

THE HERALD.

BISHOP OF HAMILTON COUNTY
NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR.

The Platform on Which the Unfortunate
Duckeyes Place Their Hopes.

COLUMBUS, O., July 25.

The Democratic State convention met in the Opera house at 11 o'clock. The attendance was very large in comparison with former gatherings of the kind. There were 725 delegates. The temporary organization was effected with Hon. W. F. Noble, of Seneca County, as Chairman, and Col. W. L. Brown of Mahoning County, as Secretary. The usual committees were announced, and the convention adjourned till half-past 1 o'clock.

BISHOP NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR.

The Democratic State Convention re-assembled at 1:30. Permanent officers were chosen as follows: Chairman, Hon. J. F. McKinney of Miami County; Secretary, W. S. Brown, of Hamilton; Vice Presidents and assistant secretaries were chosen one from each district.

The Balloting for Governor was very slow, and proceeded amidst great confusion. R. M. Bishop, of Hamilton, was nominated on the sixth ballot. The committee on resolutions then submitted the following which were unanimously adopted.

THE PLATFORM.

The democratic party of Ohio in State convention assembled, renews its pledges of devotion to the Union and Constitution with amendments. It declares as essential to the preservation of free government faithful adherence to the following principles: Strict constitution, home rule, supremacy of civil over military power, separation of Church and state, equality of all citizens before the law, liberty of individual action untrammelled by sumptuary laws absolute acquiescence in the lawfully expressed will of the majority, opposition to all subsidies, preservation of public lands to the use of actual settlers, the maintenance and perfecting of the common school system.

Pertinent to the issues now pending before the people.

- Resolved, That we look upon the inauguration of R. B. Hayes to the high office of President of the United States, in spite of the majority of the electoral and popular vote given by the people to Samuel J. Tilden, as the most dangerous encroachment upon popular rights that has ever been attempted in this or any other free country; a repetition of the fraud will not be tolerated.

- The destruction of the industry of the country and pauperism of labor are the inevitable fruits of the vicious laws enacted by the Republican party.
- As a measure of relieving the distressed portions of the community and removing the great stringency complained of in business circles, we demand the immediate repeal of the resumption act.

- That we denounce as an outrage upon the rights of the people the enactments of the republican measure demonetizing silver, and demand the passage of a law which shall restore silver to its monetary power.

- That we favor the retention of the greenback currency as the best paper money that we have ever had and declare against any further contraction.

- We congratulate the country upon the acceptance by the present Administration of the constitutional and pacific policy of local self government in States South, so long advocated by the Democratic party, and which has brought peace and harmony to that section of the Union.

- The registry law framed by the last Legislature is burdensome and expensive, and discriminates unjustly against the poorer class of voters, and we therefore demand its immediate repeal.

- We favor tariff for revenue only.

- We favor the issue, by the General Government alone, of all circulating mediums, whether paper or metallic, to be at all times of equal tender and interchangeable.

- That we condemn acts of the Federal Administration in using regular troops of the United States to interfere with elections and other political affairs of the States, as unconstitutional, unlawful, unjustifiable and destructive of the rights of the people and States.

- We recommend the ticket this day formed by the convention, to the favorable consideration and support of all citizens of the state.

FITCH FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Gen. Jabez W. Fitch, of Cuyahoga County, was nominated by acclamation for Lieutenant Governor.

Judge J. W. Oakey, of Franklin was nominated for Supreme Judge; R. J. Fanning, of Cuyahoga, for Clerk of the Supreme Court; Judge Isaiah Pillars, of Allen, for Attorney General; A. J. Burns of Belmont, and Hon. Martin Schiller, of Ross, for School commissioners, the latter by acclamation. The Convention adjourned sine die at 10:30 p. m.

A Festive Turk.

I have an item relative to the Turkish commander of the Danube army, Adul Kerim. The old man has the most gigantic appetite in Europe. His dinner ordinarily consists of an entire roast kid, twenty-five or thirty boiled eggs, and, when in good form, he tops off with a goose or a chicken. I have this officially. When not occupied with digesting a small lunch of this character, the venerable warrior is supposed to be looking after the movements of the Muscovites.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Ye Local Reporter.

(From the Inter Ocean.)

