The Presbyterian entertainment last Saturday evening was very satisfactory indeed, both in the amount of pleasure it afforded our citizens and its pecuniary results. The students of the University showed him every attention possible. Prof. Bailey accompanied the body down to Plattsmouth where it was taken charge of by his relatives and friends, and taken over to Glenwood, his old home, and buried beside his father and two brothers.

WALTERS—Died of Consumption, on the 19th of March, at the house of J. J. Baker, known as Ada Wheeler, in Fremont, Neb., an infant named J. E. Walters, aged 20 years, 2 months, and 12 days.

J. N. Randle, one of our old standbys has just returned from a visit to Appleton county, Iowa, and sends the HERALD a chunk of the finest looking coal we have ever seen. It is glossy, black, and as clean as a piece of jet, which is very much remarkable. The grain is so deep deep where it is taken from and altogether it looks the prettiest coal we have seen.

DO NOT FORGET.

That Carruth's Jewelry Store has removed opposite the old stand, next door to Stadelmann's Clothing Store, where you will find a larger and finer stock of Clocks, Watches and Jewels than ever. Call and examine goods. Watchwork done, and warranted. 4 F. CARRUTH.

A VALUABLE NEW BOOK.

The glory of the present age is the diffusion of useful information. The appearance therefore of any new publication that bids fair to enlighten the masses will be warmly welcomed. A practical subject, should be regarded as reasonable ground for congratulation. It gives us pleasure therefore to call the attention of our readers to the "L. V. Pierce's forthcoming book entitled 'The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser.' This work will contain about nine hundred pages, will be well bound, and illustrated with colored plates, and sent by mail to any address for the unprecedented low price of $1.50. It will be ready for delivery early in April. It is calculated to be of great benefit to all persons known to the American as well as the people of several foreign nations, through his Family Medicine, and as the founder of the World's Dispensary at Buffalo N. Y., established for the treatment of Chronic Diseases, and now ventures to appear in the new role of authorship. From a perusal of the pages, we believe the book is calculated to be eminently useful. It embraces a wide range of subjects, all of them bearing with more or less directness upon the all-important question of health. Biology, Physiology, the Cerebral Functions, the Human Temperaments, and Hygienic Treatment, or Nursing of the sick, receive due attention. We follow the modern practice demands. Physical and Mental Culture, Ventilation, Sleep, Cleanliness, Food, Beverages and Clothing are practical topics and are treated in a practical manner. We believe the book as a Remedial Agent receives the attention which it deserves. Under the head of Remedies for Diseases is presented a list of the most indigenous medicinal plants, together with their properties and uses and pictorial representations of many of the most important. The appropriate dose of each is given. A full and complete introduction we have in Part Fourth, Diseases and their Remedial Treatment. Almost every disorder that prevails upon the human system is here described, together with its symptoms, causes and treatment, as far as it is thought safe and advisable for the non-professional to prescribe. Chronic ailments receive special attention. A chapter on accidents and emergencies is a very useful feature of the book. Besides this, much miscellaneous and profitable information is given, which will make it a genuine 'vademecum'—a convenient companion in every household. Many a precious life has been lost from the lack of just the knowledge which this work affords. It is a healthy moral sentiment pervades the whole work, and we cordially commend it as worthy of a place in every family.
