Tipston, Saturday, Oct. 5, 7 1/2 P. M. Speakers will be in a tent.

Speakers will be designated for the last named places, during the week.

The names of Local Speakers are requested to be sent to the Chairman of the Committee, as it is impossible in so short a time to ascertain who will speak at these places, and it is intended and expected that local speakers, in each precinct, will do their part in addition to those already designated, or in case of the failure of any speaker as announced.

Jno. A. MacMURPHY, Ch'n.

Dr. Brooke, of the Campaign Democrat, is authority for the report that J. Sterling Morton goes back on the Greeley movement.

[From the Nebraska City News.] Our Witnesses.

Gen. John M. Thayer and Samuel R. Brown, both Republicans, and citizens of high character and standing in Omaha, are two of our witnesses to the unimpeachable truth of the charge of bribery against Col. Robt. W. Furnas. We challenge those gentlemen to deny the fact. It cost each of them three hundred dollars in gold to ascertain it.—Omaha Herald.

So it goes! We have seen it in the Statesman, the Watchman, the Democrat, and now the News copies it.—"Our witnesses."

What we like to see, or hear of the time and the place when either John M. Thayer or Sam. R. Brown said or offered to swear that Col. Furnas received that money. When they do we'll drop Col. Furnas and not before. Bring on "our" witnesses.

Our Webster Co., Letter.

WEBSTER COUNTY, NEB. September 21st, 1872.

EDITOR HERALD:—In our last we said we would write more the next time, we fear we shall have to "go back" on our word. In fact there is nothing new to write about, everything is moving as it has been for the last year; the same thing of emigrant wagons rolling in from the east, which to the unsophisticated would make it appear that some of the eastern states were being entirely depopulated. Let me come, there is room for all good honest men that may choose to seek for the "land of peaceful rest" on "thy own fair bosom" dearest—Nebraska.

One could hardly imagine the change that has taken place in the Republican Valley in the last two years, this country was then overrun by immense herds of Buffalo, bands of painted savages rode fearlessly over the land carrying terror to the hearts of any hardy adventurer that had the boldness to push out beyond civilization and pitch his tent in the wilderness. Armed soldiers scoured the forest their "nocturnal vigils kept."

The scene has changed! the buffalo has vanished, the red man no longer holds dominion over the "beasts of the field and the fowls of the air." The "dogs of war" have been withdrawn, or sent still further toward the setting sun. Civilization now holds sway; on every hand is heard the peaceful and busy hum of (half) civilized life, the children of the white man play upon the greensward where such a short time ago the children of the red man played, the white man's cattle roam over the prairie or stand in the shade of the wide spreading elm which has served as a trying place for many an Indian lover and his dusky mate.

These things have been the scene of some of the most fiendish atrocities and damning outrages that ever blackened the annals of Indian warfare.

If we were not religiously inclined we certainly would have to give vent to some rather strong "swear words" toward the way our mail is handled; we would like to employ some person skilled in the use of all the "tricks" contained in the vocabulary to "tease" the Postmasters the mails in general, and everything connected therewith to our hearts content.

The Herald comes to us liberally, to quote a not very classical expression, used up. Why is this thus? They may say that it is a good paper and consequently they like to read it, we admit the fact, but does this justify them in appropriating our mails? Why don't they subscribe for the Herald as we did, pay for it in advance (we failed to do this however but that is no business of theirs), and enjoy the luxury of having a good live paper of their own, one that keeps up in the times and spirit of the age, in short a tip top paper, and leave off the pernicious habit of infringing on other people's rights and they will be wiser as well as better men.

Yours Truly, M. L. T.

Charles John, the late King of Sweden, was a grandson of Bernadotte, and a great grandson of the Empress Josephine. His mother was a daughter of Eugene Beauharnais, son of the Empress.

The Rev. Mr. Foster, Greeley Elector and Referee in general, left Chicago, Ill., Mass., between two daylight, sometime about Aug. 20th or 21st, 1867. He needs reforming, sadly, unless he has changed, or something like a change.

OUR CANDIDATES.

Evander W. Barnum—Candidate for Senator.

