

PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA. WEDNESDAY, JULY 26, 1865

OVERLAND MAIL ROUTE

We are informed by a gentleman from the West, that this route is now very thoroughly guarded from the Missouri to Denver.

On the Atchison road, the eastern terminus of permanent guards is at Big Sandy, and from thence West, every Stage Station has a guard of Infantry, and an escort of Cavalry.

The Nebraska City and Plattsmouth roads have no troops on them east of the Junction, at which point the Atchison road comes into them; this however is for the reason that these roads are considered perfectly safe.

The Government intends to reduce the army to one hundred thousand if not fifty thousand.

Advices from the Indian country are favorable to the early consummation of amicable relations with tribes in Southwestern sections.

The Imperialists evacuated Carmargo, falling back on Monterey and abandoning the entire country.

A Fortress Monroe correspondent says the sentenced conspirators, Mudd, Arnold, O'Laughlin and Spangler, arrived there on Monday, on the steamer State of Maine, in charge of Gen. Dodge.

On the trip down Mudd and Spangler were very cheerful, and employed their time in playing backgammon.

Our friend informs us that all the roads leading from the Missouri River, are now perfectly safe as far as Denver. No misfortunes can possibly occur to parties on the road unless they violate the present system of organization.

Gen. P. E. Connor, we understand, is about moving with a large force of veteran troops from Fort Laramie towards Powder and Tongue Rivers, and thence towards the Yellowstone River.

Gen. Grant is reported to have said in conversation with the Mexican Minister a few days ago, that the French will have to leave Mexico.

We made the trip, a few days since, to Nebraska City and back, by land. We noticed that the farmers in the lower part of the county are making many improvements, in the way of building, fencing, and breaking prairie.

Arriving at the town of Wyoming, we found our old friend A. C. Reed on duty, looking after the interests of the disciples of Brigham, furnishing them with whatever they needed in the way of groceries, dry-goods, &c.

otic fervor and love for our free institutions which has distinguished his every act during the great struggle just past.

Mr. Pottenger was then called on, and responded in a short, but happy speech. Mr. May was also called out, and made a very eloquent and well-timed speech.

The people of Plattsmouth may well feel proud of their General. He went into the field as Capt. of the first company from Nebraska, and has risen to the rank of Brevet Brig. Gen., not through great political influence, but by his own merit.

Gov. Murphy of Arkansas, informed the President he will not hereafter recommend persons for pardon, who participated in the rebellion, owing to the demonstrations of such people made on 4th of July.

The reporter of the New York Tribune says that all the copperhead snakes that escaped from Barnum's building, immediately crawled to the World office, where they found shelter.

There are reports of a strange suicide taken from an Eastern paper; a man named Youngblood, having been sent by his employer in company with a boy to put up a tin snout, and being followed by the boy in attempting to drive a nail into his stomach, ended his days by hammering a small nail into his forehead.

good morals and Republican doctrines into the minds of the inhabitants of that flourishing village.

At a meeting of the Officers at Post Fort Kearney, N. T., on the evening of the 12th inst., Major Thomas J. Majors was appointed Chairman, and Lieut. John Gillespie, Secretary.

Capt. Chas. Porter was called upon to explain the object of the meeting, which was to take action in expressing our high appreciation of Brevet Brigadier General ROBERT R. LIVINGSTON, late Colonel 1st Nebraska Cav. Vet. Vols., and Commandant of East Sub-District of the Plains.

A Committee of four was appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting—consisting of T. W. Tipton, Chaplain 1st Neb. Cav. Vet. Vols.; Chas. F. Porter, Captain 1st Neb. Cav. Vet. Vols.; D. J. Ezekiel, Capt. Co. C, 6th U. S. Infantry; Wm. H. Northrup, Acting Ordnance Officer E. S. D. of P.

Resolved, That in his retirement we tender him our sincere regret at this separation, with the purest desires and brightest hopes; that the same qualities of head and heart which have won our esteem, will preeminently serve him in civil life, and that that courage which nerved him at DONELSON and SHILLOH, bear him triumphantly amidst life's contests to ultimate success and happiness.

Resolved, That a copy of the proceedings of this meeting be forwarded to Brevet Brig. Gen. R. R. Livingston, and a copy to all the principal papers of the Territory, for publication, also a copy to the Missouri Democrat.

