LOCAL NEWS

Frank Williams is about to give a "benefit" to his "squat" performer.—Programmes will appear in a day or two.

Sheriff Grebe, of Omaha, was in our city yesterday, looking for an escaped prisoner.

We are in receipt of a complimentary ticket from Jeremiah Beam, Esq., to the Douglas county Agricultural Fair, to be held at Omaha on the 13th, 14th and 15th of September.

Secretary Kennard returned to Lincoln this morning. He is endeavoring to procure excursion rates over the different roads for persons who desire to attend the Land Sales at Lincoln on the 27th of September.

Henry Robinson has removed his Wholesale Liquor establishment to one door west of the R. R. Ticket Office.—He has just returned from St. Louis, where he procured a large stock of the finest liquors, which he will dispose of to the trade at low down rates.

The R R. Company is building a platform, steps, and baggage chute at the foot of Main street for the accommodation of their transfer business. After the 1st day of September all transferring will be done on the Company's boats, direct from Main street depot.

Dr. Schildknecht is erecting a fine house at the head of Southwest avenue.

We are sorry to learn that Miss Nannie Spurlock, sister of our worthy townsman, B. Spurlock, is lying at the point of death at Nebraska City.

Wagons loaded with grain are coming into the city every day by the hundred. Will the different dealers in the city please keep a record of the amount handled by them so we can get a reliable statement for publication.

A large Section house on the railroad, above Louisville, was blown down one night this week. No one hurt, but several occupants had their slumbers interrupted.

In Nevada a contemplative Digger Indian sat watching a party of base ball players, who seemed to be working very hard. Turning to one of them he asked: "How much you get one day?"

An old lady remarked at a sociable the other evening that the French must be very hard up for munitions of war, as they were now firing off cheese pats. We know of some butter that would serve a good purpose as a "munition of war."

During a short drive in the country this morning we noticed a large number of new farm houses—the very best indications that the farmers of Cass are prospering. We could not but remark the air of comfort which surrounds most of the farm houses, equaling that of any of the older States.

Judge Clinton Briggs was placed in nomination by the so called labor reform convention for the office of Attorney General. The Judge was perfectly willing that others should spend their time and means in a hopeless canvass, but he "couldn't see it," for himself, so he has sent in a letter of resignation.

W. F. McCarron will lecture on temperance in this city on the 10th and 11th of September. He is said to be a very fine talker, and we anticipate a large audience. We shall speak of him again.

We hear all classes of business men remark that trade is much better than it was ten days ago. It has become almost chronic for business men to grumble at the small amount of their sales, but we have not heard a man in Plattsmouth utter a growl for more than a week.—Business is good, better, best, and they all know it.

"A Subscriber" does not exactly like it because our dispatches are more favorable to Prussia than to the French. Well, we cannot help it if the Prussians are thrashing the French, and we shall not attempt to stop them.

Wm. Reed, of Seward county is in the city on business. He reports all things lovely on the Blue.

Mr. Hillyer, the gentleman we mentioned last evening as having been taken suddenly ill, is so far recovered as to think of going on his journey again.

The Camp Meeting at Carroll's Grove was closed Thursday morning, after a continuance of eight days. We understand the labors of the meeting were eminently satisfactory.

Chase & Thomas are erecting another large grain house on Southwest avenue, where they are doing a large commission business. Their business has increased so rapidly that their original building would not accommodate it.

Capt. Murphy desires us to say that the census returns for this county will not be closed until Wednesday of next week, and that parties who have been overlooked by him—if there are any such—will confer a favor by reporting prior to the time of closing.

We remarked, a few days since, that the Nebraska City papers would probably be filled for ten days with new ideas picked up by "Waters and Dan" while in our city for a few hours. They are working them in slyly but surely. The Times says: "One hundred men are excavating at Plattsmouth, for the foundation of a railroad bridge over the Missouri." And then Dan gets wild over our Street Lamps, and tells the people of Nebraska City how we have a lamp on every corner, and says he will annoy the common council of Nebraska City until they either light the city or resign. Come up again, and we will show you other new things which less enterprising towns do not have.

The Brownville Democrat has a call for a people's mass convention for Nemaha county to be held at Brownville on the 27th inst., to select delegates to attend a convention to be held in Plattsmouth, on the 7th of September. That looks very much like the Democracy were about to abandon their party organization or else we are to have a repetition of the "double headed snake," which exhibited in this city a few years ago, called "Massachusetts and South Carolina."

C. H. Wolcott, Esq., has shown us a specimen of the wild grapes raised by him and heretofore mentioned in the HERALD. They are a large, luscious grape, equal to any fine varieties we have seen. Mr. Wolcott is prepared to furnish vines to persons desiring to cultivate them.

Perfect harmony does not seem to prevail in the camp of the enemy. Dr. Blue is a democrat of the solid stripe, and does not propose to be switched about by such "light weights" as the Brownville Democrat. Hear him, through the Nebraska City Times:

"Will the Brownville Democrat, the champion of Labor Reform movement, inform us how many counties in the State were represented at the Reform Convention? If Otoe county was represented and if so who were the representatives?"

"The Labor Reform fellows have put a ticket in nomination composed of Democarts and Republicans." Who nominated that ticket? Who were the delegates that represented Otoe county in the Labor Reform Convention? Will the Brownville "Democrat" enlighten us?"

