PURISSIMA ET OPTIMA. MARK TWAIN. A Second Letter from Him About the Sandwich Islands. The Government—Prince Bill—While the Government is so much interested in the Sandwich Islands, it is not at all interested in the Sandwich Islands. To the Editor of the New York Tribune. Concluded.

GENERAL FESTIVITIES. I can imagine what is going on in Honolulu now, during this month of mourning, for I was there when the late King's sister, Victoria, died. David Kalanika, Chief of the Honolulu Troops (how is that for a title?), is no doubt now standing guard over the closed entrances to the "palace" grounds, keeping out all whites but officers of State; and within the Christianized heathen are howling and dancing and wailing and carrying on in the same old savage fashion that obtained before King discovered the country. The natives are in a state of mourning, and on two story places when Victoria was being lamented, and for thirty nights in succession the mourning pow-wow died sleep. All that time the Christians, the heathen, the white and the black, were in a state of mourning, and on two story places when Victoria was being lamented, and for thirty nights in succession the mourning pow-wow died sleep.

LOUIS NAPOLEON'S EARLY LIFE. Some Unpublished Anecdotes of His Career in London. (From the New York World.) Many years since, when the deceased Emperor of France was simply a then called—a London financier, he was a special favorite of the old Duke of Wellington. This honor he shared with the Count d'Orsay. Owing to the debts of the latter, however, he was seldom at the house except on Sundays, when English debtors are free from the chance of arrest. Occasionally, also, a similar remark was made by the Emperor, who was a frequent visitor at the Duke's house. It was therefore on this day that they ordinarily found themselves with him and Colonel Garwood, his Secretary, who subsequently committed suicide, taking their share in a friendly game of whist. This gave rise at the time to a biting remark which has since become a well-known story. It was said that he had undertaken to pay the debts for his father-in-law, the Duke of Wellington, and that he had undertaken to pay the debts for his father-in-law, the Duke of Wellington, and that he had undertaken to pay the debts for his father-in-law, the Duke of Wellington.
