What you made of Maggie dear? Maggie came from Rover, With the strictest reference, (Just her mamma's voice.) In the trust, bluest eyes, Back of sunny lashes.

What you made of Johnnie, boy? Boy stands still a minute; If there's any mischief round, He's the one that's in it.

What you made of Taddie, pet? Taddie's eyes are glowing, Two wide-knave peep back the curls, Two white teeth are showing; And the smiles, they twinkle round.

WIVES COLUMN.

Baby's Troubles. "I'm glad you come, mamma. For nurse is tired as I am; She stunts and makes me sit down, mamma, When I want to get up."

Miss Buchanan does the personal on the Chicago Post. Miss Emily Faithfull, who is now in this country with the avowed purpose of examining and studying our institutions, organized in 1860, the Victoria Press, a printing establishment in which she would be employed as compositor.

Women are said to have a great capacity for devotion, but the spirit is of little avail if the flesh be wanting. It is much better to live for others than it is to die for them, and it is better for them that we are called upon to do.

Washington's tomb is adorned with one of the most beautiful ever seen; a fence dumber ever slipped on any prominent object in that vicinity.

Murders are so common in New York that when a gentleman went home and announced to his wife that Mr. Greeley was dead, his little three-year old, playing on the floor, looked up and said: "Pa, who shot him?"

In a school the sentence "Mary milks the cow," was given out to be parsed. Each word had been parsed, save one, which fell to Bob, a sixteen-year-old, near the foot of the class, who commenced thus: "Cow is a noun—feminine gender, singular number, third person, and means for Mary, how could Mary milk her?"

Dead loads of money in Kansas. "Holla, Edens," says he; "what's the news?" Says I, "Nothing in particular." Says he, "Is there any money here?" Says I, "I told there's dead loads of it. I'm told that Dorris is here with plenty of money and wants to be elected United States Senator the worst kind."

Colly to Edens: "Holla, Edens," says he; "what's the news?" Says I, "Nothing in particular." Says he, "Is there any money here?" Says I, "I told there's dead loads of it. I'm told that Dorris is here with plenty of money and wants to be elected United States Senator the worst kind."
