There exists a false delicacy and pride amounting almost to pradery, in regard to consulting a physician in certain maladies. The medical faculty recognize it, and are dumb. Hundreds of lives are lost every year by dis eases which have been neglected or improperly treated. In the case of young men there seems no apology, and yet in many cases they attempt to cure themselves with vile nostrums, and in consequence shorten their lives, and pass the miserable remnant of existence with their blood filled with the poison of a stifled, but not cured disease, which must inevitably be transmitted to the third and fourth generations.

With young women there seems some excuse and yet their utmost secreey will not concent the facts. Any intelligent physician who walks the ravages of that wide spread scourge, the whites. Any intelligent physician can point out in his daily walks scores of this and kindred complaints, in both sexes, the existence of which nizant, both of the complaint and the mean cure. Knowing that health can be restored, who can restore it, they deliberately allow the selves to become mere wrecks of humanity.

To Young Men.

In every community there are vast numbers of young men afficted with seminal weakness, nocturnal emissions, lassifude, debuilty, and the other attendant symptoms of secret nisorder, undermining the constitution, and totally destroying its victim, mentally and physically, some or later. From this stage physical energy soon follows. From this s is a series of short steps to an early grave, or confinement of a lunaric asylum.