Resolved, That in his retirement we tender him our sincere regret at this separation, with the purest desires and brightest hopes; that the same qualities of head and heart which have won our esteem, will preeminently serve him in civil life, and that that courage which nerved him at DONELSON and SHILLOH, bear him triumphantly amidst life's contests to ultimate success and happiness.

The Governor, in his speech here, took occasion to refer to the ungalant conduct of Napoleon III., in slipping into Mexico when our hands were full, and establishing a monarchy at our very nose down there, and said that although he deprecated war as much as any man, yet if Napoleon did not speedily remove his 25,000 troops from that old Republic and leave the Mexicans to take care of themselves, and set up whatever kind of a government they saw fit, he would be the first to urge upon the United States Government the organizing and equipping of an army in this country, to go down to Mexico and root the French out of that country, and leave the Mexicans to take care of themselves; and did not want and would not have a petty monarchy with a mushroom aristocracy planted anywhere on this continent.

Whatever the verdict of the jury may be upon the charge of treason—whatever the punishment, if the accused be convicted as a traitor—however, in case of his execution, he may be ranked among political victims, the verdict of every generous heart and of history is sure against this man as a criminal not less than the infamous English Jeffreys.

Viewed merely as a political leader, his whole public career is unlighted with a single noble action, and his speeches will be vainly searched for some generous emotion. If his infamy in history will be singular, it will be in every point deserved.

The following account of a strange suicide taken from an Eastern paper; a man named Youngblood, having been sent by his employer in company with a boy to put up a tin snout, and being followed by the boy in attempting to drive a nail into his stomach, ended his days by hammering a small nail into his forehead.

JEFF DAVIS AS A MORAL CRIMINAL.

Geo. W. Curtis writes in Harper's Magazine for July:

At the time of our writing, the most conspicuous offender ever capitally indicted in this country sits aloof in a spacious casemate of Fortes Monroe, with only a Bible upon his table, and two silent sentinels watching him by day and night.

There is a rattling of the dry bones of the Democratic skeleton of Ohio. The leaders of the party assembled in Columbus to solemnly consider the grave question, "If a political party die, shall it live again?"

A Wag on Billiards.—As a great many people don't know how to play billiards, we make way for a description of the game from the pen of Doesticks, in order that they may remain in ignorance no longer.

Mr. Peterson of Washington City, the owner and occupant of the house in which Mr. Lincoln died, writes a letter to the Philadelphia Inquirer, denying the charge that he presented a claim for damages against the Government, or exhibited the room in which the President breathed his last, at fifty cents a head.

Oldest Senator.—The National Free Mason says: Bro. Collamer, the Senator of Vermont, is not only the oldest Mason, but the oldest man in the Senate.

A Mobile clergyman went to General Granger and asked him if he proposed to compel the rebel clergy to pray for Andrew Johnson.

Physician and Surgeon. Tenders his professional services to the citizens of Cass county.

UNITED STATES INTERNAL REVENUE NOTICE! NOTICE is hereby given to all persons concerned, that the list, valuations and enumerations made and taken under the Excise Law of the United States, within the Counties of Cass, Calhoun, Sanders, Butler, Polk, Lancaster and Seward, and Territory of Nebraska, have been returned to me and will be open for examination in the Office of F. M. Dorrington, Assistant Assessor for Sub-District No. 5, in the Town of Plattsmouth, and County of Cass, for the space of fifteen days from the date of this Notice.

FAREWELL ADDRESS

DR. B. FRANKLIN, TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

Just discovered, and now published for the first time.

CURIOS and THRILLING DOCUMENT!

FELLOW CITIZENS: The long, boy fingers are "reaching for me." Soon I must "go for it." A word of advice before I go.

FELLOW CITIZENS: Throw high your caps; yell forth ye sturdy youths; below loud ye broad chested; prolong the glad, soul thrilling shout, ye long necked; until the slumbering echoes of the far off rocks, are aroused; Mothers, teach it to your children, that all the ends of the earth may know, and rejoice with exceeding joy, that the HYDRA HEADED MONSTER, ALIAS HIGH PRICES, the identical VAMPIRE that so long hath been sucking our life blood, is now throttled by
