

RAILROAD TIME TABLE.

B. & M. R. IN NEBRASKA. To Take Effect June 22, 1870.

Table with columns for WESTWARD, STATIONS, EASTWARD, TRAIN NO. 1, TRAIN NO. 2, TRAIN NO. 3, TRAIN NO. 4. Lists stations like Plattsmouth, Ashland, and times for various trains.

To take effect, Sunday, May 15.

Table with columns for Pacific Express, Mail and Express, Night Express. Lists times for these services.

Go to the time the Omnibus carries and depart to and from the depot in this city.

C. B. & ST. JOE R. R. (LAT. PACIFIC JUNCTION R.O.W.)

GOING NORTH. GOING SOUTH. Lists times for these routes.

This gives passengers from Plattsmouth close connection with the B. & M. R. R. by going North by leaving here on the 7 a. m. train.

ARRIVAL AND DEPARTURE OF THE PLATTSMOUTH MAILS.

Table with columns for SOUTH, CLOSURE, ARRIVES. Lists arrival and departure times for mail services.

Office hours, from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Sundays, 12 to 2 p. m.

J. W. MARSHALL, P. M.

Mr. Manley informs us that the R. R. track will be shored into Lincoln in the course of the week—as soon as the timbers arrive for a couple of small bridges.

We learn that Mr. Dilley's school had a picnic in the west part of town last Saturday, where enjoyment reigned.

The Omaha papers now reach us at 10 a. m. on the morning of publication. We hope our Omaha friends will not fail to get them into the mail in time.

Four hundred and seventy-four children went east over the B. & M. last Saturday. They are the same lot we mentioned a few days since, destined to Tennessee, to work on the grade of the Chattanooga railroad.

We understand several head of Texas cattle swam the Missouri river this morning.

Did you ever notice those beautiful cap stones used in the State Lunatic Asylum, at Lincoln? They came from the inexhaustible quarries belonging to Daniel Sweeney, Esq., near Ashland, and are of the finest magnesian limestone. These quarries will be of incalculable benefit to Plattsmouth in a few years, as soon as we commence erecting first-class houses.

It does one good to see the long lines of immigrant wagons crossing the Jordan (old muddy) into the land of promise. Not a day passes but some are added to our numbers by immigration, and all who come appear satisfied. One frontier, homestead Canadian, sends up a wail from Fremont, and we believe he is the only man in all this broad State that is dissatisfied.

One of the direct benefits observed from the building of the B. & M. R. R. from this city west, is the large number of houses being erected by the mechanics engaged on the road and in the machine shops located in this city. We gain as a city and county, and State, not only by the increase in taxable property thus added, but by the addition to our population of a good class of citizens—for mechanics are next in order of benefit to a community after the farmers; and in some respects they may be superior—at least the farmers could not do without the mechanic could do without the farmer.

Judge E. S. Danly arrived in the city this morning, on his way to Lincoln.

Dr. F. Renner, Deputy U. S. Assessor, is in the city on business. He will remain a day or two.

The Omaha papers of this morning have accounts of no less than three different highway robberies.

It is currently reported in Democratic circles that J. Sterling Morton, the editor of the ex-Neos, will try to regain his former editorial honors by taking hold of the Lincoln Statesman.

Dr. F. Renner has been appointed and confirmed post master at Nebraska City. We believe the Dr. will make an efficient officer. His appointment will have the effect to settle the controversy in regard to the office, whether or not it satisfies all parties. We hope the Dr. will use his power in the party in Oioe to settle any differences that may exist.

Married, on Monday, July 11th, at the residence of Fred Stadelman, in this city, by A. L. Child, Probate Judge, Mr. Augustus William Grinstead and Miss Frederica Branstern.

Mr. Aro Smith of Rock Bluffs, has the finest Cabbage in the State. He left a head at the HERALD office this morning which weighs seven and a half pounds. It is known as Father's Improved Brunswick. He also has some of the finest Cauliflower we ever saw, and tomatoes as large as your fist. Mr. Smith believes there is virtue in manure, even on Nebraska soil.

Thos. K. Hanna, one of the early settlers of Plattsmouth, is staying in the city a few days. Mr. Hanna is now engaged in the wholesale dry goods trade at Kansas City.

