ADJOURNMENT TO MAY 30TH.
The Court of Impeachment has adjourned for sixty days, at the expiration of which time it seems that both sides will be allowed to introduce new testimony, thus virtually opening up the trial anew. What the particular occasion is for this somewhat unusual course we are in the dark, but will probably know soon, when our readers shall be informed.

THE VOTE.
The vote in the Senate last Monday for an adjournment of the Impeachment Court until May 30th is generally looked upon as a test of the convictions of the members on the merits of the case. There were at least two or three of those voting for the adjournment who were afraid to take the responsibility of voting an acquittal, notwithstanding they were convinced that the evidence did not justify a conviction, in consequence of the excited state of public feeling in the localities where they reside.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.
Politics are somewhat muddled in our hold, but the Republicans have decided to hold a convention, and will probably nominate a straight party ticket—or at least so much of a ticket as is deemed expedient under existing local affairs. It is hoped that every Republican in the city will attend the Ward meetings Thursday evening, and that they will take such action, as Republicans, as they may deem for the best interests of the party and the City. We have, from the West, believed in the plan of nominating party tickets, because we have believed that in that way we could secure a better administration of affairs than in any other. It may be said that parties will not always nominate their best men.—We agree with that statement; but will two parties, both of whom would select had men, if thrown together secure the nomination of good men. We fail to see the force of the reasoning. We agree fully with those men who say that the present administration of our city affairs should be changed, but we also believe that the democratic party is responsible for the present condition of our city finances, and that they should be held accountable as a party for the acts of the present city officers, for they were elected as democrats, by democratic votes, and a square party issue.—Republicans voting against them. Let the forth-coming Republican Convention—which bids fair to be attended by nearly every Republican in the city—see to it, should they see fit to nominate a ticket, that they place the very best men before the people, and that nothing be done to prevent the accomplishment of the real object sought by those Republicans who have held the reins of the government of the city—that of ousting from power those men who are now at the head of our city affairs, placed there by the democratic party. Let harmony prevail in our councils, and all will be well.

MILLER'S EVIDENCE.
Dr. Miller is ashamed of his "evidence" when he sees it in print, and he tries to deny it (like Peter of old) He finds the pretext for a denial in the fact that a single subject, upon which he made a stump speech before the committee, we condensed the matter into a reasonable space, and made the single error of saying that he was called out of bed instead of out of his office. Here is the paragraph as we gave it:
"I was, during the fall campaign, called out of bed by a prominent Republican, who asked me to let my name be put on the charges against the Governor. He also asked that Governor Butler have a private interview with me; this I refused."
I believe from the course taken by the Statesman at Lincoln, for Butler, he has control over it, but have no personal knowledge of it."
And here is the paragraph in full as it appears on the official evidence, and we ask Dr. Miller to show us the difference in point of fact:
"Prior to the late election for Governor, at a late hour of the night I was called out of my editorial room, at Omaha, by a prominent Republican citizen of that city, who asked me to let my name be put on the charges against the Governor. He also asked that Governor Butler have a private interview with me; this I refused."
I believe from the course taken by the Statesman at Lincoln, for Butler, he has control over it, but have no personal knowledge of it."

THE EXHIBITION.
The exhibition was of the pupils' own getting up. Remember this. All who had the pleasure of seeing it must say that for young beginners it was well done. I cannot condense like unto him that Hathaway of his own, but I can ever try to be Your special Scribber.

PLATTSMOUTH, March 29th, 1871.
Pursuant to adjournment, citizens' convention met at 2 o'clock p. m., Dr. John Black in the chair and F. P. Todd, as secretary.

THE LADY OF LYONS
Was well rendered last night by the Platts-mouth Dramatic Company, before a full house. The fact that this company always draws a full house is the best evidence that they are appreciated.

LINCOLN, March 24.
EDITOR HERALD:—The last witness in the trial of Governor Butler was examined yesterday, and the Senate sitting as a court adjourned at an early hour for the convenience of the managers, that they might have time to prepare for the closing arguments commencing this morning. The prosecution called J. S. Davis, ex-Secretary of the Nebraska Air Line R. R., to the witness stand yesterday morning, he was examined in relation to the consolidation of that road with the Sioux City and Pacific R. R., and in regard to the issuing of the stock of the company, they failed to elicit anything that would have a tendency to implicate the Governor in any dishonorable transactions connected therewith.

