CORRESPONDENCE.

We are desirous of receiving correspondence from all parts of the State, relative to the material interests of the country, together with such other matter as contributors may deem of interest.

STATE LANDS.

We incline to the belief that our Legislature should provide some means to render the State Lands available for the purposes for which they were originally intended. These lands cover 707,760 acres of land, and deducting the 500,000 which are likely to be parcelled out by the present session of the Legislature for internal improvements, we have 207,760 acres of land as follows:

72 sections to aid State University.
72 " " development Saline Lands.
20 sections to aid State Penitentiary
20 " " State Buildings.
90,000 acres to aid State Agricultural College.

These lands, we understand, are all well located in the finest portions of the the State, and will command ready sale at a fair figure. They should not be allowed to remain in the same situation that the non-resident lands in the State are in, but should be thrown open to actual settlers at as early a day as practicable. Our Legislature should pass a law placing these lands under control of some State Department, set a minimum price on them, and authorize their sale, through the properly authorized agent of the State; a land commissioner, for instance, who should be, by law, bound in a large amount to fairly and honorably discharge the duties of his office; his salary to be a certain percentage on the actual sales.

We suggest the propriety of some such course, for the reason, that owing to large amounts of land in our State being held by non-residents, speculators and railroad monopolies, the settlement and consequently the development of the State is seriously retarded, while at the same time the buildings necessary to the successful operation of our State Government are urgently demanded by the people.

There are many important points connected with a law putting such a course as we advise in force which are highly important to its successful operation. These could be developed in an Act covering the whole case, and we doubt not, that should any leakage creep into it, there would be some of our watchful legislators ready to point out the defect and secure such amendments as would give us a strong and healthy law. We hope this matter will meet with the consideration which its importance demands from the present State Legislature, and that before the close of the present session we may be able to announce the passage of such an Act as we have indicated.

INDIAN DEPARTMENT

It will be seen from the late despatches that the committee on Indian affairs in the Senate, reported a bill to detach the Bureau from the Department of the Interior and erect an Indian Department, without a seat in the Cabinet, similar in this respect to the Agricultual Department, and providing for its reporting direct to Congress. The general impression is that this bill will not become a law, at least for the present. The sentiment in Congress is in favor of postponing the consideration of this matter until after the close of the present session. It is to be regretted that the views entertained by the President elect are not sustained on this question. We honestly believe that a great source of corruption would be most effectually dried up, could the management of Indian affairs be entirely transferred to the War Department, while at the same time, the honest administration of the business connected with the Indians would forever allay the hostile feeling now existing among the various tribes of the interior. The feeling of animosity to the whites, in a great measure, grows out of the wholesale robberies committed by parties connected with Indian Agencies, against the Indians; and this prolific cause of hostility once effectually squelched would do more to maintain peace than anything else. Another reason why the War Department is better able to control this whole matter is, that the Army ever has been stationed along the frontier and brought more or less in contact with the different tribes, thereby enabling the officers to form more correct estimates of Indian character and wants, than the favorite lying friends of Senators and Congressmen, who are started from our great cities, to manage Indians, and make their pile as a reward for their valuable services in the various political campaigns in which their congressional friends were triumphant.—We, as a people, look for wisdom in the action of those we elect to frame our laws and manage the affairs of our nation, but if the maintainance of a great evil must be sustained that lucrative positions may by provided for men who sell their influence to secure a chance at the "perquisites" of Indian Agencies, out of which so many have become wonderously fat, then indeed has this people come to a condition that is clearly deplorable, and should the decision of Congress be against the transfer of the Indian Bureau to the War Department, no other conclusion can be well arrived at by the people, than that our representatives in Congress are blind because they will not see, and deaf because they will not hear. We sincerely hope that this whole matter will be thoroughly ventilated before the final action of Congress, and that the immense outlay of moneys involved in our frequent and necessary campaigns against hostile tribes, may be stopped effectually by a radical change in the management of the whole family of "Los."

FROM THE CAPITOL.

Editorial Correspondence.

LINCOLN, NEB.
Feb. 1, 1869

As is usual, the latter part of the session is likely to be crowded with important business, and it will be strange if some measures are not acted upon too hastily for the public good.—Several important bills are now before either House, and many more are being matured. We have two different bills up for disposing of the public lands, and several others are likely to be introduced soon. Every man seems to have some pet scheme of his own.—It appears now very much like the question was settled in favor of giving the State lands to Railroad companies, and there is a terrible scrambling to see who shall get the biggist crab.—There is a growing feeling, however that we should give no lands for railroad beds, but that we should have actual railroads, in running order, before anybody gets a foot of State land.—There are a very few men who maintain that these lands should not be given direct to railroads, but that the proceeds of sales only should be given, and that lands should be sold to none but actual setlers. The Bill abolishing the death penalty was up for discussion before the Senate one day last week, and all the orators were allowed to exercise their lungs. The bill was defeated by a vote of eight to four. Had the State been supplied with secure jails and a good Penitentiary, the result might, and probably would, have been different. The feeling was in favor of abolishing the death penalty, but the judgment of the Senate was against it at the present time. I hope to see the day when the death penalty will be abolished throughout the whole land. A bill requiring a majority of the freeholders of any precinct to sign a petition therefor before any person could be licensed to sell liquor, was indefinitely postponed last Saturday. Another bill will probably be introduced, with modifications, as there is a general feeling in favor of placing heavier restrictions upon the whisky traffic—A new school bill will be brought before the legislature in a few days, almost an exact copy of the present law, except that provisions are made for electing State and County Superintendents, also for graded schools, and a few defects in the present law are being remedied. H.

