G. H. BLACK, Ch'n.

The convention to nominate the Representative for the "Float District," composed of Cass and Saunders Counties, is called to meet at Ashland, Monday, October 16th, at 11 o'clock, a. m. Delegates for said convention please take notice. M. R. CUTLER,
Ch'n Central Com. for Cass Co

We think the "Double-Header" business is about played out in Nebraska politics.

The State Central Committee meet at Lincoln Oct. 10th, and want a full turn out.

Our friend Lynch, of Mt. Pleasant, made a most excellent display of winter apples at the State Fair and ought to have taken the first premium.

An accident to our heating apparatus has stopped work so that a great deal of copy on home matters, the fairs and sketches of our candidates must be left out this week.

During the late extreme pleasantness among the Republicans at Lincoln, Mr. Michael delared there was but one 'Bull' in Lincoln County (meaning a Mr. Bull who was a delegate to their County Convention.)

It caused a great laugh, and some one aptly remarked, "and yet they call Guy Barton a great cattle king." He should import some more B's.

Among the happiest, "bestest" things done at Lincoln on the 25th, was the nomination of Geo. S. Smith, for District Attorney in this Judicial District with the unanimous approval of the delegates present. We shall whoop George along this time with a majority of three hundred times four votes.

The party owes something to Mr. Stull, of Nemaha, too; who acted like a perfect gentleman and man of sense, two qualities not always combined in one person.

TOM MAJORS.

We, of Cass, owe Tom Majors one also, and there is no name on the ticket for whom the HERALD will vote any more honestly, heartily or cheerfully than our young contingent congressman, not excepting Mr. Welch himself, who has been a life-long friend and neighbor in Nebraska.

That the contingency may soon become a certainty we shall now and ever pray.

COLORADO GOES REPUBLICAN.

GIVE US A REST.

DENVER, COL., October 3.

The republicans have undoubtedly carried Colorado by a decided majority, and elected the entire State ticket, congressman, and secured the legislature by a majority in both branches. This legislature elects two United States senators and three presidential electors.

The Republican primaries for the Convention of Oct. 12th, to nominate a County Representative ticket and Co. Commissioner, will be held on Saturday Oct. 7th, at the times and places in the Call. An error appeared in an editorial article in the HERALD of Sept. 21st, which designated the 9th of October as the day on which the primaries met. That was merely a misprint in an article urging the people to turn out to the primaries, as there the real battle of elections is often fought. We again urge the people, one and all, to attend their respective primaries on the 7th of the month. Your county and State interests depend on this Convention as much or more than they do on the action of the State Convention and future legislation of the county is determined by your action then.

Our County Convention meets on the 12th, and the Representative District Convention on the 16th.

Remember farmers and all you who complain of high taxes, mismanagement or ignorance in legislation that then and there you, not the politicians, not the office seekers, but you, if you believe in your own judgment and do your duty, have the power to decide what shall be the complexion, capability and intents of the members of the State Legislature from Cass. Do let us try and send men who will honor us there and who will help secure an economical administration of public affairs and equal and just taxation on all, rich and poor alike. Remember this.

SENATOR HITCHCOCK'S LETTER.

To the Editor of the Republican:

I have read your issue of this morning with regret. It shows to my mind too strong a disposition to fight over again the convention contest, and to attack those republicans who were on the losing side. This is all wrong. It is unwise and impolitic as well as unjust.

A convention by far the largest and ablest ever assembled in this state, has after an exalted contest concluded its labors and nominated candidates. They are candidates, not of a faction or section, but of the whole party.

In such a hot contest doubtless many things were said and done which are now regretted. Why not close up the ranks and march on together for a common victory? I am sure this is the feeling of the great body of the republican party. Here and there an occasional disorganizer may be found, but their numbers or influence are but slight.

Let them lay at my door all the crimes in the criminal calendar, and then assert that I am a fool and an imbecile. They "prove all these things to their satisfaction" every day.

Let them do it. My faith that the people of Nebraska have intelligence enough to discover the truth about my public service, has never faltered, and I know they will go right.

My enemies strengthen me by such outrageous abuse.

Let the Republican not make the same mistake. P. W. HITCHCOCK.

Omaha, Oct. 1st, 1876.

