpedient to alienate the Republicans or invoke the hostility of the Republican press.

The Lincoln Journal received a special telegram that about 500 Indians, with war paint on, had appeared at Beaver Creek, Kansas, south of Dundy county, Nebraska, and were committing depredations and murdering settlers. Superintendent Holdrege, of the B. & M. gave orders for a large amount of ammunition to sent to that locality.

Hon. James Laird, of Hastings, was endorsed by his county for congress in the 2nd district, and the delegates instructed for him. In thanking the convention he said his greatest pride and gratification was the endorsement of his own county and people at home who knew him best. Mr. Laird is right. To go to congress is a good thing, according to the ideas of an ambitious young man, but the knowledge that a large majority of his party and people endorse and stand by him, is a cause for more real and lasting gratification—for the best of them are little more than local politicians.

Pleasure Party at The Holdrege.

Quite a party of young ladies and gentlemen assembled in the parlors of the Holdrege House last Wednesday evening, in response to invitations that were issued to attend a "Young Folk's Pleasure Party." The reception was a grand success, and Miss Stella is deserving of much praise for the agreeable manner in which every thing passed off, and seeing that each one was enjoying themselves to their heart's content. After some instrumental music being rendered by the parties present, it was agreed that a play of some kind should be introduced in which all could join and have some fun. After playing until half past ten, supper was called and all repaired to the dining room where a feast was spread that would suit the taste of the most fastidious. Supper being over, all present repaired to Samuelson's Hall, to "trip the light fantastic," after whirling away an hour or two in this kind of amusement, the guests paired off and returned to their homes wishing their fair young hostess many more such enjoyable parties in the near future. Among the ladies and gentlemen present, we noticed the following: Mr. Wilbur Erwin and Miss Stella Huddart, Glen Rock, and Miss Libbie Rogers, North Auburn; Earl Spacius and Miss Ida Brown, C. A. Crume and Miss Kate Neibel, Peru; T. H. Dunn and Miss Dollie Terry; Ed. Gray and Miss Annie Neibel; Theo. Davis and wife; Geo. D. Cross and wife; Dr. B. F. West and wife; Miss Fannie Richards; Miss Nellie Huddart, Glen Rock; Elmer Clancy and —; J. F. Devin and —; P. C. Westover and —; there were many more whose names we did not learn. GED.

What Pooling Means.

Wall Street News.

The scene is laid in a railroad office—any railroad office you may have in your mind's eye. The president sends for the general passenger and freight agents, and says:

"gentlemen, I have gone in with the other roads on a pool."

"I tumble," replied the passenger agent.

"I observe," adds the freight man. "Having signed a solemn contract not to cut rates, what is your duty, Mr. Passenger Agent?"

"To carry passengers at half-fare, if needs be, to get ahead of the other roads."

"And your duty, Mr. Freight Agent?"

"To charge the pool rates and rebate 25 cents per ton."

"Gentlemen, accept my thanks for the prompt manner in which you see through a millstone; go ahead and beat the other roads out of every dollar you can."

Worth Rememberin'.

Now that good times are again upon us, it is worth remembering that no one can enjoy the pleasant surroundings if in bad health. There are hundreds of miserable people going about to-day with disordered stomach, liver or kidneys, when a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic would do them more good than all the medicines they have ever tried.
