H. R. TIME TABLE.
Train leaves Pacific City as follows:
Morning.
Evening.

From Monday's Despatch.
The famous Chicago "Wigwam" where Abraham Lincoln received his first nomination for President, was destroyed by fire last week.

H. J. Streight has just received a large stock of toys. He has decided upon having "Christmas fixings" in season this year.

The Vigilance Committee has warned all thieves and blacklegs away from Promontory. They did not await a second invitation to leave, but left at once.

A man named D. R. Pratt, traveling agent for "Kellogg's Stock Force Pump" was arrested in Glenwood last week on a charge of forgery. He forged the name of Daniel Morgan, of that county, to the tune of $100.

They are having much trouble in Washington county over the issue of their county bonds to the S. C. & P. R. R. Legal proceedings have been instituted to compel the issue of the bonds.

At an early hour Sunday evening, while James Brennan was crossing Second street bridge, he missed his footing and fell into the stream. He was helped out by a couple of officers who were on duty in that vicinity. He was uninjured and perfectly unincensed, so says one who saw the occurrence.

Judging from the droves of chickens and turkeys the boys are collecting, the orders for fresh oysters, pies, cakes, fruit, etc., we would infer that the "Social" to be given at the Masonic Hall, Wednesday evening next, is to be a "big thing on foot." Happy is he who has the necessary card to present at the door.

One of our citizens has called our attention to the fact that wheat is only worth about 50 cents per bushel here, while it is worth about 90 cents per bushel in St. Louis; and that bran is worth only about 40 cents in St. Louis while 75/80 cents is asked for it here. He suggested, as a reason for this, that more mills are needed in Nebraska.

From a report of police doings it will be seen that yesterday was rather a lively day. Officers are brought to time without unnecessary delay by our police force. It is an old saying that any business will pay if it is well followed, but we doubt if John Fox has found getting drunk a very profitable business, notwithstanding he has followed it pretty closely, as the report shows.

The Blair Register has the following sensible item in an article calling for more mills: "Wheat worth one cent per pound and flour selling for three and a half, and the bran and shorts for twice as much as wheat is worth; corn worth fifty cents per cwt, and corn meal selling for three dollars; six times more than the raw corn is worth, are facts that should attract the attention of somebody towards building mills."

We dropped in at the new Marble Works of Morgan & Bro., of this city a few days since, and found them turning out some of the finest work we have seen anywhere. We advise persons wanting tomb stones, or other marble work, to call at Morgan & Bro.'s and see the character of work they are doing, and inquire their prices. Their work is superior to anything we have seen brought from the east and is at least one-fourth cheaper. Patronize home institutions.

A young man named Duncan Frazer, aged about 20 years, a native of Canada, died at the Platte Valley House, in this city, last Saturday night. Mr. Ross and his estimable lady are deserving the grateful thanks of all charitable people for their kind treatment of the young man whom chance had thrown upon their mercy. He came to their home sick and without money, and they kept him and cared for him as though he were one of their own until death relieved him from his sufferings. He was sick for about three weeks, with typhoid fever, and much of the time was delirious. Nothing is known of him except that he came from Canada, and had worked for a short time on the railroad west from here before he was taken sick. He died a stranger in a strange land; but, thanks to the kind heart of the hostess of the Platte Valley, he was not without a friend to care for and soothe him in his dying hour.

A broad-shouldered chap, with a well developed muscle, concluded sometime last night, that they were "ran" the "lodging house" in the south part of the city; and in accordance with such conclusion he assumed a dictatorship over the establishment. Being unconquered with the establishment, he informed the inmates that he was "monarch of all he surveyed," and that there was not power enough in the city of Plattsburgh to dispossess him. A "fallen angel" was immediately dispatched after the sheriff, who found the fellow in undisputed possession of the place. Sheriff Johnson placed his hand on the fellow's shoulder, and in that peculiarly quiet tone of his, told him to "come with him," which the fellow did without the least hesitation. The magnetic touch of Sheriff Johnson has a powerful effect on that class of men. They generally "come" when he speaks to them in that still small voice. As the case was somewhat complicated owing to the character of the house, Sheriff Johnson afterwards let the fellow off on the promise that he would behave himself. He had commenced to smash things a little before the sheriff arrived. He had been drinking beer, but was not excessively drunk.

From Tuesday's Despatch.

The railroad transfer resumed operations this morning.
Hard wood is selling at $8 a cord in this city.

The river was blocked in the vicinity of Sioux city some days ago.

The new M. E. church building is progressing, notwithstanding the cold weather.

A destructive wind storm has passed over the county recently, doing much damage.

Some of the city convicts were out on the streets to-day, paying up their fines, with pick and shovel.

Commissioner Moore favors our suggestion to have the proceedings of each meeting of the Board of County Commissioners published in the Herald.

The Omaha Herald has seen a man from Nebraska City who thinks ten miles of the Midland road will yet be built this winter.

The Omaha Republican learns that the point of connection between the Union and Central Pacific railroads has been fixed at Ogden.

The ferry boat commenced operations to-day at the landing north of Main street. It was hard work for her to get up through the ice.

