FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

OAT MEAL GRIDDLE CAKES.—One spoonful of oatmeal and two spoonfuls of sugar, a pinch of salt, one fourth of a teaspoonful of soda. Stir well together and let it stand over night; then add one egg, one cup of milk, flour enough to make the batter right to bake. Bake on a griddle as pancakes.

VELVET CREAM.—Three pints of cream, the white of six eggs, a half cupful of gelatin, a pint of sugar and sweet meat; over to taste; then beat to a stiff foam with the whites of the eggs; add the cream to a frothy consistency in a teacupful of hot water; and when the gelatin is milk-warm, add it until smooth; line the mold with sponge cake and pour in the mixture.

POTATO PUKE.—Any left-over mashed potatoes may be made into an excell ent dish for next day's dinner. Mash potato, 2 cupfuls; melted butter, 2 tablespoonfuls; worked well together and add milk, 1 cupful, and two well boiled eggs. If the potato is not suf ciently seasoned for the table salt will be required. Bake in a quick oven until the top is a light brown.

BROWN BREAD.—Several have as of late been called

England bread which is often called Boston brown bread. The following has been thoroughly tested and approved

Indian and rye meal, one quart each.

Milk, 3 pints; soda and salt, two tea spoonfuls each; molasses, ½ of a cupful.

Steam for five hours at the end of which time set the pan in a hot oven long enough to well brown the crust.

CUROQUETTES.—Because of their French name and of the high price charged at restaurants, many have the French name and far better and more expensive for ordinary families. This is a mistake, as they afford a most accept able form in which to use up the rem nants of fowl, game, meats, etc. When presentable bits can no longer be cut from a turkey, chicken, or other birds, or there are the remnants of veal, mut ton, venison, or even fish, an excellent breakfast or supper dish may be made.

The material is to be chopped fine; one egg, 1 cupful of bread crumbs or mashed potato, a well-beaten egg to bind
