

Senator of Governor, which? That's the question in the political world of Nebraska now!

The new time table of the B. & M. R. R. helps us out wonderfully in getting to Omaha. Don't have to get up so early and can stay nearly all day if necessary.

The Crescent City Courier is the most "out West" paper published in America. The editor sweeps out his office into the great Pacific and the fellow that goes west of him will have to anchor in a wharf-boat.

The Nebraska Teacher for May is before us. It is a very good number indeed. Miss Gertrude Johnson tells us about cheap teachers, and very sensibly so. Mr. Palmer is making a success of the Teacher.

Stinecomb, our Stinecomb, that was, has developed into a full fledged newspaper man. First we hear of him on the Journal, and then on the Republic, and we guess he's on—the travel—for both of 'em.

Fifteen applicants for a cadetship at West Point, appeared before the examiners at Omaha not long since.—Thirteen were rejected, leaving only two to fight it out on that line. Our Dr. Livingston is one of the board of examination.

The recent Agricultural Congress at Atlanta, Georgia, was fairly attended. The address of President Jackson was a very sensible document. We hope the Congress may continue, although we believe Nebraska had no representation there this year.

MASS TEMPERANCE MEETING AT MT. PLEASANT.

To be held in the M. E. Church, at Mt. Pleasant, Sunday evening, May 31st, by the ladies of that organization. The meeting will be addressed by competent speakers, and all interested in the welfare of the Temperance cause are cordially invited to attend.

The Blade and the Journal at Lincoln are at it. Fanny—when the Blade opened the Journal said it would be one of the finest papers in the West and by saying that the Journal was an old stand-by &c. Now the Blade offers to discount the Journal for wit, wisdom and circulation, and the Journal comes back with "Infant prodigy weak backed, &c."

CANNON HOUSE.

G. H. Cannon, formerly of the Massachusetts House, Atchinson, Kansas, has lately taken the well known Atwood House, at Lincoln, and retitled it thoroughly and handsomely. He has changed the name to the Cannon House, and now proposes to discharge the functions of landlord in such a bomb proof manner that no big or little gun in the land can find fault.

THE ARKANSAS GOVERNORS

Have about subsided. The Government at Washington recognize Baxter as Governor de facto until the Legislature can or shall decide otherwise, and have ordered the State troops to disband, on both sides. There has been a little growling and a squabble or two, and the United States troops have been called on to protect men and property from marauders from both parties, but the Legislature bids fair to hold a legal and quiet session and will probably settle both Governors.

GREAT DISASTER.

A large reservoir north of Haydenville, Mass. broke on the morning of the 18th inst., and the flood caused immense damage. Rushing down the hills in the northern portion of Williamsburg, tearing away buildings and reaching Skinnerville where it demolished the silk factory and a number of houses. At Leeds houses and shops were swept away and a number of persons killed. It is impossible to estimate the loss of life but it exceeds two hundred persons. The damage to property will be over $1,000,000.

Senator Morton comes out with a letter on the currency question, in which he says the late finance bill was not intended as an inflation measure, but rather looking toward specie payment, and it was simply to legalize the action of the Secretary of the Treasury and determine the exact amount of currency beyond which, neither the Treasurer nor the Government itself, could issue promises to pay.

That amount was fixed at $400,000,000, and if that was what the bill meant, it could not have harmed anybody very much, but somehow all the newspapers and the people got it into their head that it was an out and out inflation measure, and some people approved that.—Why didn't Senator Morton and all the friends of the bill find this out before now, and let us know what was meant. Very few would have objected to a bill fixing the amount of currency within reasonable limits, but the impression abroad about this bill was, that it was a totally different affair, and with a different end and aim.

The editor of the Nebraska Teacher has been down at Red Cloud. They have had a Teacher's Institute there, and this is part of what he says about Red Cloud itself:—

"Red Cloud is situated on a kind of 'second bottom,' about a mile from the river. It is a beautiful, level site, of large extent, while below it the 'first bottom' stretches out still larger. The Republic is shallow and sandy—the Platte in miniature." It is heavily timbered with cottonwood, cedar, oak, &c., but is being stripped of its timber very rapidly, especially where it is included in railroad or school lands, from which the poor prairie homesteader forges his firewood when there is no other.