A private letter from Central City, Colorado, informs us that articles in the HERALD have induced several families to remove from that locality to Plattsmouth. We are always gratified to hear of these evidences of the usefulness of the HERALD.

The Omaha Herald pays Col. Taylor a high compliment as a journalist upon his retiring from the editorial control of the Republican. It speaks of him as "a writer of ability and power, and a journalist second to none in this portion of the west."

The editors of the Blair Register have been arrested for an all-god violation of the postal law in the sending of printed advertising slips folded in their papers.

Mr. Jos. Shera, of Rock Bluffs, has a few of those excellent hams left, which can be had at 22 cents a pound. They are the only home cured hams we know of in this region. Those in want of them will do well to call soon.

P. G. Dobson, an old resident of Rock Bluffs, came in from his new home at Ullyses, in Butler county, yesterday. He has shown us a sample of barley raised by him at Ullyses which equals any barley we ever saw. He also has some very fine wheat. The barley can be seen at the HERALD office.

An army officer writes us from Cheyenne, saying: "I wish you would send me your interesting paper to this place, as it is impossible to get any news out of the Omaha papers in relation to the south side of the Platte." We cheerfully add his name to our list, and would say that, while the Omaha papers are models of excellence in their way, they are not supposed to be so particular about giving the news of this great agricultural and manufacturing region as the HERALD, which claims to be the especial champion of the interests of this region.

We understand a large brick store has been decided on near the Platte Valley. Billin & Son are finishing their new building opposite the Brooks House. It is one of the neatest buildings in the west.

The Republican County Committee of Otoe have called a Convention to elect delegates to take place on the 6th of August.

Dr. Renner as post master at Nebraska City was unexpected by almost everybody.

Mr. Blackman, of the firm of Acres, Blackmar & Co., of Burlington, was in the city this morning.

The HERALD is fast becoming the paper of Nebraska. It is not only read by all Nebraskians, but is found in many families and business places in far off countries. We acknowledge the receipt of a small club and the accompanying cash from La Paz, Arizona, which came to hand yesterday.

We hear every day the people of Omaha and Nebraska City talking about the necessity of having railroads so that they can get stone for building purposes.

We have a little advantage over them, as we have inexhaustible quarries adjoining the city, of as fine rock as one could wish. Send along your Railroads, gentlemen; we can supply you with building rock.

We understand the large raft of logs which came down the river yesterday was purchased by parties in this city. The raft was started from Little Sioux, and contains about 35,000 feet of lumber.

If any one thinks there is not a lively demand for houses in the city, notwithstanding the large number built this season, let him start a foundation and watch the swarm that it will attract to rent. It is customary here for houses to be rented in advance of being built, and often the renter has advanced a large portion of the money, on rents, with which to construct the building.

Hesser was supplied the HERALD office this morning with choice flowers. He ornamented the Sanctum with some dozen or fifteen different flowering plants, and then capped the heap with the finest bouquet we have seen for years. The central flower of the bouquet is a large Clerodendron, one of the most fragrant flowers known. May Hesser's shadow never grow less.

Between four and five hundred home-steads were secured at the Lincoln Land Office during the month of June. This, taken in connection with the fact that $400,000 worth of railroad lands were sold by Commissioner Harris during the same time, in the same region of country, looks very much as though people were coming to this part of the footstool in great numbers. In the language of the advertisements of the story papers, "now is the time to subscribe" if you want a nip at the Nebraska lands.

A gentleman of large experience assured us this morning that he had been watching for the past year to see what point in Nebraska was likely to be the great commercial center, and where it would pay best to make a permanent investment, and that he had decided upon Plattsmouth as the point. He has made money in other towns of the State, but he has decided upon this as the place for business and permanent investments.

Most of our State exchanges have endorsed the proposition for an editorial convention to be held at Lincoln on the 10th day of August. Therefore, we suggest that the convention is a foregone conclusion. We hope there may be a general attendance.

Mr. Shrider was in the city yesterday, and informs us that many of the farmers in the southern part of the county are nearly done their harvest.

A murder was committed at Forest City, in Sarpy county, on the evening of the 4th. A discussion arose in regard to a bond question, between Thomas and his nephew, Pat. Melia, during which Pat. Melia struck his uncle with a club, breaking his skull.

