

THE HERALD.

J. A. MACMURPHY, EDITOR. PLATTSMOUTH, JULY 12, 1877.

Drummond is bound they shall know we have Sunday Schools here.

There's a good deal of fun in a quiet way up at the High School about now.

Query—Did the Watchman man ever have any trains to get tired? Our Co. exchanges say no.

A TELEGRAM announcing the death of the pope was received on Sunday but needs confirming.

THREE cases of sunstroke which proved fatal, occurred in Omaha on Saturday the 7th. The thermometer stood at one hundred in the shade that day.

LEE & Co. distillers, Omaha, have shipped the Russians 6,000 gallons of pure Alcohol via San Francisco.

The C. B. & Q. train arrived at and departed from Omaha yesterday. There was a wash-out on the St. Joe road near Trader's Point and the train had to come up by the way of Plattsmouth.

And that's the way it ought to run all the time—confound it.

MR. PIERCE, the agent of Webster's Dictionary is in town attending the Teacher's Convention. He supports us in the assertion that Webster is the great Newspaper authority in the U. S.

The Indianapolis Journal feels authorized to state that the senatorial career of Simon Adams will finally close on the 4th day of March, 1878.

That reminds us that our newly acquired friend, Judge Lynch, says there are four departments in this Government, not instead of three as of yore, to-wit, viz: the lawyers say.

It is so dangerous at large that him up in the penitentiary at once, bottle him up. Its only bottled stout any way.

Death on the Rail. Nebraska City, July 9. One Pearson, formerly of Omaha, was accidentally killed while falling from a gravel train while in motion on the Nebraska railroad, one and one-half miles below this city this evening.

Mr. Pearson formerly worked for the B. & M. R. R. Co. at Bellevue and La Platte. He was buried in the cemetery at this place yesterday morning, attended by many R. R. men.

MISSOURI RIVER RISING. Cut Off at Omaha. The Old Muddy rose above Omaha on Tuesday and cut through a neck of land striking the Neb. side below the Smelting works, and the Iowa side below the bridge washing out a mile of C. B. & St. Jo track.

History of Cass County. Dr. Childs' History of Cass County is now ready for sale. Price 40 cts. per copy, including records of the old settlers society as well.

The War Problem. LONDON, July 7. The military situation now appears to be as follows: The Turks have changed their front and faced to the westward since the Russians' entrance into Bulgaria; the Russians are deploying with their left flanks resting on the Danube to face the Turkish line from Ruscuk to Shumla; where this movement is complete a general battle may be expected unless the Turks fall back to Balkans, or the Russians mass their whole quadrilateral and turn it by passing the Balkans. The Russian forces coming through Dabradscha are approaching the Turkish Ruscuk and Shumla line. This column is too strong to be opposed by any force detached from the Turkish main body, while the main body cannot turn upon it without exposing its rear to Russian, main force. This situation is the creation of Corwites. Hezems entirely ignores the existence of the Balkan Peninsula, and the latest information fixes the garrisons at these places respectively, 32,000, 30,000 and 10,000, which operating on the flanks or rear of the Russian Dabradscha force would paralyze its efforts to co-operate with the army in central Bulgaria. Besides the garrisons of these fortified places, the Sultan's main army, which is now stated to be embarking at Antivara, could be landed at Varna, which would make the number of Turks on the Russian left flank over 50,000; the Russian Dabradscha corps is expected to number only 80,000.

TZSCHUCKING 'EM UP A LITTLE.

Boss Stout On His Ear. The Poor Old Penitentiary Under the Hammer Again.

Dr. Miller has found a Big Bonanza. Last Saturday the Omaha Herald struck it big; heavy, rich, they say, we don't see the thing. It had interviewed Secretary Tzschuck and found out that Boss Wm. Stout had inveigled the Legislature (?) into passing a bill which leased the Penitentiary to him for 10 years to put who he pleased in it and keep them there at 60cts per day. This scared Miller, anything about the penitentiary always does. He is mighty careful who is to have charge of that penitentiary while he lives in the state, we see that. He's right about it.

It seems that under a law of the Legislature passed last winter the board of public lands and buildings, was authorized to make a contract with responsible parties to let the services of the State prisoners to the lowest bidder for a term of years.

Provided, No bids shall be received where the net cost per capita shall exceed 60 cents per day, and the estimates shall be on convicts only.

The board first accepted his bid as he says, and then began to think they had found a mares nest and backed out. Stout now sues for a mandamus to compel the fulfillment of the contract.

SECRETARY TZSCHUCK tells the HERALD Stout can make $65,000 a year out of the contract, and objects.

We have not time now to look this matter up. It seems to us that our prisoners ought to earn enough to be kept for less than 60 cents a day.

