Would-be Murderer Was Thwarted.

A VERY strange occurrence lately took place near Bordeaux, France, an account of which comes to us in the most authentic form. It seems that a woman employed at the Chateau of London recently inherited 1,000 francs by the death of a relative, and the money was paid over to her in gold. A peasant employed as a gardener upon the grounds of the estate, hearing of the woman's good fortune, determined to possess himself of the money. The woman filled the position of house keeper, and it appears that the family were a short time since passing a few days in town, and had taken the house-servants with them, leaving the housekeeper alone This chance was seized upon by the gardener to effect his object relative to the 1,000 francs. He entered the woman's room and Excelsior Barber Shop. her money. This of course she refused to give him; but he threatened to kill her her money. This of course she refused instantly unless she gave him the 1,000 francs, and to save her life she finally did so. Then the man declared that he Main Street, opposite Saunders House. must murder her to keep her from bearing witness against him, but gave her the choice of dying by the knife or the rope, and summoned her to decide quickly.

The poor woman prayed for mercy, making all sorts of promises; but the man was inexorable, and peremptorily told her that her time had come-she must noose at the end designed for the woman's

MR. THOMAS WINANS, the well-known Baltimore millionaire, has been engaged for two years with a view to building an amense organ at his private residence. During the coming winter an organ will be built under his direction which will be the largest in the country, and will be placed in a building constructed expressly for it in a corner of his Baltimore grounds. The organ-room will be forty feet from floor to ceiling and so constructed that by turning slats in the windows the volume of sound can be accurately regulated. When it is desired to grounds and in the neighbor hood the windows can be opened ly audible for a mile. The organ pipes, numbering between 6,000 and 7,000, will range in size from thirty-one feet high and two feet by two feet six inches in diameter down to a pipe a few feet in length and about one-fourth of an inch in diameter.