John Young, of the firm of Goodwin & Young, has been appointed Postmaster at Ashland.

Two large, powerful steam ferry boats are constantly plying between Plattsmouth and the Iowa shore, and the third one will be here in a few days. Railroads and a good farming community make lots of business.

By conversing with farmers from the lower and middle portions of the county we find they are alive to the importance of the proposed change of the line of the Omaha, Plattsmouth and Gulf Railroad.

CLEANING UP.

We are pleased to notice that our city Street Commissioner is having Main Street cleared of all boxes, sticks, and rubbish generally. It will make the city look an hundred per cent better.

CONDUCTOR PARKHURST HURT.

We learn that A. Parkhurst, Esq., conductor on one of the passenger trains running between this city and Lincoln, was injured severely this morning, at Newton station. He was coupling cars, and was caught between the bumpers. There are no bones broken, but his body is severely bruised, so as to lay him up for a time.

THE FOURTH AT EIGHT MILE.

We learn from Mr. Samuel Richardson that the people of Eight Mile Grove had a very pleasant time on the Fourth. A picnic—originally intended as a Sunday School picnic—was had near the church, where the Declaration of Independence was read, and appropriate speeches were made by different parties. A good time generally was had.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

A gentleman was robbed between Omaha and Bellevue, last Saturday evening, by two ruffians who met him on the road and presented each a revolver at his head. They took from him $20.00 in cash, a draft calling for $500.00, and stripped him of his coat and vest. No clue to who the robbers were. This is not the first robbery committed in the same locality. Look out for hump.

FIRST LOCOMOTIVE.

We learn from the Omaha Republican that the first locomotive for the South Western road has been secured. It is called the "S. S. Caldwell," in honor of the energetic President of the company. It is from the well-known manufactory of Hinkley & Williams, of Boston. It will whistle in Plattsmouth before frost comes.

MORE TEXAS CATTLE.

Another installment of two hundred and fifty head of Texas cattle arrived in the city this morning, for shipment east. A part of them go via Council Bluffs, and we presume the others go to Chicago by the B. & M. Dealers in this stock are finding out that it is more profitable to ship by Plattsmouth than from any other point in the State. By coming here the crossing of that ugly stream, the Platte, is avoided.

THE GREAT R. R. BRIDGE.

The Preliminary Soundings.

South Rock the entire distance across the River.

We have heretofore assured the readers of the HERALD that a good rock foundation for a bridge existed in the bottom of the "old muddy" at this place, but we have not been able to give the exact depth at which the rock was to be found. The engineer corps have been at work for the past week making preliminary surveys and soundings for a bridge at this point, and their labors reveal the joyful fact that rock exists on the Nebraska side from half a mile above our town to half a mile below; and at Rocky Point, at the south line of the city, rock is found the entire way across, and only forty feet below the water line at the lowest place. This settles the matter of a bridge at this point. The river only seventeen hundred feet in width, a good rock bottom the entire way across, and a permanent channel—admitting the creation of a low bridge and a draw—cannot be ignored. The close of another season will witness long trains of cars passing back and forth over the B. & M. R. R. bridge at Plattsmouth. Stick a pin there.

SOME THING NEW UNDER THE SUN.

A Steam Thresher in Cass County.

Dr. Latta received to-day a steam power for threshing, direct from the manufactory, which is a little ahead of anything we have seen for a time. It consists of a boiler and engine apparatus combined, which sets upon iron wheels and running gear manufactured especially for the purpose. The wheels are broad, to prevent sinking in soft ground. The outfit is provided with a smoke stack protected by a screen, and it is said that the protection of the screen is so perfect that a bundle of straw can rest all day on top of the smoke stack without taking fire. The apparatus complete can be hauled anywhere by one pair of horses. It has the power of ten or twelve horses, and only requires 5 bushels of coal per day to run it. Ten or twelve barrels of water a day is sufficient to supply steam. There is no stopping to "let the horses blow" with this machine. It seems to us it is bound to revolutionize the work of the farm in more respects than threshing. We hope to hear a favorable report from this machine at the close of the season's work. We trust Dr. Latta will keep a close record of the expenditures necessary to operate this machine, also of the amount of work accomplished by it, so that we may give the public the benefit of his experiment.

