

Nebraska Herald

PLATSMOUTH NEBRASKA.

THURSDAY, JAN. 12, 1871.

The telegraphic news from Washington says Hon. S. Strickland, of Omaha, was nominated yesterday for Governor of Utah Territory.

We met a gentleman from Huo to day who said he was astonished to find that when rated about 25cts a bushel higher in Plattsburgh than at Huo. We informed him that the B. & M. was what was the matter.

Our old friend G. W. Shroat of Nebraska City, called upon us this morning. Geo assures us that he is not a candidate for U. S. Senator, but is merely upon private business, which we consider rather old fogeyish, in friend Simon's

W. J. Hester, that prince of gardeners, floriculturists, and good fellows generally, the man who never forgets the printers, has just laid upon our table a bunch of rhubarb, which is as plump, bright and good as any we ever saw in May. These wishing such luxuries will do well to bear in mind that Mr. Hester will have plenty for sale in a few days.

The Hon. B. H. Hill, late Confederate States Senator from Georgia, and the Hon. D. Yulee, United States Senator from Florida in 1861, are both out in letters accepting the situation: Mr. Hill taking the judicial ground that "as efforts the most patriotic, fitting, become rebellion, so usurpation the most glorious, succeeding becomes law;" and Mr. Yulee putting it theologically that it is "for the advancement of the Kingdom of God among us" to bow to the new light.

A little boy nearly blew his head off with powder a few days since in St. Joseph. He had filled a small box with powder, attached and lit a fuse, but as the fuse apparently went out and no explosion he came up and stooped over the box at the moment the explosion took place. He will probably recover.

We clip the following notice of our old friend, Banning, from the Nebraska Chronicle:

James Banning, near Wyoming, a thrifty and well to do farmer and stock grower, was thrown from his horse, and falling upon a log, sustained considerable injury. He is however about again, and preparing to load a few cars with Nebraska beef cattle for the Chicago market.

The Nebraska City Chronicle says a protracted meeting has been in progress for some time at Wyoming, in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, under the pastorate of Rev. Mr. Almold. The foundation for a parsonage was laid recently and a church building is contemplated in the spring.

The Missouri Republican of yesterday says the continuance of the frost has so strengthened the ice on the river that yesterday some heavy transfer wagons loaded with freight crossed in perfect safety. To-day probably the ice-bridge will be crowded with teams. The number of pedestrians and skaters on the ice was very large yesterday, and the scene was full of interest and animation.

Mr. Robert Eadie, correspondent of the London News called on us this morning. Mr. Eadie is traveling through the west for the purpose of writing up our many advantages for the benefit of the foreign emigrants coming to this country. Mr. Eadie has visited California, Utah, and other western points, and is now on his way to Lincoln and the interior of Nebraska, and from our slight acquaintance with the gentlemen we take him to be a shrewd observer, and one who will not fail to see the many advantages of our young and thriving State, and the first object of the Legislature.

The Lincoln Journal of yesterday says duplication of bills is the order of the day. The Senate and the House are vying with each other in repeals of the registry law, amendments of the law on corporations, herd law, &c. Wouldn't it be better to be content with one bill of a kind? Business, not immorality, is the first object of the Legislature.

There is war in the Democratic camp. The Nebraska City News and Brownville Democrat are pouring hot shot into the organ of the party at Omaha, and accuse it of selling out the best interests of the party, and the Omaha HERALD strikes back in a telling manner. Republicans should not be slow to take advantage of this internal warfare of the Democracy, and present a solid front to the enemy.

The Lincoln Statesman is engaged just now in chastening the Omaha HERALD for its "tum-fooley" in trying to keep up the Democratic party. It seems to Dr. and you had as well let it slide gracefully as any other way. The Republicans are the party of progress, and the remnant of a once powerful Democracy, should stand aside.

Col. Sanford lectured again last evening to a well filled house, and we never heard a man talk who could carry his audience along with him equal to Col. Sanford, through the cities of Rome and Jerusalem; through the church of St. Peter's, the Vatican and its historic treasures, through the masonry and flesh of the lower classes, through the Mosque of Omar, to the Tomb of Christ, over the Pyramids to hold converse with the majestic and ancient Sphinx, down into the bowels of the earth to wander among the streets and business houses of the city of Pompeii where you see everything just as it was on that terrible night of death eighteen hundred years ago when the city was buried beneath the ashes which rained down from heaven. We are safe in saying that Col. Sanford stands to day without a peer in the world as a lecturer on foreign travels.

An enterprising individual by the name of Roberts, after surrounding a quantity of barrels yesterday, concluded to go into the wholesale boot business. His first attempt was at O'Brien's, where he took up a booth but did not succeed in getting away with them. He next tried the firm of Schlesinger & Loeffel, where he was more fortunate, and took a pair of boots which he sold to some one in the Exchange Saloon for $1.50, and went back for another pair, when Williams interfered with his little speculation. We understand that Roberts has concluded to head with Johnson until he can ascertain what the District Court thinks of his style of business.

We see by the Register that a religious meeting was held in Pawnee City last week, at which resolutions were adopted, recommending that Pawnee Co. give $10,000 in ten percent bonds to the Schools, Pawnee and Lincoln road, Col. W. R. Shlosson, Colins and Brady, of Salina, Kent, and others the services of the St. Joseph and Denver City railroad, were present.

Bodies will be interred at the Court House Hall, by Rev. G. B. Mullis, of the Christian Church, at 11 a.m., and 7 p.m. of next Sabbath.