THE CURRENCY OUTLOOK.

Under the caption of the "Voice of the West," the Chicago Tribune gives letters and opinions from 935 papers in the States of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska on the Veto. The summary is as follows:

Table showing support for the veto by various newspapers in different states.

A further classification by politics shows that parties are divided in about equal ratio, thus:

Table showing political affiliations of newspapers supporting the veto.

The editor then asks, "Do the papers represent the people where they are published? And he thinks they do, for the following reasons:

"Out of ten editors, it may always be assumed that nine endeavor to reflect the views of the community from which their patronage is obtained on every question which excites much popular interest. The tenth man, being, perhaps, cast in an obstinate mold, or hoping to convince the majority that he is right and they wrong, may for the time being 'misrepresent' (if covered by the term) properly applied to a newspaper) the locality in which it is published. Such papers are altogether exceptional."

"In the aggregate the majority sustaining the veto is in the proportion of 514 to 408."

The political division is as marked, and the Tribune of course argues therefrom, that the Republican party is broken up. If they can draw any comfort from that reasoning, they may make the most of it. The old party was broken on the Greeley issue and the back pay, and twenty times more during the past year or so, and still it survives. Will the old style of editor and politician never learn that there is a new era in newspaperdom, and that while we do our own thinking, irrespective of party, yet in final issues we may use the party, and it is the only lever that can be used in this country, to accomplish ends.

We give the Nebraska Press as far as heard from the Tribune:

The editor of the Plattsmouth Herald writes:

"The NEBRASKA HERALD sustains the veto and it is an out-and-out Republican newspaper not because we approve every thing Republicans do. In Congress we are not so much as we have been in other parts of the country in time of need, or to act with power either as given or implied. If you should choose to know my reasons in full for sustaining the veto, they are as follows:—"

"The Plattsmouth Nebraska Watchman, Liberal and Independent in politics, heartily indorses the veto, and says that the Herald is an infidel. I do not know the people of Nebraska would vote for inflation to-day, although our press is divided on the question. Very respectfully,
J. A. MACMURPHY,
Editor Herald."

The Veto Message is still the great question of the day, and the Herald is the only paper in the West that has not taken the side of the veto. The West was far from a unit in demanding inflation.

We have never yet been able to see how inflation would help the West at present or bring a dollar of more money into the country. It would only increase the price of everything, and the people of Nebraska would vote for inflation to-day, although our press is divided on the question. Very respectfully,
J. A. MACMURPHY,
Editor Herald."

"Atlas office, Newark, N. J. Find enclosed a clipping from the Atlas, which shows how we stand:

"This is one of the best moves President Grant has ever made, or he has ever made from a financial ruin. Perhaps, no other man in the country who endeavored to save the country with an irredeemable currency will be so indignantly rebuffed as Mr. Grant. His attention to adopting some measure that will be beneficial to the people, as a whole, and not to the few speculating class, who wish to amass fortunes at the expense of the nation's credit, is worthy of commendation. Very respectfully,
F. M. MADDONAGH,
Editor, etc."

"Atlas office, Newark, N. J. Find enclosed a clipping from the Atlas, which shows how we stand:

"This is one of the best moves President Grant has ever made, or he has ever made from a financial ruin. Perhaps, no other man in the country who endeavored to save the country with an irredeemable currency will be so indignantly rebuffed as Mr. Grant. His attention to adopting some measure that will be beneficial to the people, as a whole, and not to the few speculating class, who wish to amass fortunes at the expense of the nation's credit, is worthy of commendation. Very respectfully,
F. M. MADDONAGH,
Editor, etc."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Lincoln Journal condemned the Currency bill, but also, from the reasoning, the President's veto. We advocate a repeal of the veto, and the contraction of the currency, if possible, a true and right platform and policy. The Tennessee Herald advocates the Grange cause. Condemns the action of the President on the Currency bill. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