Oliver Logan is a little deaf. At Madison, while at the hotel, she was called on by numerous admirers of the sterner sex. They had been talking about children, and branched off into talking about people's ages. Postmaster Keyes asked Oliver how many children she had. "Eighteen," said she, thinking he had a keener eye.

MARKET MANUFACTURE.

Parties from the Capital inform us that salt is being manufactured there in considerable quantities. A large number of wooden vats have been constructed for solar evaporation, and the results thus far in this line have been highly satisfactory. This climate is especially adapted to solar evaporation, as we have but a limited amount of "wet weather," and have a good breeze, as well as warm sunshine, to assist the evaporation. The only obstacles heretofore in the way of developing the Salt interests of Lincoln has been the lack of cheap transportation. The B. & M. R. R. is now open to Lincoln (or will be in a few days), and we expect to see Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, and in fact the entire region of country between the Mississippi and the Rocky Mountains, supplied with Salt manufactured from the Lincoln works. It is a big thing for Plattsmouth, as well as Lincoln, for all this vast amount of merchandise will be brought to this city for distribution on the different routes.

DOUBLE MURDER.

The Sheriff of Lucas County Shot and His Murderer Hanged From the Court House Window.

From parties who came through over the B. & M. we learn that a double murder was perpetrated at Chariton, Lucas county, Iowa, Thursday evening. It appears that the Sheriff of that county had orders to arrest a supposed horse-thief. He found his man and made the arrest. He asked the prisoner where his horse was, and he told him. The Sheriff remarked that he would take care of the horse, or words to that effect, when the prisoner said he would take care of his own horse, and at the same moment drew a revolver and shot the Sheriff through the breast. He started to run, but was soon secured and taken into the Court House. The Sheriff only lived a few minutes, and had hardly breathed his last when the excited populace placed a rope around the neck of his murderer and launched his guilty soul into eternity by suspending his body out of the second story window of the Court House.

THE SOUTH-WESTERN.

We publish an article to-day from the Omaha Republican, relative to the connection of the above named railroad with the B. & M. We agree with the Republican that a connection should be made, and it seems to us the point to make the connection is on the most direct line between Omaha and Plattsmouth, thus making the line serve the double purpose of its original design and a portion of the Trunk line. The adoption of the proposition to connect directly with this city will prove of more real advantage to Cass county than would a connection at what now is termed Omaha Junction on the B. & M. The former would give more business to the road, and would be much better for both Omaha and Cass county. While it would give the farmers of Cass all the advantages of the Omaha market, it would give Omaha the advantage of a double connection with not only Cass county but with the entire South Platte. A connection at Omaha Junction would only give Omaha connection with the west line of railroad, while a connection at this city direct would give them a connection both west and south. Let the people, as well as the Railroad Company—and the interests of Cass as well as the interests of Omaha—be consulted in this matter.

TURN OUT.

Let every Republican in Cass county remember that Saturday, the 23rd day of July, at 2 o'clock p. m., is the time appointed for holding primary meetings in the different precincts to elect delegates to attend the County Convention. We hope no Republican will be absent from these primary meetings, as right there is where the evil or good takes shape in party politics. If you leave it to a few political demagogues and tricksters to rule the primary meetings, you must expect the natural fruits of such parentage to manifest itself all the way up through the machinery of politics. By turning out at the primary meetings and sending the right kind of men to your County Conventions, they in turn will send the right kind of men to the State Convention, where, as a natural consequence, the right kind of men will be nominated to office. On the other hand if you stay away from the primary meetings and allow a half dozen scheming demagogues (and they are always on hand at these meetings—they are never too busy to attend) to rule, they in turn will send men of their own stamp (if they have to send themselves) to the County Convention, where, in turn, the same class of men will be sent to the State Convention to nominate the member of Congress and the men who are to fill the State offices. Turn out and send the right kind of men to the County Convention, and our word for it, it will be time well spent.

Honest Opinion of a Rival.

The Picture not overdone by the Herald.