Mr. Barnum is one of our oldest and most reliable citizens. The memory of him is not only fresh in the minds of the very few who were in Nebraska, but very few of the time when E. W. Barnum was not a resident of Cass County. He served one term in our Territorial Legislature of '61 and '62, and is known to nearly all the "old folks," as a No. 1, sound, and capable man. We feel proud of Mr. Barnum's nomination. It shows that the hearts of the people are still right; that in spite of all the cry about corruption, the back bone of this State, the Farmers of the land, have shown that they mean none but pure, incorruptible men shall have their suffrages for any responsible position. Our candidate for Senator is one of the largest farmers in the county, and lives near Factoryville, on the Weeping Water.

JOHN BROWN, Representative. Lives in Greenwood, and is at present a grain dealer, at the station there. He is a young man of great promise. He has always been known as a staunch, hard working Republican. He is not an office seeker, nor a politician in any sense of the word. His honor and integrity have never been questioned, and if elected our interests and those of the State at large will be safe in his hands. It is a just and fitting reward that our young man tried and true should receive such gifts from the hands of the people, their neighbors; and may this John Brown live long and well, to enjoy the honors that are soon to fall to him, next October.

JOHN W. BARNES, Representative. Has lived in this county for sixteen years. He is well known to all our citizens, and is at present engaged in the Real Estate business, at Plattsmouth. Mr. Barnes, by unflinching devotion to the Republican party, and by the strict integrity of his life has well merited this distinction from his friends and the party. His success is certain, for his merits are known and appreciated.

TIMOTHY CLARK, Commissioner. Lives in Weeping Water precinct.—He came here three years ago from Illinois, is a farmer, a man of means, and a good financier, as shown by his own success in life. Just such a man as the county needs in the responsible position of County Commissioner. He will fill the bill, from all accounts, and make us a model commissioner.

The editor of this paper would say that the short sketches of your candidates are not written in fulsome praise or newly-minted admiration for his pet friends, as too many such biographies are written, nor yet for the purpose of misleading men politically; but solely and simply because no man can be individually known to every voter in the county, and yet every voter wants to know something about the party his vote helps to place in a position of power and trust.

By careful inquiry we have ascertained the character and requirements of these men, as given by their public records in their neighborhoods, and believing them to be true, straightforward men, and sound Republicans, we tender them our hearty support and encouragement, and we hope every true blue in the country will do the same.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM "OBSERVER."

A Catholic's Opinion of Greeley.

The attempt made by Mr. Davis yesterday evening, in a sort of jocular manner to smooth over the bitter feeling that exists among Democrats toward H. Greeley, was ridiculous. To me, an Irishman, they were disgusting, when I recollect that that Greeley has said and done that during the memorable draft riots of '63, in New York city he advocated the hanging of three Irishmen for every Negro that was hung. Nor can I forget his malignant attack, a short time after, on the venerable Archbishop Hughes, and the Catholic Clergy of New York, accusing them of having instigated the riots and advising the government to hold the venerable Prelate as a hostage for the good behavior of the "brutal Irish," as he then termed them! Neither can I forget a few years later, the bitter abuse he heaped on the Irish people during the "Fenian" troubles, when he advised the British Government to hang the last one of them, and did every thing in his power to have the Fenian General O'Neil sent to the Penitentiary. Nor can I forget what he said about the Irish in his paper after the Orange riot in New York City in 1871.

He then wrote a long editorial denouncing the Irish Catholics in the most bitter terms, and said that the American people ought to arise in their might and drive the miscreants from the land, as he would he used in his paper.

Horace Greeley's history has been one great effort to oppose the progress of the Irish race on this continent.

No, Sir, I cannot forget these, and a thousand other things, that he has said and done against me and my countrymen. I cannot forget, no, never.

Warning to Homesteaders.

We are informed, by good authority, that there are some land sharks going around, out West, getting some of the homesteaders to join in a certain contract to lay out a town on their land. As soon as they do so, they violate the law of the homestead act, and that their land is liable to be jumped at any minute. Those very men who are having these towns started will have their friends jump the land, and the homesteaders will lose their claims. We are informed that there is a town called Bloomington, in Franklin county, laid out on the plan above mentioned. We advise those Homesteaders who have been induced to enter into such a bargain to withdraw at once.