Well now there's certainly good sense in that. We agree with the Senator entirely this time. One would think we were fighting rank rebels and enemies to see the furious onslaughts made. When the battle is over the vanquished are restored to favor, that seems to be the logic of the war—shall we be less magnanimous in peace, or politics. We really think from the above that Bro. Hitchcock might make a good editor himself, and if anything should happen to him politically, we shall heartily welcome him to the fraternity of Ink Slingers.

"MAKE A LAW."

In company with a number of citizens of Plattsmouth, we had the pleasure of listening to a conversatione last Monday evening, by Dr. Dio. Lewis, at the house of Hon. D. H. Wheeler. We have not the space here to comment at length on this talk. It was very interesting indeed. We have not enjoyed an evening any more in a long time. As the politicians would say, the Doctor is one of our kind of "fellows," and we agree with so much of what he says, that we can't make a spicy criticism of his remarks if we wanted to.

The argument was mainly against prohibitory laws, and was very conclusive as regards the futility of stopping vice by legislating against it. In these days the cry is continually "make a law!" make a law! and our Statute books are covered with foolish enactments that are a dead letter in the hearts of the people; and yet our young men that aspire to the Legislature all over the land will rush to Lincoln this winter (if they get elected), and make about 250 more, on every available subject, object, dispensation and fact.

The Doctor argues, first, the distinction between vice and crime. Vice—a moral evil, which must be met by moral forces. Crime—a breach of the rights of man, a violation of personal liberty—which may be punished by law.

There's the whole thing in a nutshell. The only weak point of the Doctor's theory being that the workers he suggests, have not the "vice" of talking well, and reasoning logically, developed as marvelously as the Doctor, and we fear they would fail for want of tools to work with—at first.

NEBRASKA REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

[Adopted at Lincoln, Sept. 29.]

The republican party in convention assembled sends greeting to the people of the State, and congratulates them on a nation restored, a public consolidated.

We, as republicans, have no need to re-affirm our faith in our fidelity to the union, or our devotion to the work of our organization in all nonessentials and the laws; so we have never lost faith in the fundamentals of republican doctrine, as the cause of human liberty, the equal rights of all men, and the paramount obligations due from us to the general government. In the darkest days of the nation's history, in the midst of a fratricidal warfare, when the nation forced to look on the abyss of uncertainty and disintegration, our party was true, steadfast and loyal. It never forgot its duty, never swerved from the pathway of right, and never ceased to remember and guard the honor of our country.

With this premise, we present to the electors of the state, the following summary of principles and policy:

First—We endorse and sustain the nominations made by the national republican convention at Cincinnati, and pledge the republican party of this State to the election of electors who will cast the vote of the state for the honest, incorruptible, able and honorable man, Rutherford B. Hayes, of Ohio, and men for that ticket, and for Governor of William A. Wheeler, of the state of New York.

Second—We adopt and endorse in all its essential features, the platform of principles enunciated by the republican national convention, and pledge ourselves to maintain, sustain and advocate those principles until they receive from the people such positive condemnation as is supposed would alarm the strength and breadth of Nebraska.

Third—We affirm that the republican party stands pledged to the principle of the equality of all citizens before the law, without regard to color, creed, or nationality. The lack of citizenship confers all rights by passport over all, and each and every one is entitled to the fullest protection, in accordance with the constitution in every state of the Union.

Fourth—We commend the legislation of Congress, the orders of President Grant, and the action of the attorney general in his letter of instructions to the United States marshals to enforce the laws and protect the citizens in the performance of their political rights, and we carefully shield the elective franchise in states where obstructed.

Fifth—We unequivocally endorse the financial policy of the governement in its successful efforts to "restore the public credit and maintain the national honor," and the late fiscal arrangements by funding of seven hundred millions of bonds have been placed at 4½ per cent. interest, and an equivalent amount of 6 per cent. bonds retired, thus effecting a saving of four and one-half millions of interest annually, meets the unqualified approbation of the republican party.

Sixth—That we favor such a financial policy upon the part of the government as shall enable the holders of the legal tenders to receive from the government, on demand, their face value in coin; but that we are strongly opposed, at present to the retirement from circulation of the legal tenders, and to the repeal of the legal tender act.