Col. Taylor, of the Omaha Republican, passed through our city last week, for the first time since last winter, and the following is what he says of our town through the columns of the Republican: "As a citizen of Nebraska, feeling a lively interest in the development of every portion of the State, we were more than gratified, as we passed through Plattsmouth on Monday last, to witness the extent of the substantial evidences of a healthy growth and prosperity which were everywhere apparent. Many fine buildings have been erected during the present season, and many more are in process of construction. Plattsmouth is the natural depot for a large and highly productive district of country, extending back into the interior as far as the line of the B. & M. Railroad extends, and she has a prospect of a bright future before her."

"We have been reading the many clever things which Bro. Hathaway of the Herald has been saying of his city, and knowing that editors are not in the habit of depreciating the advantages of their respective localities, we were prepared to make all due allowances for any discrepancies which might be apparent between the ideal and the real; but candor compels us to admit that Plattsmouth is on a substantial basis, and is destined to take rank among the largest and best towns of our young State. So mote it be."

When we consider that the above is from a paper which is expected to especially advocate the claims and advertise the importance of a rival city, it speaks volumes for Plattsmouth. It is very best of testimony in our favor, as it is evidence of the "other side." The people of our city will ever remember Col. Taylor for being thus candid in his statements.

In his address to the students of the Union Theological Seminary, Dr. Cuyler made many very effective points. One suggestion may be very useful to some "pastors" who have been out of the seminary for some time. "In the morning of each day, study books—in the afternoon, study door-plates and human nature."

"I can marry any girl I please," said a young fellow boastfully. "Very true," replied his waggish companion, "for you can't please any."

NOT THE MILITARY STYLE OF MARKING.

Not the military style of marking, but the political. Last year a considerable amount of bad blood was produced in our county convention on a question of time, and we therefore advise that steps be taken this year to prevent a repetition of the same thing. It was decided last year that the time at which delegates to the county convention was elected was of greater importance than the numbers that participated in the election. While we protest—as we did at that time—against the injustice of this kind of ruling, yet in order that harmony may prevail, we advise that the Secretary of each primary meeting include in his report the exact hour of meeting, the hour at which the vote was taken, and the hour of adjournment. As there is no telling what little quirk or quibble may be sprung (taking the past as a guide), it might not be amiss to note, also, what time was used—whether sun time or clock time, or whether the time was guessed at as near as could be. We know that many of our farmers are without reliable time-pieces, and pinning them down to a nicety on a question of time may have the effect to disfranchise them; yet if it should be (which we hope will not be the case) that the coming convention should stick upon as trivial a matter as did the last, we see no hope for the man who does not carry a chronometer. Seriously, however, we advise all Republicans to be on hand punctually at the hour designated by the Central Committee—2 p. m., on Saturday, the 23d of July, inst. It can certainly do no harm, and may do much good. While we have always held, and always expect to hold, to the belief that the will of a majority, whenever expressed, provided it is done with honest intent and without trickery, should always rule, yet we believe it is no less the duty of that majority to attend punctually at the time named in the call for primary meetings. We have always believed it to be within the province of the people themselves to say who should represent them at any time or place, and no one has a right to gainsay what the people have decided upon; yet for the sake of harmony we advise strict conformity to the programme laid down, else some other precinct may be disfranchised this year, as Plattsmouth was last.

A CHANGE.

The Omaha Republican of yesterday morning contains the "good-bye" of Col. E. B. Taylor as editor of that journal, and the introductory remarks of Mr. John Teeddale. We extract the following from Mr. Teeddale's introductory, which has the ring of the true metal: "Nor are we unaware of the responsibility connected with the editorial management of a widely circulated and influential journal. Much thought and long experience have to be expended, and a sense of duty to the country, and a sense of that responsibility. The newspaper is a great educator. Its influence is felt everywhere, as it is read by all classes. It behooves it, therefore, to see that that influence be for good; and it should co-operate with all, as far as they are engaged in their legitimate work. It is, pre-eminently, the political teacher; and where the life of the nation depends upon the proper exercise of political rights, it is the duty of the press to be vigilant, and to see that the rights and interests of the people are not sacrificed to the interests of a few. It is the duty of the press to be fearless, and to stand up for the rights of the people, and to see that the rights and interests of the people are not sacrificed to the interests of a few. It is the duty of the press to be fearless, and to stand up for the rights of the people, and to see that the rights and interests of the people are not sacrificed to the interests of a few."

THE PRIMARY MEETINGS.