It is not generally supposed that the reportorial profession offers many chances for unadulterated glory. The English newspaper correspondent does occasionally obtain a decoration from a monarch of a petty state, accustomed to sing around crosses as a missionary distributes tracts but otherwise the chances are few and far between. The Chicago riot has, however, offered chances to the adventurous reporter which occur but seldom in a life-time and of which he has not been slow to avail himself. The very moment that the tocsin of war summoned from their lair the blue-coated yemen of the guard, the Chicago reporter buckled on his armor. Grasping his pencil firmly in his dexter hand, swallowing hastily a Richard III. luncheon—cheese sandwich and a glass of Beer—bidding a hasty adieu to the maiden of his choice, he plunged manly into the thickest of the fray. What was danger to him; what brick-bats, clubs, or miscellaneous bullets; what cared he that the mob reviled him, that they tore his last summer's duster, or sent the daylight streaming through the hat that he wore during the last campaign. He thirsted for glory or the grave, for fame's eternal camping ground or a place among the forty immortals. He got them all; he won his spurs; he came, he saw, he conquered. What he did not behold was not worth beholding. As he sat upon the table which he has dedicated to the muses on the peaceful afternoon of yesterday with his nose pretty well healed, a patch over his left eye, and the chasm in his head doing finely, telling his story, he only waited for some Desdemona to come along with a pile of money and love him for the dangers he had passed. Mayhap he fancied he heard the voice of that Desdemona, and awakened to find it only the city editor asking him to polish up that nose a bit, and look sharp for a sermon at 11. But such is glory.

Hayes on Red Soldiers.

President Hayes is reported to have said, the other day, that Indians could not be introduced in the army, in any extended way, with efficiency. He added: "I had three Indians in my corps. As scouts they were unequalled. We could do nothing with them as soldiers. They would not drill, they would not keep rank, they would do nothing except in their wild Indian way. We were troubled by a sharp-shooter who had picked off our men, and we could not reach him. Lent for one of these scouts. He came to my camp in a spongy way, seemed half asleep, and was wholly indifferent. When I told him what I wanted, his face glowed, his eyes sparkled and he straightened himself up like a crested snake ready to strike, rolled his trousers up to his thighs, his sleeves to his shoulder blades—to be as much of a savage as possible. He took his rifle, several rounds of ammunition, threw himself on the grass before there was any need of it, and wound himself along with the velocity and silence of a snake. Three shots brought the sharp-shooter down, when the scout returned perfectly exhilarated.—Ex.

Lemon Juice.

A physician writing to the London Lancet, says few people know the value of lemon juice. He says a piece of lemon bound upon a corn will cure it in a few days. It should be renewed night and morning. He says a free use of lemon juice and sugar will always relieve a cough. He says that most people feel poorly in the spring, and take medicine for relief, but if they would eat a lemon before breakfast every day for a week, with or without sugar, as they like, they would find it better than any medicine. He says that lemon juice used according to a given recipe, will cure consumption, even after all the doctors have given them up, as not to be benefited.

This is his prescription: Put a dozen lemons into cold water and slowly bring to a boil. Boil slowly until the lemons are soft, but not too soft, then squeeze until the juice is extracted, add sugar to your taste, and drink. In this way use one dozen lemons a day. If they cause pain, or loosen the bowels too much, lessen the quantity and use only five or six a day, until you are better, and then begin again with a dozen a day. After using five or six dozen, the patient will begin to gain flesh and enjoy food. Hold on to the lemons, and still use them freely several weeks more.

He says: We know that if any thing on earth can cure you, this will. We have had patients who were in the last stages of consumption, and given over by excellent physicians, who were restored to health by simply following these directions. Only prepare the lemons as here directed, use them freely for several weeks, and you will soon be well.

Another use of lemon is for a refreshing drink in summer, or in sickness at any time. Prepare as directed above, add water and sugar. But in order to have this keep well, after boiling the lemons, squeeze them and strain carefully, then to every half-pint of juice add one pound of loaf or crushed sugar, boil and stir a few minutes more, until the sugar is dissolved, then skim carefully and bottle. You will get more juice from the lemons by boiling them, also it keeps better.—Hans Doncom, in The Household.

The yellow covering on sugar-cured hams has been pronounced dangerous by the English authorities, and prosecutions have begun against dealers exposing such for sale. The coloring matter is said to be composed of chromate of lead, which is liable to get on the meat and produce poisonous effects when eaten.

Milking by Machinery.

(From the Reading Eagle.)

Hard labor is gradually being superseded by machinery in nearly every branch of industry. It is curious to mark the unlikely uses to which machinery may be applied. An ingenious inventor in the United States has recently patented a useful device in the shape of a cow-milking machine, which, it is said, will do all that can be done in milking by hand, faster and better, and will be of special service where cows have sore teats or are hard milkers. The apparatus consists essentially of a glass globe, large enough to hold an average yield of milk, which is connected by means of a flexible tube with an air pipe. Rising from the top of the globe are small pipes with metal tips. The mode of operation consists in suspending the globe underneath the animal to be milked, and inserting the tips of the small tubes in to the teats. A partial vacuum is then effected inside the globe by means of the air pump; and the milk thus drawn forth. The advantages claimed by the invention are that it prevents any loss of milk through spilling, it renders milk or straining pails unnecessary and prevents entrance of dirt. Finally, it can be easily manipulated by anybody.