"The Nebraska State Register, Lincoln. Put us on the side of the free and boundless West—to be at the mercy of New England. A policy must be inaugurated that will recognize the claims to be heard and respected, or, by the Eternal, there shall such a popular indignation be kindled as will sweep the nation up to its knees in a sea of blood, and the Wall Street trouble from New England and Wall Street—trouble which has already cost the lives of hundreds, and which is daily increasing, will be the result. Let justice be done though the heavens fall. Obedience to the demands of the West and the currency may yet prevail. Respectfully,
WILSON & FAIRBROTHER,
Proprietors."

THE FOREMOST TONIC OF THE AGE.

Taking into consideration the character of its contents, the history of its cure and its immense annual sales, Hostetter's Stomach Tonic may be fairly called the foremost Tonic of the Age. It is not only a tonic but a constitutional and local alterative, and its tendency is to substitute healthy for diseased action throughout the system. If the stomach is oppressed by mucus, biliousness, no amount of diet will do it any good. It increases the desire for food and the ability to digest and assimilate it. If the liver is diseased, it improves the condition of the organ and drives out the mucus which it produces. The bowels being obstructed it promotes the flow of bile into the intestinal canal and thereby relieves them and re-establishes the natural action. Its effect upon the brain, the nerves and kidneys is equally salutary. Hostetter's Tonic, alters and regulates the whole system.

What is the difference between a farmer and a bottle of whisky? One husbands the corn and the other corns the husbands.

The Western women have in a great degree stopped praying in public and are making up their summer clothes.—Reporter.

Not in Plattsmouth.

Cow herding commenced in Brownville by Bob Pudding last Monday morning.—Advertiser.

Can a Pudding (head) Bob, round fast enough to head a herd of heady cattle if they get bobbing about in Musquito time?

Young Pollock, of Brownville, convicted of robbing the Postoffice, was sentenced by Judge Dundy on Monday.

Your former good character, your honorable discharge from the army, and the destitute condition of your family insures to you the lightest punishment known to the law under which you have been convicted.

STATE ITEMS.

Work has been going on the Grand Island and St. Joe, railroad, so says the Grand Island Times.

Mrs. Mason, wife of O. P. Mason, died at her residence in Nebraska City on the 15th inst.

The ladies of North Platte did not give Miss Garrison, the crusader, a very enthusiastic reception, and she disconsolately left for the west.

A young man named Cowdry, from New York city, was accidentally drowned in the Blue river near Crete.

Mr. Chas. E. Hanson, Postmaster at Westfield, York Co., was married on Tuesday the 21st ult. and died on the 24th.

The Grand Island Times has added to its editorial corps, J. B. Davis.

A little girl two years old, was lost near Council Bluffs, and was out 72 hours in a storm without food.

Remember that each subscriber to "Our Fireside Friend," has an equal chance in drawing the 1st Grand Cash Prize, of $10,000, in the Third Grand Annual Distribution of Premiums, of one Hundred and Fifty Thousand Dollars, which takes place June 25th, 1874. Now is the time to subscribe, and get a chance in the distribution, besides getting a beautiful Oil Chromo, ready framed, to hang up in your parlors. Call on the Agent, J. Ph. Young for full particulars and circulars. 7-21

PERSONAL.

E. E. Grey, Fremont, formerly District Attorney for the Third Judicial District, was in town last week and called at the Herald office.

Judge Sprague, lately returned to Plattsmouth from Ashland, one of the real old original settlers of Cass county, walked into our sanctum last Saturday.

We cordially welcome the Judge back to our midst, and hope he may do well, and remain long with us. Come in and see us again and bring your knitting.

M. B. Reese, of Ashland, called on us not long since, looking fine and hearty again.

Mrs. Orr, wife of H. N. Orr, formerly of Plattsmouth, is in the city and we regret to learn is in poor health.

Mrs. John Chapman, a former resident, and wife of the brother of our Lawyer Chapman, is in town visiting old friends and neighbors.

Hugh Orr, old