There is scarcely a man in the country who has sufficient intelligence to be a Republican that does not know that one of the prime reasons why slavery flourished for so many years in this country was that the great mass of upright, honest men, who abhorred the traffic in the bodies and souls of men and women, were too deeply engrossed in their own labors—and were too much inclined to say let the politicians attend to the politics of the country—to take hold of the matter and remedy the evil by a constant application of the principles of eternal justice in the political affairs of the nation. They allowed political demagogues and charlatans to manage the affairs of the nation to a great extent, consequently much of evil crept in where all was good, or nearly all, at the commencement of the government. But there was an awakening, which shook the government to its centre, and the hearts of the strongest had fearful misgivings as to the result. Truth and justice finally triumphed, but at what a sacrifice of blood and treasure? Is it possible—can it be that the loyal people of this nation will so soon forget the terrible struggle for a national existence as to again relax their vigilance of political matters, and allow this same class of political charlatans to control the affairs of government, and to again humble the nation and either destroy it altogether or cause a re-enactment of the scenes of the "war for the Union." "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and if the people would have liberty they should be ever on the alert. The time and place to correct all these errors is at the primary meetings, and no man is true to his government or to himself if he neglects to attend these meetings and give the political machinery of the nation the proper start. If it is started right; but if it is started wrong it will be likely to continue wrong. The primary meeting is the only place where the people have full control. There they have the power to say not only who shall not represent them, but who shall represent them. Their power is greater at the primary meetings than at the ballot-box; for at the ballot-box they can only choose between the candidates, and both may be bad. At the primary meetings they have free choice, and none should fail to attend them. Republicans of Cass county, remember that Saturday, the 23d day of July, at 2 o'clock p. m., is the time designated for you to express your preferences on political matters of the State, and it is your only chance for two years. Be on hand.

Died, in this city, on Wednesday morning, at 9:30, Della, infant daughter of Peter and Amelia E. Valley, aged 2 weeks and 3 days.

The funeral will take place at their residence at 10 a. m. to-morrow. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

Rev. A. Wright, Post Chaplain at Ft. A. D. Russell, is in the city for two days on a visit to his family. He came in yesterday.

An iron bridge is to be erected over the Neosho at Neosho Falls. The span will be 200 feet long.

WE HAVE MADE ARRANGEMENTS WITH J. W. BARNES, Esq., by which he will collect money on subscription, advertising and job work due the HERALD office, and he will also solicit work and subscriptions. We hope those of our patrons upon whom he may call will endeavor to pay up as promptly as possible, as it requires money to run a newspaper, as well as to do anything else successfully. J. & W. B.

IT IS IMPORTANT.

We hope no Republican voter in Cass county will stay away from the primary meetings next Saturday because he may chance to think it is not very important. If you would have Nebraska properly represented in Congress—if you would see the executive office and the other State offices, filled by upright and just men, then attend your primary meetings, and see that the same stamp of men are sent to the County Convention to represent you. Be on hand punctually at two o'clock p. m., Saturday, July 23d.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

The building owned by Merges & Bro. and occupied by them as a marble yard office, near the corner of Sixth and Main streets, was struck by lightning during the storm last night, shattering the front badly. There is a family living in the second story, but there was no one hurt.

MAN DROWNED.

We learn that a man named John Lawther, of Pennsylvania, a section hand on the Railroad, working on section 13, was drowned in the Platte last evening, while in bathing. We have not heard any particulars except as above. It is said he has a wife near Liverpool, England. Will people never learn, except by these sad experiences, that no one is safe in the treacherous sands of the Platte or Missouri.

THE PLACE.

Do not forget that the place designated by the County Central Committee for holding the primary meetings on the 23d inst. is where elections are usually held. It might have been judicious to have allowed precinct committees to designate the most convenient place for holding the meetings; but as the place has been designated, as well as the time, and it gives an opportunity for a quibble if the meetings are not held at the required place, we advise a strict compliance with the orders of the central committee. Do not forget the hour—2 o'clock p. m.—and the place—the usual place of holding elections in the various precincts. Let the Republicans turn out en masse, and elect true men to represent you in the county conventions. Do not allow any political shysters, who are always ready to "fix up a hand" (as it is pertinently termed by one of their number), to cheat you out of a voice in the affairs of government.