There are two things we do know, that a republican official ever bettered his or the state's condition by allowing the Omaha Herald to make a cat's paw of him. And if Bill Stout has such a wonderful power of managing a whole Legislature, two-thirds of whom are supposed to be sharp lawyers, and entitled to get big pay in fees for their learned and legal opinions, and also the Board of public lands who were and are to draw up this contract—it can beat both of them in legal acumen and persuasive argument, the State of Nebraska has but two uses for William.

If he is so dangerous at large that him up in the penitentiary at once, bottle him up. Its only bottled stout any way. The other use we can put him to, is to send him to Congress. The National Legislature can't be so unearthly much smarter than all of ours for past years and as Stout has always got the best of all of them, demerits and all (according to the HERALD) he ought to be able to manage the conflicting elements down there so as to bring peace and plenty to the country and profit to Nebraska.

There is one more use for Stout the U. P. and Central Pacific had better discharge Miller and their other Editors and managers and put Stout in, for if Tom Scott ever gets a hold of Bill Stout—providing he has the powers ascribed to him—the Texas Pacific will surely be built somewhere's where it will hurt somebody.

Cass County Bridges Again. We understand that a lot of bridges are to be built this summer. One of Smith's crossing on the Weeping Water; length of main span 78 feet. One in Sec. 19 T. 12 R. 18—near Polk & Sheldon's (oh ain't we glad) one span 78 ft. On line between Sections 4 and 5 T. 10, R. 15, near Clisby's farm length of the bridges 112 ft.

One near Klepper's house in Sec. 22 T. 11, R. 11, length 42 ft. One on S. Line Sec. 5, T. 11, R. 10 length 20 ft. One in Sec. 5, T. 12, R. 12, near A. Schlegel's farm.

Commissioners to locate H. Wolf, GEO. W. MATFIELD, Civil Engineers. GEO. W. FAIRFIELD, Civil Engineers. The above Committee were out last week and staked out these bridges. The HERALD is sincerely glad to know that the wants of the people are being accommodated by the Commissioners. We are also happy to hear (even from our friend Sheldon, we understand) from many sources that poor old Martyr M. L. White's bridges still stand. Not one has gone out in spite of the terrible rains of the past two springs. We don't know whether these are to be Reformers bridges or not—but we venture a guess that the bridges built—according to size and quality—will cost the Co. as much as White's (So called) and that they will last no longer. Build us some more bridges down on the Weeping Water?

Queries. One friend wants to know why we don't pitch into the City Treasurer or Comptroller not collecting City taxes promptly. There are too many stragglers here this week to wash dirty clothes just now. Another wants to know our opinion of "Hayes' policy."

Also on "Civil Service rules." That's easy answered. We don't believe in policies—policy is luck, if luck hits us all right its a good policy if not its bad. Second, Humanity is about alike all over. We are just like the rest of you, we despise Machine politics unless we can turn the crank. If we turn said crank the machine is generally thought a good one. We don't know who is turning the Hayes crank here just now but we'll find out in a few days. If "Hayes' policy" whatever that is—keeps in my men and turns out somebody else's a good policy. If it keeps out my men and puts in yours, its a bad policy. Isn't that about the way we feel?

Mr. Kirkpatrick, wants to know why we don't pitch into the system of school taxes and things; yes—well, we haven't time this week, but as there are a lot of public Educators here this week and next, we shall try our hand at it next week, if nothing prevents.

TELEGRAPHIC!

TORNADO IN WISCONSIN. JANESVILLE, Wis., July 9.

A terrible tornado on Saturday night swept everything before it. At Peninsula station, twenty-five miles north of Green Bay, on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, the Hotel, the largest brick summer resort hotel in northern Wisconsin, was blown down. Eight persons are known to have been killed and two missing. Other buildings were blown to pieces. The town is a total wreck. The saw mill, shingle mill, and a store were totally destroyed. The tug Spray and a schooner and a tug were blown to pieces. The school house and fifteen or twenty houses were blown down. A powerful gust raised the Depot and blew it across the tracks and prevented passage of the Green Bay train, for two hours. The bridge was damaged and misplaced.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT. MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 9. A special to the Sentinel from Peninsula says: A terrible whirlwind struck the town on Sunday night, leaving but few houses standing.

The Gardner House, the large Hotel, was wholly demolished. Saw mills, residences, trees, fences and etc. were swept away. Six persons are known to be killed, twenty wounded, and five missing. Some guests were at the hotel of whom an account has been made. The losses were heavy. The storm came up large trees as though they had been weeds, and whirled them in the air like feathers. It is supposed further reports will show more casualties.
