

DARE THEY. Dare any newspaper in the State, that approved of acting Gov. James' attempt to prorogue the House of Representatives, say that his attempt was valid and legal? If they are afraid to attempt a vindication of the legality of the action, how do they expect to endorse the act itself and at the same time be treated as honest and truthful journals, entitled to the respect and confidence of the people. We venture the prediction that there is not a paper in this State foolishly enough to come out and say that the message of Mr. James was a legal and valid adjournment of the House of Representatives. Whenever a paper can be found to do this we will engage to show to the mind of every intelligent man that its position is fallacious, and is taken either through ignorance or desire to deceive. Where is the paper that dare attempt it.

"DRAWING IN" CATCH AT STRAWS.

The people of Nebraska City call a public meeting for the purpose of doing something to help business in that place, and that very truthful (?) and reliable (?) journal, the Omaha Herald, comes out in a double-headed leader "Inauguration of the People's Movement in Nebraska City," and proceeds to treat it as a grand uprising of the people to overthrow existing political parties. The evident intention is to deceive people in other portions of the State, and induce them to organize a "people's movement" on the strength of the assumed action in Otoe. That is rather "thin." Dr. The people are not entirely devoid of sense and reason.

TRIAL MILITIA.

The Chronicle of the 24th contains the following: "Judge Mason, Collector Lamaster, the members from this county, and a number of other citizens went to Lincoln yesterday. We still believe that the men of this county are not to be taken in by the militia of the State." The idea is sought to be promulgated in the above that "Judge Mason, Collector Lamaster, the members from Otoe county, and a number of other citizens went to Lincoln" to assist in quelling a high-handed riot and bold and defiant robbery being consummated by the members of the Legislature. Now, what are the facts. Mr. A. J. Cropsy, whom the Journal offers to convict by "sworn evidence" of numerous attempts to bribe State officers, and whom the Omaha Herald denominated as one of the "school fund robbers," went to Nebraska City to get Chief Justice Mason to go to Lincoln for the purpose of establishing the legality of the Senate adjournment and the wonderful message of his acting secretary wherein he attempted to prorogue the House. The further fact is that Chief Justice Mason did not go to Lincoln with Mr. Cropsy, simply to look at the legal status of the so-called adjournment and attempted prorogation, but that after fully examining the whole case he unhesitatingly declared the Senate adjournment null and void, and the so-called proroguing message as lacking all the essentials of legality, and that the members remaining constituted a legal Legislature, with full and complete powers as a legislative body.

THE "TINIBEL" BUSINESS.

The Omaha committee to look after the transfer question has returned from Boston, and it is said they brought a "loud tinibel" with them, and it is predicted that the people of Council Bluffs may get to hear the sound thereof, even if they do not admire the music. We rejoice with the people of Omaha in the solution of this troublesome question. While it insures a brilliant future for Omaha, it is also a triumph for the whole State, inasmuch as that which enriches Omaha, or any other part of the State, adds to the aggregate wealth of the State. The transfer question has been one of great moment to the two cities directly interested, and each have put forth their entire efforts to secure the benefits arising therefrom. It always appeared to us that Council Bluffs had the advantage in the strife, but that is only a delusion. The history of the victory for Omaha, if it appears, they have at last secured a permanent settlement of the question on a basis of lasting benefit to Omaha, and our entire State. Let the noise of the "tinibel" be heard over the entire State.

THE OMAHA HERALD'S "BEGGED IN."

The Omaha Herald says it "begged in vain to have party organizations main-tained in the Legislature after the election of David Butler to the Governorship." Was the Herald right then, or is it right now, when it advocates the disbanding of all parties except the one of which Dr. Miller aspires to be the champion and leader. We believed that the time above alluded to had passed, and we still believe it. If it is right now, it is evidently wrong now. It would seem that there is a vein of vindictiveness somewhere in the Herald's management, and that it now desires to be spoiled boy to break up all party organizations, even including its "never changing Democracy" because the Democrats of the State refused to follow its dictation a year ago. Either this or the Herald is indelicate in its declarations, and only desires to play another Philadelphia Convention, in order to break up the Republican party and throw the rebellious Democracy into power by the "swallowing" process of which it spoke only a short time since.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

Woman's rights were fairly exemplified at South Bond. In a few years ago a woman who had never heard of Victoria Woodhull or Lucy Stone, killed three boys, hung them up and dressed them in cotton, and help whatever for any kind of creation.

DAVENTPORT, IT IS SAID, SPENT ENOUGH LAST YEAR FOR BEER ALONE TO HAVE BUILT TWO SCHOOLS.

It is said that a single bank in London had lost $35,000 in one year by the abrasion of the gold coins, a practical philosopher visited the Bank of England in order to examine into the matter. This gentleman reports that the whole reason of a counter, upon which the sun happen d to be shining, displayed myriads of particles of gold, which had evidently been struck off by the sharp edges of the steel shovels used to remove portions of the heap of sovereigns. It is also asserted that the milled edges of the sovereigns must assist in the natural raspings of the coin.