The Managers again had ex-State Treasurer Street, and Mr. Bartlett his deputy, before the Senate as witnesses for the purpose of rebutting the testimony of McConnell the ex-partner of Jas. Sweet & Brook, relative to that 5 per cent school fund loan. The bill providing for the calling of a Constitutional Convention, has at last passed both houses, and has received the signature of the Acting Governor and has become a law. The bill provides for the election of fifty delegates, in the same manner as members of the Senate and House of Representatives are elected. The delegates to be elected on the first Tuesday in May, and the Convention to convene at Lincoln on the second Tuesday in May next.

The closing arguments in the Governor case will begin this morning. The Senate has decided to give each side three hours to wind up the case. In all probability I will be able to send you the verdict in my next. The House is in session whenever twenty members can be caught here.

PEOPLE'S CONVENTION, NO. 2.
The People met, according to previous call, at the Court House on Saturday evening, Dr. Wm. Winterstein in the Chair, and J. M. Hinchman acting as Secretary. The following are the nominations of the Convention:
For Mayor, John D. Simpson; Police Judge, P. P. Gass; Marshal, Michael J. Eagan; for School Director, Wm. E. Donelan.

PROFESSOR CALEMAN'S SCHOOL.
The second examination and exhibition of the above school were held and given in White & Spire's Hall on Monday last.
The examination commenced at 2 and continued till 5 o'clock p. m. It would have taken nearly a week to have examined all the classes in all the subjects in which they were prepared. The time, however, was only sufficient for the examination of the classes in Geography, Translation, geography, arithmetic, and German, and in those only a few classes. The "answering" was satisfactory to the examiners, who expressed themselves as well pleased with the progress of the pupils.

THE EXAMINERS.
The examiners were as follows: Supt. Patterson, Mr. Waugh, A. M. P. Coll, Mr. Chase, Rev. Mr. Cameron, Dr. Rawlins, and the Rev. Mr. Young.
The audience at the examination was small but very select and appreciative. Of the goodly number of ladies that were there several were to your correspondent unknown. But he was pleased to see Mrs. Livingston, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Dr. Rawlins, Mrs. Altifer, Mrs. Duke and Mrs. Pollock. Several male teachers from the country were present. The Exhibition. At 7:30 p. m. the Hall was crowded—the people having taken it as by storm.
At 8:30 the curtain arose and revealed a pretty sight. In front of the platform was seen presiding at the harmonium the fair and talented young organist, Miss Carrie Schlater, and surrounding her 6 young and beautiful girls, a cluster of seven stars, who not only shone brightly but also sang sweetly several vocal melodies, both in English and German.

A GOOD MOVE.
About two months ago the young men of our city effected the organization of a Lyceum, and since that time it has been gradually increasing in numbers and interest, till now it is an honor to our city. Its terms are of the most liberal kind—not costing anything to become a member of it, excepting now and then a very light expense for light, fuel, etc. Its books are always open to receive the names of those who may wish to become members and take an interest in its proceedings. Drones are not wanted—none but those who will work for its welfare and for self-improvement. Its organization is the same as that of other well organized societies of a similar character, and the questions for discussion are always opened by two chief disputants, followed by all the members in regular turn. Much interest is manifested in those discussions, and quite an amount of talent and genius displayed by all the participants. Its sessions are now being held at the School House of the Second ward, every Thursday evening; and the society hopes to see a good attendance of ladies and gentlemen at their next meeting and ever after. Ladies are especially invited. We understand that the Lyceum will be under the management of the citizens of Platts-mouth and the State would fully patronize and encourage him.

Its terms are of the most liberal kind—not costing anything to become a member of it, excepting now and then a very light expense for light, fuel, etc. Its books are always open to receive the names of those who may wish to become members and take an interest in its proceedings. Drones are not wanted—none but those who will work for its welfare and for self-improvement. Its organization is the same as that of other well organized societies of a similar character, and the questions for discussion are always opened by two chief disputants, followed by all the members in regular turn. Much interest is manifested in those discussions, and quite an amount of talent and genius displayed by all the participants. Its sessions are now being held at the School House of the Second ward, every Thursday evening; and the society hopes to see a good attendance of ladies and gentlemen at their next meeting and ever after. Ladies are especially invited. We understand that the Lyceum will be under the management of the citizens of Platts-mouth and the State would fully patronize and encourage him.