HOMESTEADERS.

We do not mean this story as a joke, but in sober earnest, friends, and you who are in good faith, urging temperance, &c., may fully understand wherein your sentiments fall.

A City of Women.

(Western World.)

Mrs. Lenox, late a governess at the court of Siam, relates that the central part of the capital city of Bangkok, in Siam, is devoted exclusively to the residence of some 9,000 women, among whom no man but the King may enter. The inhabitants of this inner city are the 10,000 women of the royal harem, and some 8,000 more, who are soldiers, artificers and slaves. This little world is ruled by women as magistrates, who administer the laws of the kingdom. There is no appeal from their decisions. Prisoners are arrested by the sheriffs of their own sex. If a disturbance arises, it is suppressed by a force of Amazons, trained from infancy to the use of the sword and spear. Meanwhile, the slave women carry on a variety of manufactures, or go outside the wall to till the fields. The women of high birth are "seated" to the king; the slave women may marry, but husbands dwell outside the walls. The children, if boys, are banished from the city of women at six years of age; only the girls remain. All the Oriental distinctions of rank are scrupulously observed within this strange realm, except that the magistrates are chosen for personal character and wisdom.

We saw Dave Fitzgerald, over at La Platte this morning, looking as fine as a fiddle, and the bridge is progressing at double quick rates, that is, there is a "dummy" at both ends and good workers in the middle.

Soon that lumber wagon and flat boat business between here and Omaha will be en hoc spiel.

GREELEY'S SPEECH AT PITTSBURG.

Greeley has made another speech and it is boiling over with rank secession sentiments. He reiterates his old formula that if the South want to go, they ought to go, and declares that of two evils, a war, or a vote by which the south would be allowed to secede, he would choose a vote and let the wayward sisters depart in peace. Whether this compares with the best statesmanship and the broadest views of the land at the present day we leave our readers to judge.

As an evidence of what we may expect, should Greeley be elected, it bears out the wildest charges that have been made in regard to the speaker's unreliability and treachery, which some people are foolish enough to call eccentricity.

THE NOMINATION OF A FLOAT REPRESENTATIVE.

At a meeting of the delegates of Douglas, Washington, Dodge Sarpy and Cass counties to nominate a candidate for Representative for the float district, composed of the above mentioned counties, Mr. Elam Clark was made temporary chairman and C. Wilse temporary secretary.

A committee on credentials, consisting of J. M. Thurston, L. W. Osborn, and J. A. MacMURPHY, was appointed.

On the eighth ballot, Mr. Bruno Tyschuck, of Sarpy, was nominated.

(We held on to Mr. Smith as long as there was a show for Cass county to get a man.—Ed.)

A CENTRAL COMMITTEE

for the float district, composed of one member for each county, and that Mr. Elam Clark, of Washington county, be the chairman of said committee, with the power to fix the appointments. The following are the committee:

For Douglas, Martin and Dunham; Dodge, L. S. Moe; Cass, S. M. Chapman; Washington, Elam Clark, (chairman); Sarpy, E. B. Kennedy.

Convention adjourned.

CRASH!

The underground Telegraph says that some Liberal speakers were holding forth from the steps of a "Meeting House" out west here, one rainy night last week, when a party of emigrants passed by hunting for a camping place. "Whoa back, back," shouted the leader, "Here's a crazy man Jim, lets stop and hear him, as the weary cattle came to a stand still by the solitary camp-fire of the "last of the Mohicans" spouting away.

One more unfortunate. Cold he wanted the table, "before" he then vanished. And died with a smile.

"THE INDEPENDENT."

In the name of the new Temperance paper published at Lincoln, the first copy of which we received yesterday.

Our temperance friends are up and doing. They give a long list of what the Press say about them—some bad things and some good ones. Now all the HERALD says is "Go in and win, if you can," and to help you along will tell you a little story:

Once upon a time some very good people came to us and wanted to turn our paper into a "Temperance paper." Being naturally of a temperate and obliging disposition, we told 'em "we would think it over," and we did. Not being able to come to a satisfactory conclusion ourselves, and thinking maybe two heads were better than one (if one was a cabbage head, &c.), we went in and consulted our foreman, a strictly temperance man who couldn't bear the sight of whiskey. He stopped the creaking of his type in the stick, pulled his long beard sagely, wiped some dead dust off on his nose, and thusly spoke:—"Wall, yes, I'm a temperance man, and I hate whisky, and all bitches, and egg-nog, whisky skin, and all bits; but if I had to git a living out of this paper, and it was a choice between the saloon keepers and the temperance men to support me, I'd take the saloon keepers every time. You can get five dollars out of them for every fifty cents you can out of a temperance man or a preacher. You can do as you like, boss."