Seventh—We approve the policy of redeeming the outstanding currency in coin or its equivalent, so as to make it convertible at any time at the option of the holder, either into gold, silver or government bonds, at an equal interchangeable value, and we look with confidence to a returned prosperity and to a new era of revival of commerce, trade and manufactures as will make such redemption speedily practicable.

Eighth—Owing to the requirements of the public debt revenues must be provided in addition to the ordinary expenditures of government sufficient to discharge the accruing interest; which revenues must in the nature of things be derived principally from duties on imports; and in the adjustment of the tariff laws, equitable protection should be given to domestic manufactures, and thus foster labor, promote enterprise and advance the prosperity of the people.

Ninth—We approve and commend the generous and beneficent policy of the government in granting pensions to the soldiers who periled their lives that the nation might live, and to their widows and orphans. A grateful people will cheerfully pay taxes for this holy purpose.

Tenth—We desire to express our abhorrence and place the seal of condemnation on that element in the democratic party which justifies the slaughter at Hamburgh, S. C., which looks with complacency on the butcheries at Concordia, La.; which approves of the shot-gun policy in Mississippi; which endorses the displacement of loyal citizens and installation in their stead of guerillas in their vacant positions; which has cut down the appropriations for the army and navy while a savage warfare is in progress on our borders; which has sent to the congressional halls the most violent and bitter foes of the restored republic; which has in solemn convention declared the amendments to the constitution null and void, and which presents itself to-day in an attitude of defiance and hostility to the peace integrity and autonomy of the nation.

We, the republican party of Nebraska, charge the above on a portion of the adherents of the democratic party, and in refusal with disdain the presentation of statements made in the platform of that party at St. Louis. To the indictments of all herein set forth, we pledge ourselves as believers in good citizens, as patriots who love their country and cherish their country's honor.

Eleventh—That we are in favor of such legislation by our state and national legislatures as will secure a pro-rata tariff of charges, adjusted upon just and equitable terms between all connecting lines of railroad within the limits of the state.

WM. A. GWYER, Chairman.

E. E. CUNNINGHAM,	N. S. PORTER,
THOS. J. MAJORS,	ED S. TOWLE.
R. W. EUERETT,	LORIN CLARK,
C. F. R. WILLIAMS,	GEO. E. DORLING,
GEO. W. DORSEY,	C. T. HARRINSON,
TAGGERT.

As the convention was about to adjourn Mr. Towle offered the following as a substitute for the concluding resolution of the platform:

WHEREAS, The construction of the Union Pacific railroad was a national enterprise, inaugurated and carried to a successful completion by the national Republican party, and built with the nation's treasure, therefore

Be it Resolved, That all business originating in the State of Nebraska, and produced and situated on the line of railroads connecting with the Union Pacific railroad [illegible] and transported over said railroads, or any of them, or any kind in favor of the business of any or either of said connecting railroads, or of said Union Pacific railroad; that, to effect that end, said Union Pacific railroad ought in equity and justice to carry such business over its line from whatever point received, at a pro rate of its own through tariff on similar business, and that all railroads connecting with said Union Pacific road, ought in equity and justice to grant to the St. Joseph and Denver, Atchison and Nebraska, Midland Pacific, Omaha and Northwestern railroads, and all other railroads which may now or hereafter connect with such connecting road,—all the rights, privileges and immunities in respect to rates, time and transportation possessed or claimed by themselves or either of them in respect to the Union Pacific railroad.

Resolved, That it is the sense of the convention that if legislation is necessary to effect the end specified in the foregoing resolution, the same be urged upon congress by our senators and representatives.

Convention then adjourned.

The original fifth resolution was added on motion of Capt. Ashby and is understood to favor the Greenback policy, the captain saying they had some of those fellows down there.

The pro rata resolution, now numbered 11, was introduced by Gen. Cunningham and passed unanimously in committee and in convention. In the committee the General stated that it embodied the sense of Cass County on the question as expressed at her County convention.

The substitute offered by Mr. Towle is longer, but contains, in the main, the same matter and makes it no stronger, in fact the concluding portion is almost verbatim Gen. Cunningham's resolution asking for proper legislation, if needed, to enforce just and equitable pro rata measures.