The ice was too heavy for boating yesterday. The city ferry was unable to operate, and the railroad boat only made one trip, leaving the barge on the Iowa side.

The railroad machine shop is all enclosed, except putting in the windows. A big forty bushel coal stove has been set up in the engine room, large enough to warm all outdoors.

W. C. Jenks, of Weeping Water, called on the Herald this morning. He accompanied an invalid nephew to the city, who started west this morning for his health.

The Omaha papers think they will be able to do something next year. We hope so, for we like to see everybody prosper in Nebraska. Omaha has not done an extraordinary amount of public improvement during the past year.

The Omaha papers are disputing about which is the railroad paper. They should not quarrel about it, as both fill their respective places. The Republican does the solid work and the Herald makes the noise and brags about it.

The iron for the first ten miles of the B. & M. west from Plattsburgh is already across the river, and still there is no let up to the shipment. As soon as the bridge is built the construction material will come thicker and faster.

Grand Master H. P. Duell has appointed J. E. Boyd, C. W. Barr, Dr. Geo. B. Graft, N. Hellman, H. Kuntze, Dr. Enoe Love, and James G. Meacham, as the Board of Trustees to take charge of the building of a Masonic Temple for Nebraska.

A Norwegian named Hans Schyzi was assassinated in Omaha last Saturday night by some person or persons unknown. He was shot through the head, and died last evening. It is supposed he was killed for the purpose of robbery, but the murderers were probably frightened away, as he was not robbed.

The County Commissioners commenced this afternoon to make a statement with the retiring officers of the county. We presume a full statement of the financial condition of the county will be given to the public through the columns of the Herald—at least we would suggest that course, and we believe the Commissioners are favorable to it.

From Wednesday's Daily.
Deputy Marshal Lonsdale's wife left to-day for a visit to her friends in Iowa.

D. N. Smith, Esq., of Burlington, came in from the west last evening, and left for Burlington to-day.

The B. & M. R. R. Co. of Nebraska paid out $200,000 in cash in this city last day. A nice thing to have in a family.

The Commissioners of Otoe county have authorized an election for issuing $200,000 bonds, to aid in the building of their railroad.

The settlement was not made yesterday with the out-going county officers, as we expected; but was postponed until the next regular meeting of the Commissioners in December.

The local of the Omaha Herald is engaged in writing a history of the houses of ill fame of that city, and biographies of the inmates. The Herald has evidently found its forte.

We understand that Mr. Bellows has retired from the police force, and that J. W. Barr has been appointed in his place. Mr. Bellows has done excellent service for the city, and Mr. Barr will not be behind him.

Mrs. M. A. Thomas, Administratrix of the estate of Wm. L. Thomas, deceased, advertises to sell a quantity of stock and farming utensils; also a quantity of household goods, on Saturday, December 4th, at her residence on Four Mile Creek.

It was difficult to realize the number of immigrants entering Nebraska at this place when the ferry was making regular trips; but just as soon as she was hailed off for a day the assimilation of wagons on the Iowa side begins to give one some idea of the rapidity with which Nebraska is settling.

John Sullivan was brought before the U. S. Commissioner this morning on a charge of keeping an Inn or tavern without Government license. He was held to bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the next term of the U. S. District Court at Omaha.

Two Trains Daily.

Plattsburgh to Chicago without change of cars.

We understand that two trains a day are to be run between this city and Chicago just as soon as the gap is closed between Glenwood and Red Oak, which is reduced to a very few miles, and will be closed this week unless the weather is very severe. Then, indeed, will we begin to feel the effects of railroad communication when passengers can get into a passenger coach at Plattsburgh and ride to Chicago without change, and when goods are received there in the same car when they are loaded into at Chicago, and the car returned loaded with grain or cattle.

Mr. O'Connor was brought before the U. S. Commissioner's Court yesterday on charge of violating the revenue laws by keeping a tavern. Assistant District Attorney, J. V. Vance Lewis, presented the case, and T. M. Marquet was attorney for the defendant. After a full hearing, the prisoner was discharged.

We understand the proprietors of the town of Wyoming, at the mouth of Weeping Water, are somewhat elated over the prospects of get rivaling Nebraska City. Their hope is based on the building of a railroad up the Weeping Water to Ashland, crossing the Missouri at Wyoming—the best crossing for a railroad on the river except at Plattsburgh.

The Herald is not responsible for views or opinions of correspondents. We believe in allowing the largest liberty to correspondents, but at the same time we hope they will always remember that it is improper for them to be too personal through the columns of a newspaper. We desire correspondence upon all subjects in which the public are interested, but desire all personal difficulties settled through some other channel.

We state those things for the general guidance of persons who may desire to write for the Herald.

RECORDERS COURT.
Nov. 17.—John Donahue was this morning brought before the Recorder and plead guilty to the charge of drunkenness; this being his second offense, he was required to pay into the city school fund the sum of $10 and costs, amounting to $17.

John Duffy being convicted of the charge of drunkenness, was assessed $13.50.

