

PLATTSMOUTH AND ITS PROSPECTS.

The increased knowledge in the east relative to the soil, climate, and advantages of Nebraska, and the railroads constructed, or being built in and through the State are swelling the current of emigration to such a degree that the growth of the state bids fair to be still more rapid than that of her elder sisters.

When we look back a few years at any of our western towns, or States, we see the towns as a few scattered log cabins, or little half constructed frame cribs, and the States with but here and there a hardy pioneer, with little improvement of farms and hardly producing the plainest necessities of life; and now those same towns are populous and flourishing cities, excelling in numbers, wealth and enterprise, many an eastern town a century old, and the States in products, railroads, schools, in everything that gives facilities to production and traffic, in everything that contributes to the comforts of life and the elevation and refinement of society, rank side by side with the original States of the Union.

But this is but a single item in the credit account promised by the future. Our advantages over the Omaha route or any other, for bridging the Missouri, the easy grade of our road, and its directness will bring the Mountain and Pacific trade by this road, and make them tributary to our growth.

The inhabitants of British Columbia have again petitioned the Crown for a change of policy toward them. They state that three years ago their population amounted to 20,000, which is now reduced to 8,000. The causes of decrease in population are heavy taxation and stagnation of business on account of the refusal of our country to extend the duration of the reciprocity treaty.

The Brownville Advertiser gives the following extract from a private letter received from Hon. T. W. Tipton: "Believing the times demand that a step should be put to the speculation in public lands, as far as possible, I introduced on the 18th inst., a bill to prohibit the sale of public lands in the United States in Nebraska except to actual settlers."

The San Francisco News says that the island of Juan Fernandez has been colonized by a company of Germans under the leadership of Maj. Robert Wehrdan. The News says Wehrdan fought on the side of the Union during the war of secession, and since, with a party of sixty or seventy Germans, has settled on Robinson Crusoe's Island. It describes the island as a lovely place. That we know, of course, for Crusoe told us all about that when we just began to read. And before we had graduated from "roundabouts," or even before we had arrived to the dignity of that style of dress, we cherished ideas of slipping away some moonlight evening, and with some neighbor boy to act as Friday, we would re-open the abandoned farm, and cave, and castle of Mr. Crusoe. But somehow the project fell through, and now Maj. Wehrdan has destroyed all hope of our ever realizing the dream.

Defoe's romance has given to Juan Fernandez a world-wide celebrity with mankind of every age. To the child it looms up a fairy land, bright with scenes of deeper interest than any other spot on the face of the earth, and to age it comes sweetened with the dearest reminiscences of childhood. We hope Wehrdan will find it as lovely as it appeared in our childhood's dreams.

THE REPUBLICAN.

THE REPUBLICAN OF OMAHA.

The Republican of Omaha gives the votes of Senators Thayer and Tipton, on Drakes Amendment—Thayer yes, Tipton no; and writes: "Since writing the above, we have received the Washington Chronicle, of the 22d, which contains the full text of Mr. Drake's amendment, against which Senator Tipton recorded his vote. It is as follows: "And provided further, That the State of Virginia is entitled to representation in Congress upon the following fundamental condition: That the Constitution of Virginia shall never be amended or changed so as to deprive any class of citizens of the United States of the right to vote who are entitled to vote by the constitution herein recognized, except for such crimes as are now felonies at common law, whereof they shall have been duly convicted under laws applicable to all the inhabitants of said state: Provided, That any alteration of said constitution prospective in its effect may be made in regard to the time and place of residence of voters. That it shall never be lawful for the said State to deprive any citizen of the United States, on account of his race, color or previous condition of servitude, of the right to hold office under the constitution and laws of said State, or upon any such ground, to require of him any other qualifications for office than such as are required of all other citizens; that the constitution of Virginia shall never be so amended or changed as to deprive any citizen or class of citizens of the United States of the rights and privileges secured by the constitution of said State."

When the time will come, and very soon, when these prairie States will be populous and land comparatively dear; then will the tide of emigration cease, or will it flow on to the mountain region and make new States there. You say that it will depend upon the advantages afforded by the climate and soil, and the production of the country. If these will sustain a large population the population will certainly be supplied.

The mineral wealth of the mountains is an established fact, and by this single source of production, as yet scarcely developed, the germs of mountain States are already formed. And if the region produced nothing but minerals that product alone, through the aid of railroad facilities, would soon render the country rich and populous. But that region ranks as the very best stock-raising country in the entire north. Not only the best for cattle, but for sheep also, and its shipments of wool, and very soon of woolen fabrics—for it will be a manufacturing country—will add another important element of prosperity, and help to sustain a denser population. Its wealth of minerals, its abundant and peculiarly rich pasturage, its advantages for manufacturing, with water power in every valley, and its healthful climate, will, in our opinion, settle and improve the mountain region as rapidly as the prairie States have been populated.

Within a few years from the present time the mountain valleys will be dotted with houses, and villages, and cities, and in every direction will go up columns of smoke from forge, foundry and rolling mills, from coal mines, quartz mills, oil wells and manufacturing establishments of every kind. Roads from Montana, Idaho and Oregon, on the north and southwest, and similar roads on the opposite side of the Union Pacific railroad, will open other mountain valleys to settlement, and make the entire mountain States as populous and wealthy as any of the older States of the Union.

Their sources of wealth are different from ours of the prairie States, but they are not less abundant. We mention a mineral wealth, located nearly in the center of the continent, with the great highway of the nation passing through the region, and being in close proximity to the great farming region on the east and another on the west, the growth and prosperity of the mountain States are as certain as any future event can possibly be.

We have spoken at length on this subject because the prosperity of Nebraska will be enhanced by the growth of the mountain States, and especially will Plattsmouth, through the advantages of the Burlington cut off, find in the future the mountain trade an important element in her growth.

WHAT.

OUYLER SCHOLFAX Says of Weeping Water.

Extract from Letter to Mrs. Grundy. "As I was telling you, my dear Mrs. Grundy, I came on my visit to Weeping Water in a dilapidated condition—was but a shabby, ragged, and shivering creature, with a well-dressed man—having been deprived of all by the merciful angels, who even took my cigar case. Thinking that I might in that flourishing town obtain a second-hand blanket, I rode up to REED BROS. store, and hitching my mule by the ears to a large freight wagon loaded with goods for the Plattsmouth retail trade, I entered. Judge of my surprise when I was promptly met and offered a complete outfit, from a pair of sturdy boots to a good-suit of clothing, for the price of $20.00. If you want anything in the miscellaneous line, call on them, and you don't care what they are generous, liberal, good looking and truthful to a fault."