The only effect of the double resolutions would be to place the convention and the candidates on a stronger pro rata platform and thereby the whole Republican party, inasmuch as the convention endorsed the first resolution, Gen. C.'s, by passing a second of the same tenor.

We say this for the benefit of our friends who are afraid Frank Welch is not a pro rata man. If any stronger resolutions could be passed we should like to see them.

Again, it has been urged here that Mr. Welch must be anti-pro rata because he was supported by gentlemen, who were friendly to Mr. Hitchcock.—He must also have been supported by men not friendly to Senator H. or else we are forced to the conclusions that the Senator had a good many friends in that convention—rather the most in fact—adopting this line of argument.

But we insist that the republican citizens of this State there assembled, were not electing a U. S. Senator, but were nominating a member of Congress, State ticket, &c.

The Republicans of Cass asked of their delegates to give us a pro rata member, and a man not tied up with interests inimical to ours. We think they have done so, and if elected you will be perfectly satisfied with his action in this respect.

We object to calling this a Hitchcock or an anti-Hitchcock fight, or a R. & M. and U. P. fight. Our objection is based on the fact that this glib way of theorizing about important public matters, while it may be very pleasant and handy for demagogues to use, presupposes that the people themselves have no interest in these men or these measures, and that they take the pains to post themselves up in public affairs, keep up party organizations—run great newspapers, just to accommodate Senator Smith or Congressman Jones, or worse yet, to advance the interests of one big railroad corporation as against another. We opine the people do these thing somewhat to please themselves, and to better their condition.

Admit that an attempt was made to force such a fight on the convention, Mr. Welch would be foolish to forbid Mr. Hitchcock's friends to vote for him and he certainly does not live along the line of the U. P. nor within its reach, and does live in a country where they are as much interested in the principle of pro rata as we are, and he is too good a politician and too much of a gentlemen not to listen to the behests of his own people and the requests of the party that nominated him.

We have no personal antagonism against Mr. Cowin, and he has many friends here, but as Omaha seems bound to make a personal fight of this pro rata and railroad business and defends her selfish course on the plain and only issue that what could help us would injure her, we could not very consistently support an Omaha man for our candidate.

Mr. Holmes is as fine a gentleman as ever lived, and as good a man as was presented there, he is also a South Platte man, but as Mr. Welch brought almost a solid northern vote (except right along the line of the U. P.), and as the State ticket was taken largely south of the Platte and south of the line of the U. P., it was impossible to nominate him under such circumstances.

This being the case the HERALD advised the Cass Co. delegates to vote for Mr. Welch as our best man, and we shall stand by the advice and the men who so voted until we have better proof than mere say so to show that we have made a mistake.

Death of a Cattle King.

As we go to press we learn the death of Mr. John T. Alexander, the great cattle raiser, buyer and shipper of Central Illinois, which occured at Jacksonville, on the afternoon of the 22d. Mr. Alexander came home from the East sick, some weeks ago, and had not been well since. His age was about 65. He had been a resident of the state for nearly forty years. He was at one time one of our largest landholders, he he having purchased Mr. Sullivant's large farm in Campaign County, and also owning various tracts in Morgan. Owing to reverses, at the time of his death he was the possessor of about 7,000 acres. He had been for years one the largest cattle operators in the world. His life was insured for 75,000. —Prairie Farmer.

A hearty man will grow round on square meals.

COUNTY FAIR.

Our County Fair opened on Tuesday with a fair showing, there being 80 entries of farm products, 30 horses and mules, 42 on pantry and kitchen, 16 of cattle and 25 of hogs. Through the kindness of O. M. Streight the HERALD got a glance at the grounds yesterday. The rough weather no doubt deterred many from coming out. If to-day and the rest of the week should continue fine we shall have one of the finest displays and as good an attendance as we have ever had in Cass county.

Prof. Hurlburt, with his trained horses was just going on the grounds. He will be there every day, and exhibit his wonderful team trained to go anywhere without lines or other guidance than the voice and whip.

The exhibit of cattle and hogs, especially hogs, bids fair to be good.

THE STATE FAIR.

Our State Fair this year, though not as well attended as some we have held, was financially a success, and the display of stock and products was rather larger than usual. Owing to an accident in the office, we must go to press short of matter, and cannot enter into details of the exhibit.
