The Probable Wheat Yield.

The only statistics which have yet been given for the yield per acre of the in the moon is looking." present crop are those of Illinois, where the official report places the yield at 181 bushels per acre, against 17-7 in 1880. It is, of course, not assumed that the yield per acre in Illinois is to be accepted as the average for the United States. But there are some reasons why the yield per acre in Illinois may be accepted as an index to the average yield of the United States, in preference to accepting the yield of almost any other one State as such an index: First -Illinois is the largest wheat-raising State in the Union, and in the three years from 1879 to 1881 inclusive produced about twelve per cent. of all the wheat raised in the United States. Second-Illinois lies nearly in the center of the group of ten States comprising Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri, which produced in 1880 about three-fourths of the wheat crop of the United States. Illinois may therefore be presumed to represent the average of the meteorological experience and crop conditions of this group of States. In 1880 the average yield per acre in Illinois was 16-7 bushels, while that of the United States was 13-1 bushels per acre. Illinois was therefore 22 per cent. above the general average. It is an established fact that the average yield of wheat per acre in different sec tions of the United States continues at about the same relative difference, as, for instance, the average in the Southern States is always only about half as much per acre as in the group of States above mentioned while in the far Northwest the yield is always greater per acre than in the ten States mentioned. There seems no objection, therefore, to assuming that certain States are always above and others always below the general average of the United States. Now, if we may assume that the present yield of 184 bushels in Illinois is also about 22 per cent. above the average, it would make the average for the United States say 14 43-100 bushels per acre, or just about 10 per cent, over 1880, which, upon an area of 37,000,000 acres, would be 533,-910,000 bushels, a result which differs less than the half of one per cent. from our previous estimate, which was made without any such calculation as produces the present figures. Some argument will of course be made against assuming an increased average yield per acre of ten per cent. over th crop of 1880. But it will be remembered that there has been no year before this when the crops of spring wheat and winter wheat were both good-except possibly 1877, when the average crop of wheat throughout the United States was 13 86-100 bushels per acre, or only about four per cent. less than we have assumed as the average yield per acre for the present crop to produce an aggre-gate of 533,910,000 bushels on 37,000,-000 acres. -N. Y. Evening Post.

FROM the Danvers (Mass.) Mirror: Mr. Geo. H. Day, of this town, was cured of rheumatism by St. Jacobs Oil.

THERE is to be a wedding soon, the way to which was paved with so much delicate ingenuity by the lady in the case that it is worth recording. The gentleman had been an accepted suitor for months, but had never even remotely alluded to the wedding day, and the remotely alluded to the wedding day, and the lady, tired with so much waiting, made up her mind to prompt him a little on the first favorable occasion. It happened in this way: They were sitting in the garden, and as was his custom he was making himself agreeable by gallant speeches, in one of which he alluded to her as "darling." He emphasized the name by a tender pressure of the hand, and remarked that "darling" was the sweetest word in the English language for him. "Do you think so?" she asked in a tremulous voice; "there is another name that to me is far sweeter." "What is it, darling?" asked the lover, rapturously. "Just a little word of four letters—wife"—she answered, with a the lover, rapturously. "Just a little word four letters-wife" she answered, with gentle confusion, and there was nothing left for him but to ask her to decide the day when he mi ht call her by her favorite name.-De

THE BLUE RIBBON FOR KANSAS.

The Blue Ribbon Won by the Exhibit of Kansas Products at the Minnesota State Fair at Minneapolis, Minn.

REPORT OF THE JURY.

OFFICE OF MINNESOTA AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL ASSOCIATION,
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 8, 1882.

We, the undersigned committee, appointed to award the special premiums offered by this association for the best and most tastefully arranged display made by any corporation, desire to make the following report:

For this premium there were four entries, viz.: The Northern Pacific Railroad, the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway, the Minneapolis & St. Lou's Railway, and the Kansas Division of the Union Pacific Railway. After a careful examination of the displays made by these roads, it is the unanimous opinion of this committee that the premium be awarded to the Kansas Division of the Union Pacific Railway on the following grounds:

The display shows the greatest variety of grains, both shelled and in the stalk, fruit, vegetables, wood and stone,

AND OF A BETTER QUALITY THAN ANY OF THE OTHER EXHIBITS:

it is also the best, most artistically arranged and unique of any shown. We also desire to commend especially the excellent quality of the fifteen samples of wheat shown, both shelled and in the stalk, particularly a sample of Russian wheat which yielded sixty-one bushels per acre.

The exhibit of corn is also especially fine, samples being shown in the stalk measuring sixteen feet in height, with large, well-developed ears from twelve to fourteen inches in length.

The display also embraces samples of broomcorn twenty feet high, sorghum eighteen feet high, rice corn, rye, barley, oats, and sixtyfive varieties of grasses.

The fruit and vegetable department of this exhibit shows thirty varieties of apples, ten of peaches, thirteen of grapes, three of pears, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, tomatoes, onions, string-beans, squash, watermelou, pumpkins, rhubarb, cantelopes, carrots, white beans, etc., all of unusual size and good quality.

A feature of the display is the twelve varieties of wood and nine of stone, marble and

In making this award we feel that it is richly deserved, and that the display reflects great credit on the Land Department of the Kansas Division of the Union Pacific Railway and the gentlemen who arranged and have charge of it.

It is an article that is having a greater success than any other preparation of a like nature for the time it has been before the people. It has cured, and is still curing to-day, more obstinate cases of Indigestion and Dyspepsia than any other preparation known. It is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money will be refunded, for the following allments:-Liver and Kidney Compaints, Impurity of Blood, including Pimples and Blotches, or other skin eruptions, Indigestion, Dys. pepsia, etc. It is not a beverage nor a violent purgative. Is pleasant to take, safe and sure in its effects, quick in its action, and lasting and permanent in its cures, the component ingredients being highly soothing to the system. They derive their virtues chiefly from the rare merits of the old Burdock plant, comned and chemically prepared with other great curs tive medicines. Our grandmothers and grandfathers used the Burdock root alone, with the greatest success Burdock Blood Bitters is a compound that is giving such universal satisfaction that the proprietors to struct all druggists to refund money when relief is not given by its use.
