A Road to be Built Sure. All About the Company.

The Trustees Duties.

The Weeping Water Branch

Under all the circumstances we are very glad we did not treat this subject last week, as we should have been led into some errors, had we done so. Having conversed with a number of the citizens of Cass since then, we begin to understand where the shoe pinches-

It would seem that nearly all our peo ple want a railroad, and nearly all would vote bonds for some kind of a road to run somewhere, only each man's somewhere is in a different spot, and some folks' somewhere is nowhere, "as they knows on," that is, they cannot very to the contrary, and again state that we well define just what they do want, and fail to see how Plattsmouth is to be ; ar- liberal support - [ED. whether they shall take sugar in it or go | ticularly benefitted by such road at the

All this has been done in this case, and your county attorney, Mr. Maxwell, as well as several other legal gentlemen, have examined the proposition and pronounced it a fair one. Now if there is any great swindle in it certainly it is not to the credit of the intelligence and 50 ability of the lawyers of Cass county to suppose that some one of them would not detect the same. In fact it is a good, safe and equitable proposition on both sides, as far as any human judgment can determine, and if any proposition to vote bonds is equitable, then is this one.

THE TRUSTEES.

Here comes a bug-bear. We want a railroad; we are willing to yote bondsays one party, but we are afraid of the 3 50 | trustees-$200,000 is a big sum of money; they may gobble it. Well, they teight (?) but we fail to see how; and in from now till the first of January free, so the this connection a f w words about sellsconer you ome the more you will get for your | ing bonds may not be amiss. All these proceedings, wherein they are voted, before moneyed men will loan or invest a dollar on such securities. Now if all this process must be gone through when the proper persons attempt to negotiate bonds for the rightful purpose, what show would a set of men have to sell those bonds unlawfully. Very slim, indeed, gentlemen, let us assure you.

That proposition explicitly states that these trustees hold those bonds for a certain purpose, and they can only sell them or dispose of them for that purpose and none other, or you, that is the county, would never be obliged to pay them. The published proposition is the legal warning to all persons negotiating these bonds to beware of fraud, and to examine carefully the ownership of the party offering them for sale or security, and you may rest assured that banks and business men scrutinize those things very closely. If you do not believe it try and sell ten or twenty thousand dollars worth of bonds and see how it goes yourself.

To obviate all this, however, the Trustees offer to give security for their safe disposal to the proper use for which they were voted and designed. IT IS A PLATISMOUTH MOVE.

If this is not the case, it can easily be made the case, and all our Weeping Water friends have to do is to go ahead and have a company that is legal on hand when the bonds are voted, and they will be all right.

As to its being built, it is only a question of time, and as a suggestion we take the liberty of quoting a letter from Mr. John Horbach, on that matter, written just after the present proposition was submitted;

Our own opinion is that the Trunk road will be a City paying road from its commencement. and that the same company would find they needed the W. A GOOD CAUSE. The American Sunday School Union, now in the 49th year of its labors, with 52,000 Sunday Schools organized as its record, is still pushing its work vigor ously, for which there is greater need than ever. There are thousands of neighborhoods in the North-West that are destitute of Sunday Schools. Since March 1, 1872 this Society has organized 325 new Schools in this department, and in the last three years over 4,000 in the whole land; and that, too, in neglected places and frontier settlements .-The importance of this pioneer work cannot be over estimated in whatever aspect it is considered.
