SLATES.

We predict that this will prove a bad year for slates. There is a strong sentiment upon this subject abroad among the people. They are disposed to assume the reins and have a say about public affairs. This may prove bad for the slate-makers of all parties, but it will result in good to the body politic.

Tilden received congratulations from all parts of the country last evening. "in the midst of which," says the Associated Press reports, "the Governor maintained an almost stolid imperturbability."

If Grant new had been stolid, what a crime some people would have found it. But Tilden, well he's a reformer and can afford to look "imperturbably sto-

ATTEND THE PRIMARIES.

The above text has been sung by the press until it is worn thread-bare, and yet it is the only remedy which strikes at the root of all the evils of politics. The majority of the people are honest if they would interest themselves enough to give a few hours to the caucus, bad nominations would soon become scarce. We trust Republicans will turn out this fall and attend the primaries. Those to elect delegates to the County Convention, which meets on the 12th of next month, will be held three days prior to the meeting of the Convention, that is, on the 9th.