We do not mean this story as a joke, but in sober earnest, friends, and you who are in good faith, urging temperance, &c., may fully understand wherein your sentiments fall.

Market Reports.

New York, Oct. 21. It is reported that Charles O'Connor has written a letter to a member of the straight Democratic Committee accepting the nomination of the Louisville convention.

San Diego dispatch reports a fight between Gen. Crook and the Indians at Dale Creek reservation. The Apache chiefs determined to go on the war path. Crook with a guard attempted their arrest. Four or five hundred Indians fired on the guard, killing one soldier. The fire was returned by a regiment of cavalry, killing thirty Indians. The remainder fled to the mountains, pursued by two cavalry companies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21. The public seems to have overlooked provision in the new postage law, adopted at the last session of Congress and now in force, providing that packages of dry goods, hardware and other merchandise, weighing twelve ounces or less, may be mailed to any part of the United States at a uniform rate of two cents for each two ounces. Thus a package weighing twelve ounces may be sent by mail to any part of the Union for twelve cents. In England this feature is called the Parcel Post system, and the English people avail themselves of it to an immense extent. When generally understood among our people it will probably become very popular and may cut largely into the business of the express companies. If a man can send a twelve ounce package from Indianapolis to New York or San Francisco by mail for twelve cents, he will not be likely to pay the express company four or five times that amount. But if the government can afford to carry it for twelve cents, the express company can do the same, and the result may simply be that on small packages the express company will reduce their charges to government rates. d&w-3c

MILWAUKEE, September 23. The heaviest rain storm ever known in this vicinity commenced last night, and continued until today.

SALT LAKE, September 23. W. B. Opeden and the directors of the Northern Pacific Railroad, arrived here last night, and left to-day for Piguet Sound, via Sacramento, to determine the Pacific terminus of the road.

PARIS, Sept. 24. Minister Washburne and Admiral Older died with Thiers to-day.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 24.—The Soldier's monument was dedicated to-day. The address was delivered by George William Curtis. Twenty thousand were present, including Governor Washburne and Lieutenant Governor Tucker, who made speeches at the dinner table.

Chicago, Sept. 24. Gen. Ben. Butler addressed an immense Republican meeting here to-night.

A terrible storm of wind and rain prevailed to-day over a portion of the north west, and much damage is feared to property.

A GOOD MOVE.

We notice that some of our enterprising merchants are making preparation to go out to Franklin, Franklin County, the first part of next month, to make some arrangements to put up several store houses and a hotel.

Mr. C. W. Lyman is going to start a lumber yard, and furnish the company with such material as they need.

The Franklin Town Company is made up of good, reliable business men, who intend to make a large town out of Franklin, which will be a benefit to every farmer in the county. The Company would kindly ask every voter in the county to cast his vote next October for Franklin, as the county seat. The officers of the Company will give a written guarantee to the County Commissioners for all necessary grounds which are required to be used for county purposes.

Part of the town site is already entered out, and the rest of it will be before the election; therefore, there will be no doubt as to getting a good title to the land which will be donated from the Company to the county.

FRANKLIN TOWN COMPANY.

Well-Informed Ladies.

How much more intelligent and fascinating the majority of young ladies would be, were they to give a little more attention to newspaper reading. We do not mean the flash newspapers of the day which are filled with matter which it does no man but the King may enter. But to newspapers—those which make us all familiar with the present character and improvements of the age. It is well enough to know something of the world's history, but it is with the present we have to do, and the more of more engaging truth in a lady's character than an intelligent acquaintance with passing events. Every young lady should have an opinion on the moral, mental, political and religious subjects of the times, and the best and only way to have this is to read good newspapers diligently, and think about their contents.