STATE NEWS.

The Nebraska City News contains the following items.

Nebraska City is worth $1,656,288.

BRICKS.—200,000 bricks are now in the city ready for the spring work.

The aggregate wealth of Otoe county has increased more during the year 1868, than any two previous to that time.

The new buildings that will be erected on Main street, during the coming season, will cost $150,000.

Fourteen head of cattle died in the vicinity of Bennet's Mill last week of dry murrin. They belonged to John McCarthy of Wyoming precinct. During cold weather cattle should be driven to water.

James G. Bloss, formerly telegraph operator at this place, and now of Council Bluffs, Iowa, left the city this morning with his family, for his new place of abode.

MEAN.—the citizens of Wyoming with malice toward our young city and without giving us notice, held a railroad meeting at that place on Wednesday afternoon and evening, for the purpose of securing the terminus of the "Burlington & Missouri River Railroad" at Wyoming; as an inducement the citizens offered the company $100,000 in greenbacks and one half of the town site of Wyoming. The following gentlemen were appointed a committee to correspond with the officers of the company in regard to the location: F. W. Robb, Hiram Hurst. Henry Davis, John Mc Carthy and C. H. Cowels.—A person who atteded the meeting informs us that the most intense excitement prevailed during the deliberations, and that the amount—$100,000—was subscribed by citizens quickly and without hesitation. The only thing that troubled them in the least was, how to secure one-half of the townsite, which rumor says belongs to Nebraska City men. From our experience in railroad matters, and particularly with this company, we suggest that they withdraw that proposition and give the company one million dollars. It will be just as easy for Wyoming to pay one million as one hundred thousand. Give them a million by all means.

"SNAIX"—On January 1st, 1869, the son of Mr. Beasley, farmer near Nebraska City, discovered a large prairie snake quietly enjoying his noon day nap in the New Year sunshine.

This snake was probably out calling. He was immediately slain. This Demonstrates the mildness of Nebraska winters. But we have another proof in the fact that tho same Mr. Beasley caught a butterfly in the woods on the 14th of this month, the butterfly aforesaid being only arrayed in summer costume and a gosamer over-coat.

The Pawnee Tribune says that on Sunday night last somebody entered Shellhern's Store Room by cutting the window sash and taking out several glass. The money drawer was pried open and a little change—not over three dollars—taken. The thief has not been discovered.

Mr. J. E. Crow, "the big farmer" of Richardson, who is spending the winter in Pawnee City, while absent last week, sold a portion of his farm for $19,000. The cultivated part at $30 per acre and the raw prairie at $12 per acre. Mr. Crow still owns over 2,000 acress of the same body of land.

All of this land Mr. Crow entered with scrip nine years ago, costing him not over 80 cents per acre.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—A frightful accident occurred to a well known citizen Mr. Phillip Norton, at the corner of Thirteenth and Chicago streets yesterday afternoon at about 4 o'clock, which may yet result in the death of the injured man. From what information we could gain on the subject it would appear that Mr. Norton was attempting to stop a team of freightened mules, and in the effort to do so was by some means thrown under the heels of the animals, when one of the mules began kicking at a desperate rate, two of the blows being received by Mr Norton about the head and face. One of the kicks inflicted a serious scalp wound, just above the frontal bone, and several inches in length. The other blow was lodged against the lower rim of the brow and extended downward to the up of the nose, mashing the face and nose in a horrible manner. The wounded man was picked from the street and carried to his home where he lay in an insensible condition for some time. Dr. Den was called upon to dress his wounds, and from him we learn that the wounds inflicted are not necessarily of a fatal nature.—Republican.

A correspondant writing from Glenwood, Iowa, to the Omaha Republican says that the Westers Sage Company are putting on a line of coaches along the line of the B & M R R. via Glenwood, Pacific City on the line of the C. B & St. Joe R. R, Plattsmouth and Salt Creek Valley to Lincoln, the Capital of your State.

This is greatly needed, and no company are as well able to open a good line as the Western. This line is expected to be on and in running condition by Feb. 10th, 1869. It is intended to follow the survey of the B & M R R R. The work on said road at this point is being pushed to its utmost, considering the condition of the ground for grading.

The President laid before the Senate the petition of Mrs Lincoln, widow of the late President, asking for a yearly pension. The petition is written on note paper with a heavy mourning border, and reads as follows:

"To the Hon. Vice President of the United States:

SIR—I herewith most respectfully present to the Honorable Senate of the United States an application for a pension. I am the widow of a President of the United States whose life was sacrificed in his country's service.—Said calamity has greatly impaired my health, and by the advice of my physicians I have come over to Germany to try the mineral waters, and during winter to go to Italy, but my financial means do not permit me to take advantage of the urgent advice given me; nor can I live in a style becoming the widow of a Chief Magistrate of a great nation. Although I live as economically as I can.

In consideration of the great service my deeply lamented husband has rendered to the United States, and of the fearful loss I have sustained by his untimely death—his martyrdom, I may say—I respectfully submit to your honorable body this petition, hoping a yearly pension may be granted me, so that I may have less pecuniary cares.

I remain most respectfully.

[Signed] Mrs. A LINCOLN.
Frankfort, Germany.

It was referred to the Committee on Pensions.