Nov. 19.—Dan Eagan, while examining the rights in this city, was so unfortunate as to fall into the hands of the police; and was this morning brought before the Recorder and plead guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was fined $5 and costs.

Nov. 20.—John Fox, who was yesterday released from jail for the third time, concluded to celebrate the event with just one glass of whisky; but after taking the one glass his resolution could not withstand the temptation to take several other glasses. About 9 o'clock he drew his revolver on a man at the City Hotel, and a little later, to his grief, he fell into the hands of the police. He was this morning brought before the Recorder and plead guilty to a charge of drunkenness, and in default of $8 and costs was sent up to work out the amount on the streets.

Timothy Croley plead guilty to a charge of drunkenness and was required to pay $5 into the city school fund with costs.

G. Anderson plead guilty to a charge of drunkenness and paid $5 fine and costs.

Nov. 23.—Wm. Black, having visited Plattsburgh in company with his friend Harry Dagan, concluded that as it was rather chilly he would indulge in a little straight whisky, whilst Harry took his hot, which so confused his brains that they were unable to preserve an equilibrium. They were provided with longings at the expense of the city, and were this morning brought before the Recorder and plead guilty to drunkenness, and assessed to the extent to loan the City School fund $5 each with costs.

James Marmona plead guilty to a charge of drunkenness, and was fined $5 and costs.

Thomas McFarlan was found guilty of drunkenness and was assessed $5 and costs.

John Fox appeared before the Recorder for the fifth time on a charge of drunkenness to which he plead guilty and in default of $8, and costs was sent up.

Edward Donahue was found guilty of drunkenness and was requested to donate the City School fund the sum of $5 and costs.

Frank McGoran plead guilty to a charge of drunkenness and paid $5 and costs.

Nov. 23.—John Burns was arrested on complaint of Mr. McIntosh, who charged him (Burns) with larceny in the stealing of money from his (McIntosh's) pocket while in Burns' saloon on second street. The prisoner was discharged from insufficiency of evidence, and the prosecuting witness was ordered to pay the costs of the examination, amounting to $8.

Several unofficial charges of drugging customers have been made against Burns.

WINTER.
In nearly every town in Nebraska the young men have organized Literary Societies and made arrangements for intellectual entertainment by means of lectures, readings, &c., but we cannot learn of anything of the kind being on the tapis for Plattsburgh. True, we hear of projected "balls" and "festivals," we know of innumerable societies where young men appear with "dead loads" of cards, and "chess clubs," and "old sledge clubs," and "small entertainments" are numerous; but we have yet to learn of the young men of the place having made any arrangement for mental culture during our long winter evenings. We mention this matter, not in way of rebuke, but just to call attention to it, as we believe that it is all our young folks need to inaugurate the right movement towards an agreeable treat for the winter.

Some one says of a religious congregation that they put on their knees on a Sunday, and on their neighbors the rest of the week.

SEND PAPERS EAST.

If You Would Make a City of Plattsburgh Advertise It.

Just above the mouth of the Platte river we can see substantial evidences of the benefit of advertising. It is a generally conceded fact that Omaha is the best advertised city in the world. She is not advertised so extensively by the numbers of her newspapers, for she has only two, but by the liberality with which these two are patronized. The people of Omaha have good square up to their papers, and given them their support without being afraid the proprietors would make too much money; and the newspaper proprietors have not been afraid to invest their means in getting up a first class paper. Now we say to the people of Plattsburgh, send copies of the Herald east, and thus advertise Plattsburgh. The Herald is to-day a better paper than Omaha possessed when she was the size of Plattsburgh, and we propose to keep it ahead of everything in the State in proportion to the patronage received. From the day we issued the first paper in Plattsburgh, we have labored incessantly to give a just account of the doings and resources of this locality, and shall continue to do so, and shall continue to be benefited by the town and surrounding country as the patronage extended to the paper increases. Let every man interested in the prosperity of this region send one or more copies of the Herald east, and you will soon see the effect upon the wealth and population of the county.

ANOTHER HORSE THIEF IN LENOX.
A Horse stolen in Missouri, sold in Iowa, and the Thief Captured in Nebraska.

A few days since, Mr. J. R. Peoples, of Missouri, came to this city on the hunt of a stolen horse. He related his case to Marshal M. B. Murphy, who soon discovered the whereabouts of both horse and thief. The horse was found on Weeping Water, in the possession of Mr. B. E. Allen, who had traded for it at Bethlehem, in Iowa, from a man named John E. Vandeviesse. A warrant was issued by Judge Child for the arrest of Vandeviesse, and placed in the hands of deputy Marshall F. M. Lonsdale, who found him at Ashland, Saunders County. The horse was stolen from Mr. John King, of Holt County, Missouri, father-in-law of Mr. Peoples. The prisoner was taken before Judge Child yesterday afternoon, and was committed to the charge of Sheriff Johnson for a reasonable time to obtain evidence. A dispatch was received by Sheriff Johnson, this morning, from the Sheriff of Holt County, Mo., requesting him to hold Vandeviesse until a requisition could be obtained from the Governor.