EXAMINATIONS.

It is evident that a School System is incomplete in which no adequate means are provided for the education as well as the examination of teachers. Teachers, schools are just as necessary as law schools, medical schools, and theological schools. But as it is impossible to sustain normal schools enough to accommodate all the teachers in the State, or if possible it is impracticable for many of our teachers to attend them, as the next best thing we would say form a Normal Institute, having for its object instruction as well as examination.

Don't understand me as being opposed to normal schools. I would advocate the doctrine that we should have normal schools enough to accommodate all our teachers as soon as possible. But granting that we have normal schools enough in some parts of our country to accommodate all the teachers in those parts, yet we find many teachers who do not embrace the opportunity of being benefited by these Institutions. It is very important then that we should do the next best thing to advance our system of public instruction. The influence of well conducted normal Institutes can scarcely be estimated in dollars and cents.

Many teachers, and especially young teachers, are aroused to new energy by the instruction they receive from experienced instructors at these Institutes.—The instructors will notice the errors and weaknesses in the habits of the pupil teachers which need special attention and special arrangements for their correction. In the teacher's training class is the time and place where activities are to be roused and directed, corrected and stimulated, from day to day and his good habits of study and labor formed and established.

Hence, that class management which by so continuously directing and stimulating the mental and moral action of the pupil teacher as to form correct and established habits, is most essentially the correct, or normal management not only of the class but of the school. And the good habits of industry infused into the minds of these pupil teachers at these normal Institutes will be infused into the minds of their pupils in their own schools. Such a habit of earnest industry once fixed, is worth more, as an education, than all else that can be acquired in school life without it.

Teacher, it is possible to govern in such a manner that it is not known that there is any government; and yet harmony prevails in all purposes and practices, resulting from the one all-controlling, earnest, magic influence of your own heart.

Improvements in our methods of instruction, discipline and school management may be made and brought out of these Normal Institutes to such an extent that the teacher will feel that with his pupils study has become a pleasure while shirking is unknown. The spirit of these Institutes should be honest labor, enthusiastic endeavor, and, of course, splendid results both in the pupil's class in the Institute and in his classes in after life.

But some examiners ask how do you examine the teachers at these Normal Institutes? This question was answered in my first article. I will give in substance the statement found in my first article upon that point. Let the instructors teach the best methods of teaching; delivering lectures that may be discussed, digested and made ready for use; judge of the power to teach by the power exhibited in mastering subjects assigned, and in the real teaching they shall perform before their classes; determine whether they possess the ability to govern from the manner in which they govern themselves; find out whether they understand the best method of preventing tardiness, by their having energy enough to be punctual themselves.

It seems plain to us, if instructors or examiners do not know the standing of pupil teachers after having taught them for five or six weeks, they are not likely to gain any very reliable information concerning them from a public examination of a few hours.

When a change is made we will find that instead of being subject to examinations which ostensibly are to prove our own competency, but which in reality only show that we are suspected of incompetency, we shall be allowed to demonstrate our abilities by the results that we can work out, and show our qualifications by the glorious success that we can achieve.

When we have this new system of examinations it will furnish us a profession. Teaching will be a business in which we can engage with the expectation and the possibility of taking such a position as will give us no doubtful rank. Emoluments and honors will be as great and as distinguished as those of any of the fixed professions.

Too much cannot be said of the importance of the position which the common school teachers hold. The whole structure must rest upon the foundation that they are building. Fellow-teachers, let us conclude that teaching can be made a business, and let us make it so. Shall we sacrifice a principle, or permit the true interests of our cause to suffer, when by maintaining our integrity or by standing for the right we may cause the trustees to oust us from a good position, or that examiner to withhold a deserved certificate? There are trustees who are bigoted. There are examiners who are unprincipled. There are teachers who permit themselves to be the tools of examiners whom they continually denounce as unworthy. Are we, will we ever be beholden to them? Our national government is corrupt because the common people are not true to themselves. "Purify the ranks and the officers will be trustworthy."

I am perfectly well aware that pooh, and sneers, and snuff will be the only reply that many an examiner will deign to offer to such a position as I have taken. I have been fortified by such arguments for some years.

Honest examiners who may differ with me as to the merits of this new method will not hold that the old one is a perfect system. But we earnestly hope that what we have said will provoke discussion, and that our readers will give this matter a consideration. C. C.

Young folks grow most when in love. It increases their sighs wonderfully.—Some of our young folks are growing rapidly.

Don't you buy a cent's worth from a man who does not advertise. They sell but little, and they sell that little dear.

"No, dear," said a mendacious husband to his wife; "You never catch any lies coming out of my mouth." "You may well say that," replied the wife; "they fly out so fast that nobody can catch 'em."

Ice is now four times the price of coal. But next winter the boot will be on the other foot.

The New Orleans Republican would have us believe that "crops about the French seat of war are looking better since the soldiers wept at the tranquility of the Prince Imperial."

The Delavan Republican complains of their school mistress getting married, and thinks an increase of salary will mitigate the evil. Doubtful.

Tom Thumb has been received in Australia with an earthquake. O, if they will only have one when Train gets there.
