GRANDPA AND BESS.

Deep to the easy chair;
One with a crown of yellow gold,
And one like the silver fair;
One with the morning's rosy flush,
And one with the twilight's tender hush. "Where do the New Years come from?" Asks Gold-locks in her glee;
"Do they sail in a pearly shallop
Across a wonderful sea;
A sea whose waters with rainbows spanned,
Touch all the borders of fairy land?"

"Where do the New Years come from?" Says Grandpa, looking away Through the frosty rime on the window, To the distant hills so gray; "They come Hom the country of youth I know And they pass to the hand of the long ago."

"The New Years walt for you, darling; And the Old Years walt for me; They have carried my darrest treasures to the country over the sen; "But I know of a better country, Where the Old Years all are new : I shall flud its shining pathway Sconer, sweetheart, thith you: And I'll send you a message of love and cheer With every dawn of a glad New Year."

The eyes of the dear old pilgrim Are looking accession snows.
While closer nesties the merry face,
With its flush like a plak wild rose. Dreaming together the young and old, Locks of silver and crown of gold.
