> CATCHING FUR IN SITEA .- The redoubtable Baron Munchausen describes the following mode of catching and skining the sable, in the neighborhood of the North Pole. We suppose the new officials to the arctic circle will prowide themselves with pitchers:

Providing himself with a pitcher of water, the hunter stations himself in a tree over the hole of the animal, and when the latter comes out and stands lounging about the hunter pours water on the creature's tail, which almost instantly becomes frozen to the ground. The hunter then descends, and, with his knife slashes the sable's face. The frightened animal struggles to get citizens of civil or political rights on epening made in its countenance by account of race or color. Ordered the hunter's knife, leaving its skin in possesion of the hunter, while it returns Summer called up his bill providing to its hole, where it awaits the growth of a new skin.
