OLIVE BRANCH, NO. 2, PLATTSMOUTH: Regular meetings every Tuesday evening, Traveling Templars respectfully invited. R. BAXTER WINDHAM, W. C. T. EVERTON DOOM, W. S. THOS. W. SHRYOCK, Lodge Deputy,

Correspondence for this column must be written plain and grammatically with ink, and on one sidonly of white paper. Let them be short and to the

The future success of the Temperance cause will depend a great deal upon the training of the young. If they are allowed to frequent these places of drunken resort and infamy, they will most assuredly partake of the same spirit, as they grow up to be men. while on the other hand, if parents will not indulge their children in this practice, and will take pains to teach them the true principles of Temperance, they will grow up to be men who will be an honor to society and a benefit to mankind in general. This will apply to many I think in our own city. C.

How often is a young man induced to take his first fatal glass at the solicitation of fair woman. Oh woman! you know not what you do when you urge a young man to drink. You cannot foresee the result of that one glass, Your hands-the white jeweled hands that lifts the poison that kills body and soul-may be stained with blood ere long. Think of this, women of America, women of Nebraska, women of Plattsmouth, and let your influence be given to the pure and holy cause of Temperance. Banish the ruby wine from your board, stand up in your pride and your purity as champions of total abstinence.

Temperance Jottings-No. 2. I chanced to be passing along on the streets of one of our beautiful western cities not long since, when I passed a saloon, and, at the door I saw three promising young men discussing, as I supposed, the propriety of going in and getting a drink before going home.

Presently I heard one of them remark: "Well, boys, you may go your way, but I will go mine," and started off. Who was this young man? A history of him would not be uninteresting, but space will not permit. Suffice it to say his father was a drunkard, which gave him ample opportunty of seeing the folly of intemperance, and in his youth he resolved to be a temperate man. Hence his reason for not drinking with his comrades.

J. M. KLUBS. Plattsmouth, Sept. 18th, 1868. 1. O. G. T.

Of the Order of Good Templars in Nebraska of the early Introduction, Progress and Temporary Declined, of the Order in the Territory-now State -of Nebraska, we have but little information; and we intend to refer mainly to its re-introduction, by the institution in this city of Olive Branch Lodge No. 2. In August 1859, according to the best information in our possession, the Order was first introduced into Nebraska, when Peru Lodge No. 1 was duly instituted at Peru, in Nemaha county, under a charter granted by the Right Worthy Grand Lodge of North America. We are also informed that, during the twelve months following, there were other lodges instituted, but they must have been short lived and their identity seems to have been entirely lost, as they were not reckoned in the re-establishment of the order in 1865 Peru lodge continued her noble work and labor of love until the breaking out of the rebellion, when her work was suspended, and for four long years there existed no organized opposition to the hydra headed monster, Intemperance, stalking abroad spreading desolation and ruin around.

In August 1865, application was duly made to brother Rolla A. Law, then Secretary of the Right Worthy Grand Lodge of North America, for a charter to organize a lodge in this city, and on the evening of Sept. 1st, 1865, in the brick school house in the city of Plattsmouth, Olive Branch Lodge No. 2 was duly instituted.

This lodge, which started out under rather favorable auspices, had its seasons of depression and sore frial, but despite of all, it continued to increase in interest and extend its influence, and from time to time new lodges were instituted throughout the county and State. We would here remark that Peru lodge which had been slumbering for more than four years, again sprang forth in new life some time in the latter part of the year 1865, and has since been doing good service in battling for the U.S. A.