OIL, WHEAT HONESTY.

Everybody has heard of the fellow who joined the crowd and shouted "stop thief," at the top of his voice. Well, there are several persons in our State who have been crying "stop thief" for the past year or more, and all that is required to bring them to light in their true character is a little time. "The mills of the gods grind slowly, but exceeding small," and they have already commenced the grinding process on some of the "stop thief" fellows of Nebraska. Representative Galey publishes a card over his own signature in which he accuses, and offers to prove, that the senior editor of the Statesman proposed to him to support the Salt Land Bill, about which so much has been said, if Mr. Galey would support a resolution whereby the Statesman office could secure the incidental printing of the session. A little more time will bring others of these loudly screechers to the surface in the same unenviable light.

"EXTRA EXECUTIVE."

Our very noted acting Governor, whom Mr. Thomas eulogizes as having performed "his official duties in a straightforward and upright manner," and as "fully meeting the expectation of the people" has seen fit to override the will of the Courts and the jury by pardoning Dr. Stoddard, the notorious abolitionist of Omaha, before he had hardly had a taste of prison life. And what is worst of all, we learn from a reliable source that the pardon has been in operation for the past two weeks, although the 27th was the date set for hearing and considering the application for pardon. We hope for the credit of the State this is not so, but we have it from a source which we cannot doubt if this action is not "extra Executive" we are at a loss to know what to term it. It is claimed by some that Stoddard was not an aggravated case, but it was sufficiently aggravated that eleven of the twelve jurors before whom it was tried were in favor of a three years sentence, while a single man stuck for one year, which was finally agreed upon.

THE KIND OF WIFE TO CHOOSE.

After looking out for a wife, a man must consider how she will show at the party. It is not the kind of woman you can learn so much of literary and aesthetic tastes, the favorite books that are always in hand, the music that is regularly studied and sung, the kind of associations she keeps, the kind of friends she has, but it is by far the best way of getting up a flirtation, which is not unpleasantly done under parental eyes, when such eyes are in the house, and the parents make it an unbecomingly pleasant employment for the winter nights. You may talk of the perils of young men who come up to town, but the perils of young women who follow the associations of home and sweet home, parents make an immense mistake in taking too severely to a young man who is a young fellow under ever so dim a cloud, with wit and purpose and ability, could not work out his way into the sunlight. Better even the home of a young man, with a marriage, than many other suppositions that might be put.—London Society.

ANECDOTE OF GOETHE.

Goethe was, for a time, manager of an amateur theatrical at Weimar. Once, when the rehearsal was going on, a gentleman who was to act the lover was suddenly taken ill. A Saxon captain good-naturedly undertook to play the part, although he confessed he had not prepared for such a part. He went through the rehearsal very decently, and there was little doubt but that, with the help of a good prompter, all would go off as well as possible. The captain only appeared before the audience he seemed to lose all memory; he continued to look on till the jealous husband was to rush in and stab him. At this unhappy moment he forgot his part, and continued to look on, using for several minutes while the furious husband was standing between the side scenes with uplifted dagger, ready to strike. The captain was about to give up his part, when the husband and all, when, on the advice of Goethe, the husband rushed in and with one desperate lunge thought to silence him. Not so, he cried, rather than let my wife be murdered, no purpose that his adversary treated him, in a low voice, to fall and die. "I have not got the catchword, and the valuable reply." At last, Goethe, quite out of patience, said to the husband: "Stab him in the back if he will not fall—we must get rid of him at all events." Upon this the husband, who had lost all patience of mind, cried with a voice of thunder: "Die villain!" and gave him at the same time such a blow in the side that the captain, unprepared for this attack in the back, actually fell down from the stage, upon which Goethe, fearing his resurrection, instantly sent in stout servants with order to carry the off, dead or alive, by main force.

TELEGRAPHIC CHICAGO.

Chicago, January 29. There is much excitement here over a rumor that St. Louis is burning up. Stories are current in the streets rivaling in imaginative horror the Chicago conflagration. The only foundation for the report seems to be the fact that a large building and one or two other houses burned there last night, an account of which was sent in these dispatches.—There has been no fire at all in St. Louis to day.

NEW YORK.

New York, January 29. Stokes was arraigned to plead in the Court of Oyer and Terminer this morning. His lawyer, John Graham, said he intended to move to quash the indictment, and the grand jury had given their verdict, and the coroner had kept back the fact as to whether the deceased was armed, and otherwise to exercise authority contrary to the State in its anxiety to obtain a unanimous verdict. The papers were clandestinely transferred to the grand jury, the coroner, too, violating his previous promise, placed upon the jury a lawyer named Kovel. His lawyer, John Graham, was prejudiced. Graham studied to the part taken by ex-Judge Fullerton in obtaining the indictment against Stokes, his counsel, and then, Stokes refusing to pay him an erroneous counsel fee of five thousand dollars, sued him, subsequently using his knowledge, his former counsel to secure an indictment against Stokes. The foregoing were brought before the court by Graham in shape of affidavits.
