Agricultural.

"He that by the plow would thrive,
Himself must either hold or drive."

THE FARMER'S BOY.

BY E. Z. DASS.

The Farmer's boy is a happy boy,
A merry lad is he,
He leads a life of hearty joy,
He never wants for glee!
He holds the plow, and drives his team,
He whistles blithe and gay,
A monarch well might envy him,
His life's so bright always.
He tills the land, and plants the seed,
To give the nation bread,—
How great this work! how fast this deed!
By him the nation's fed.
I love to look on his sunburnt cheek,
And grasp his toil-worn hand;
His daily works and ways bespeak
The patron of the land.
O, blessings on the farmer's boy,
A noble lad is he:—
He leads a life of honest joy,
O, who like him so free?

A COUNTRY HOME.

Oh give me home in the country wide,
And a seat by the farmer's wood-fire-side,
Where the fire burns bright,
On a frosty night,
Where the jest, song, and laugh are free.
Oh! the farmer's home is the home for me.

Oh, give me a home in the country wide,
When earth comes out as a blooming bride,
With her buds and her flowers,
In bright Spring hours,
Her bridal song ringing from fresh leaved trees,
And melody floats upon perfumed breezes.

In Summer a seat in a shady nook,
And close by the side of a cooling brook,
Where the violet grows,
Or the pale swamp rose,
Fainting and sick neath the suns hot beam,
Dips her petals in the cooling stream.

Oh! give me a home in the country wide,
In the golden days of the farmer's pride,
When his barns are filled,
From the fields he's tilled,
And he feels that his yearly task is done,
Smiling as winter beckons him on.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST.

we repeat that our foreign articles are among the most valuable which we can gather, however much some cotemporaries (not the Chronicle) may cry out against them, because they themselves do not chance to possess the requisite energy or facilities for drawing from so valuable resources of agricultural knowledge.

The article alluded to, as misquoted, we do not find in any recent number of our paper, and think that the Chronicle must have made a mistake in scissoring.

The Chronicle also errs in ascribing the entire editorial management to one gentlemen, for while Mr. Judd devotes his whole time and energy to this paper, there are several others as will be seen by reference to the "Editorial Department" in the Prospectus, who are united in responsible duties of editing the Agriculturist, and it might naturally be inferred from the variety and fullness of the editorials, the broad ground they cover and the practical information they impart, that it would require rathermor than one person to write them!

HEAVY BUSINESS IN POTATOES.—The Norfolk Argus states that the farmers and others in that city and vicinity are now doing a large business in potatoes. More than two thousand barrels are regularly sent by each steamer to New York. The average quantity sent per day to Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New-York, is about one thousand six hundred barrels. The Baltimore boats cannot take on board near as many barrels as are daily sent to the depot. They sell readily at Norfolk, at $1 per barrel and command a handsome profit in the Northern markets. The Norfolk Beacon says that Mr. Munden raised from 25 bushels of Irish potatoes, for which he gave $1.50 a bushel, a crop which sold for $806. After paying all expenses, the net profit amounted to $698. The same paper states that on Thursday one farmer sent $1140 worth of cucumbers to Philadelphia and Baltimore.

The British Quarterlies and Blackwood's Magazine.

LEONARD SCOTT & Co., New York, continue to publish the following British Periodicals:
The London Quarterly Review (Conservative.)
The Edinburgh Review (Whig.)
The North British Review (Free Church.)
The Westminster Review (Liberal.)
Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory.)

The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the year 1854. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news items, crude speculations and wrong rumors of the present daily journals, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these periodicals that readers must look for the only easily intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well established literary, theological, and scientific character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

Arrangements are in progress for the receipt of early sheets from the British publishers, by which we shall be able to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers about as soon as they can be furnished with the foreign copies. Although this will involve a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the periodicals at the same low rates as heretofore, viz:

	Per ann.
For any one of the four Reviews,	$3 00
For any two of the four Reviews,	5 00
For any three of the four Reviews,	7 00
For all four of the Reviews,	8 00
For Blackwood's Magazine,	3 00
For Blackwood and three Reviews,	9 00
For Blackwood and the four Reviews,	10 00