Shad for the Upper Mississippi.

(From the St. Paul Press.)

Yesterday morning, by the 6 o'clock train, Mr. H. E. Quinn and Mr. C. W. Schuermann, both United States Fish Commissioners of Washington, arrived in St. Paul, bringing with them 100,000 shad, which they deposited in the Mississippi River, at the foot of Jackson street. These fish were brought all the way from South Hadley Falls, Mass., by these gentlemen, who had to sit up with them all night and change the water every two hours, and watch the temperature of the atmosphere, as at no time during all the days and nights they were on the road was the temperature allowed to go above 65° or below 60°. If the temperature had been allowed to get above or below these figures it would have been death to the fish. These two gentlemen took turns attending to this business of changing the water and watching the temperature. This they did for three days and nights, as they came over the road from South Hadley. As above stated, they arrived here at 6 o'clock yesterday morning and, without waiting, took the fish off the train and put them into the river. These fish, as they are called, are about one-quarter of an inch in length, and look like so many animated hairs. Looking down into the cans in which they came, all that can be seen is an apparently innumerable number of little black hairs, with two black dots at one end of each, the bodies were transparent. The journey of these gentlemen must be called a success, judging from the number and vigorous condition of the fry brought safely through the trip of three days and nights, and, considering the hot weather and distance traveled, great credit is due the gentlemen in charge for their care and attention, which results in success. They returned East yesterday.

How to Keep Well.

The remedy for summer diseases, by whatever name, is: Eat less. We do not mean that you shall starve yourselves, or deny yourself what you like best, for as a general rule, what you like best is best for you; you need not abandon the use of tea or coffee, or meat or anything else you like, but simply, eat less of them. Do not starve yourself, do not reduce the quantity of food to an amount which would scarcely keep a chicken alive, but make a beginning by not going to the table at all, unless you feel hungry; for if you once get there, you will begin to taste this and that and the other, by virtue of mustard, or syrup, or cake or something nice. Thus a fictitious appetite is waked up, and before you know it you have eaten a hearty meal. The second step toward the effectual prevention of all summer complaints, and the like is: Diminish the amount of food consumed at each meal, by one-fourth of each article. If you have taken two biscuits, or slices of bread, take one and a half; if you have taken two spoonfuls of rice, or hominy or cracked wheat, or grits or farina, take one and a half; if you have taken a certain or uncertain quantity of meat, diminish in proportion as the weather becomes warmer, until you have no unpleasant feelings of any kind after your meals, and until you have not eaten so much at one meal, but that when the next one comes, you shall feel decidedly hungry.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Discouraging to Native Talent.

(Burlington Hawkeye.)

An entomologist from New Hampshire who has been traveling through Northwestern Iowa for two weeks past, writes back to a New York paper that he has seen the grasshoppers washed into the Des Moines River until they formed a putrifying scum three inches thick. It is awfully discouraging to our native Iars to have this imported talent come out from the cultivated East and get away with them.

At Plattsmouth the hotel proprietors won't let the horny handed stranger enter the dining room unless he has on his coat and a collar. Whereat the yemen are indignant and talk back through the HERALD. Out here the farmers walk right into the hotels just as free as though they owned them and two waiters are assigned to each of them. Eastern farmers who don't care to bend to their aristocratic tavern keepers, should make a note of this and emigrate soon.—Ex.

Farmers Improve Your Stock.

ESSEX PIGS.

We were the first to introduce this very worthy variety of swine into this country—have tested them thoroughly and we are convinced they are by far the most valuable breed for the farmers of this country for the following reasons. Early maturity, quiet disposition, good mothers, and the very best breed in the world to cross with the large colored breeds, giving them beauty of form, improving their fattening qualities, and greatly improving the quality of the hams, which are not excelled by any other breed. Their color is black, the skin is perfectly smooth, and very thin and white, hence they have no scurf or skin disease which white hogs are apt to get in a black soft country, and they are not subject to cholera in common with other breeds. They are the largest of the small breeds, making from three to four hundred lbs in one year—sometimes reaching 600 or 700 pounds and can be fattened at any age. We have now a very choice lot of pigs from six different importations, and are prepared to make pigs properly for breeding, and warrant every pig pure Essex or no sale.
