

NEBRASKA FALLADIUM. BELLEVUE CITY, NEBRASKA. WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1854.

AGENTS. V. B. Palmer, Tribune Building, S. M. Detroit... A. D. Jones, P. M., Omaha City, Nebraska...

SOIL, PRODUCTIONS, AND CLIMATE OF NEBRASKA.

The soil of Nebraska is remarkably rich being composed of grey sand, carbonate of lime, fine yellow clay, intermixed with a small portion of exceeding fine white sand...

The bottom land comprising the interval between the rivers and the bluffs, differs in some respects from the higher portions already described. The bottoms are an alluvial deposit...

The soil of this country possesses every requisite quality for the production of every class of farm and garden product. We believe, in fact we know, that wheat, rye, corn, barley, oats...

Mr. BELL will preach at St. Mary, the first Sunday in September next, at 10 o'clock A. M.

A BARRATH ON THE PLAINS. Sunday, June, 1854, Judge Kinney's train being stopped at Nebraska Centre...

Arrival. Hon. George Greene, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Iowa, and Col. Thomas H. Benton, have just arrived at this place.

Our young city and the surrounding country improves beyond the most sanguine expectation—new houses building, large farms being made, strangers and capitalists buying property at one hundred per cent from last Spring prices...

The greatest quantity of rain that falls in any one month of the year, falls in May, which we season frequently extends into the month of June...

The fall months are usually the most beautiful of the season—clear, calm, and delightful toward the close of autumn, the earth puts on the hues of autumn, yields up its abundant fruits...

Taken as a whole, the climate of Nebraska is most admirably adapted to promote the growth of vegetation, as well as the convenience, comfort, and health of man.

THE HOMESTEAD BILL. It seems that we have got no FREE HOMESTEAD BILL after all, this side of New Mexico...

In honor of the administration, we take pleasure in saying, that in passing Cobbs' Graduation Land Bill, they have taken an important step in the right direction...

OTEE AND OMAHA MISSION. This Institution was established by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, for the benefit of the Otee and Omaha Indians...

Belleview is destined by nature to become the metropolis of learning as well as of legislation and commerce in Nebraska. These destinies are declared to spring up and assume a rank in the world of learning and religion...

REV. S. G. BELL. This gentleman called on us at our office in St. Mary a short time since. Mr. Bell was sent out by the Presbyterian Board of Missions for the purpose of organizing Mission Churches...

Such are the feelings of the South. Those of the North are diametrically opposite, but equally explicit. We might quote enough respecting the North to make a volume, but our readers are already familiar with northern sentiments upon this subject...

Our neighbors in Iowa make a great noise over the Nebraska Bill; the opposition are not willing that the pillar of the republic, the sovereignty of the people, shall be pulled and plaited, expressed in our organic bill...

Our young city and the surrounding country improves beyond the most sanguine expectation—new houses building, large farms being made, strangers and capitalists buying property at one hundred per cent from last Spring prices...

When are our territorial officers? and when will they assume the duties of their respective offices? is a daily enquiry of our citizens.

BELEVIEW AND ST. MARY. Five highly respectable emigrating gentlemen called on us yesterday, and having been introduced to them as "Nebraska visitors" from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, we lost no time in making enquiries into the object of their visit...

From this place they were directed to Omaha City, and welcomed by the good people of that place that it was the PRINCIPAL AND MOST BEAUTIFUL TOWN SITE IN NEBRASKA...

In the estimation of our visitors, Belleview needed no other recommendation than being seen; her commanding position, her extensive, varied, and beautiful prospect—her excellent steamboat landing and harbor—the safety of her position, and the abundance of her building material, rock, clay and timber.

Having made a pretty thorough examination of this place, they crossed over the river in the ferry to St. Mary, and after making a short call, they started for the ferry opposite Old Fort Kearney, where they crossed the Missouri river, for the purpose of visiting that place and other settlements in that region.

One of the best evidences that could be brought forward to substantiate the claim of President Pierce to the honor of having discharged his duty impartially, in relation to Nebraska and Kansas, is found in the fact that those parties immediately interested in the great question involved in the Nebraska bill, were both accusing the President of unfaithfulness to their own particular interests...

Such are the feelings of the South. Those of the North are diametrically opposite, but equally explicit. We might quote enough respecting the North to make a volume, but our readers are already familiar with northern sentiments upon this subject...

Arrival of the Genoa—Reverend Mr. Hopper, Indian Agent, from St. Louis. The Genoa reached Bellevue with a heavy cargo of provisions and goods for the Otee, Omaha, and Pawnee Indians...

Arrival of Steamers. The Western and the Banner both arrived at St. Mary and Bellevue, yesterday, and having discharged the freight belong to these places, proceeded up the river to Council Bluffs landing.

Read the statement of Emigrants, in reference to the route on the North-side of Platte, a voluntary act of those who felt it their duty to publicly express their opinions on the two routes up Platte River. The letter signed "Emigrant," in a recent number of the Fremont County Journal, bears the finger marks of a broken-down gambler...

The undersigned emigrants to the Pacific take this opportunity to inform those who may cross the plains, that the Ferris on the north side of the Platte are in good order, that the mail station at this place is supplied with every thing necessary for travellers.

The Emigrant Aid Company. We take pleasure in publishing the following circular, addressed us by the Secretary of the Emigrant Aid Society, Boston, Mass.

Sir:—The Emigrant Aid Company, through their Trustees, Messrs. Amos A. Lawrence, of Boston, J. M. S. Williams, of Cambridge, and Eli Thayer, of Worcester, would respectfully call your attention to the following brief outline of its purpose and plans.

To accomplish these and kindred objects, the Trustees propose to issue Stock not to exceed, for the present, the sum of two hundred thousand dollars; in shares of twenty dollars each; of which fifty thousand dollars must be subscribed by the 10th of September next.

Extract of a letter to the Ohio State Journal, dated Omaha City, N. T., July 20, 1854:

Iowa and Nebraska are, as most of your readers know, prairie States; but you are not to infer that they are level. On the contrary, they are beautifully rolling, and in some instances, may be called hilly. The soil is exceedingly rich, and I never saw such crops of corn, wheat, oats, potatoes and garden vegetables as they now safely harvested or maturing in the State of Iowa.

The Missouri river, on the east side of the territory, is the only navigable stream, and it can be relied on as a cheap mode of conveyance from May till September. There is water for all seasons; but the great number of snags render it unsafe at all times, and quite useless at low stages.

NEW TOWN OF LEAVENWORTH.

We learn that Messrs. William S. Murphy and Simeon Burges, of this city, are erecting a saw-mill near, or on the new town site of Leavenworth, one mile and a half below Fort Leavenworth, in Kansas territory.

Cobbs Graduation Land Bill.

The Washington Union gives the following synopsis of this bill: "All lands which have been in market for ten years or upwards, shall be subject to entry at one dollar per acre; fifteen years and upwards, at seventy-five cents; twenty years and upwards at fifty cents; twenty-five years and upwards, at twenty-five cents; and thirty years and upwards at twelve and a half cents per acre."

Appointments by the President.

Francis Burt, of South Carolina, to be Governor of the Territory of Nebraska. William Stotts, to be surveyor of the port of Keokuk, Iowa. William H. Merritt, to be surveyor of the port of Dubuque, Iowa.
