Pigeons In Missouri.

The woods in Shannon, Oregon and Howell counties are full of pigeons which are being killed by the thousands for shipment to Eastern markets, says the St. Louis Republican. Picdmont, on the Arkansas division of the Iron Mountain railroad, is the shipping point, and from there are shipped every day from seven hundred to one thousand dozen of pigeons, bringing into the county from $600 to $800 net cash per diem. The birds are sent to Boston and New York, where they sell at $1.30 to $1.60 per dozen. The roosts of the pigeons are from sixty to eighty miles southwest from Piedmont, and the hunters go out in parties of from four to six, provided with wagons to bring in the game. The pigeons are continually moving toward the north, but their progress does not exceed eight, or, at the utlight they leave their roosts in almost innumerable numbers, and, after feeting at will during the day, repair to a roost a day's journey further on their way northward. The hunters watch their game settle down, and then range through the woods, looking up, and when a body of pigeons, settled on the limbs of a pine or cak is outlined against the sky, a half-dozen men fire at a signal in the mass. What pigeoss are not left on the ground fly away, and the hunters go on following until they get another opportunity for shooting. In the morning att hands are set at work to pick up the game and pre-pare for the next night's staughter.

Wheat Culture.

Wheat is one of the most extensively grown crops of the American farmer, and its importance as a product for export is well known, says D. Evans, Jr., in Ohio Farmer. The acreage devoted to wheat culture is simply immense and greatly increasing, though the average yield per acre in some sections of our country might be very materially increased, by a Letter selection of seed and by more care and attention to the preparation of the soil and the harvesting of the crop. In the selection of the seed, due reference must be made to the soil and the crimate of the particular section in which it is planted (sowed). Seed wheat, however, should be changed every two years, or at the farthest every three years, especially the white, heardness varieties. This has been our experience, and no doubt that of others, for we have found it to be a decided improvement to use new seed, even though it be brought from a distance of only a few miles. Lime in suitable quantities is invaluable in the production of a good wheat crop, as it checks any tendency to go too much to straw, at the same time turnishing the grain with food for its proper growth.

Military Pedestrianism.

Among the most famous of the world's walking matches are some of those recorded in military history, says the N. Y. dens and difficult ground were added to to those of time and space. The march of the heavily-armed Spartans in 490 B. C. from Lacedemon to Marathon, covering 150 miles of almost roadless country in three days, would have earned high comnaendation in an age of sporting papers. The consul Nero's march to the Metaurus to surprise the Carthag nians (201 B. C.) lasted two days and a night, with the slightest possible intermission, the soldiers taking food from the hands of the country-people, and eating it as they went. Hannibal's retreat from Zama upon Carthage brought him to Andrumetum, sixty three miles distant, between dawn and nightfall, the pursuing Romans accomplishing the same distance in even less time, Casar's Teuth Legion achieved a parallel feat in Uaul, while in heavy marching order. The Bernese Swiss, when summoned to aid those of Solcure in repeding an invasion, are said to have enswered the call so promptly that the newly-baked loaves which they carried with them were barely cold on arrival. Frederick the Great, on the hottest day of the terrible summer of 1760, had a kind of race with Marshal Daun for the occupation of an important post, both armies making such speed that 200 Prussians and IN THE CONCERT HALL. 300 Austrians dropped dead on the march from sheer exhaustion. Frederick's youger brother, Henry, during the same war, marched fifty hours, with only three in-tervening haits. Napoleon's "Old Guard" repeatedry made sixty miles in a day,during the great campaign of 1813; and one of the Russian regiments in Central Asia is stated, on good authority, to have accomprished seventy-eight. The similar exploits achieved during the Indian mutiny of 1857, and the American Civil War of 1861-'5, are too well known to need

Boys and Small Fruits.

Boys on farms, like boys in other places want spending money, and are often sorely troubled to obtain it. They scarceby like to ask their parents for money to buy articles that please their fancy, and they have few opportunities to work out, for when neighboring farmers wish to hire help there is plenty to work on the farms where they belong. Their best chance to earn money appears to be in cultivating some crop at home that requires small capital to engage in, a small amount for its production, but which produces a considerable amount of money. The small fruits are excellent in these respects. They may be set out at times when the soil is too wet to be worked to good advantage, and may be cultivated at odd hours when there is little to do in the fields. They require but a small amount of land, and produce more money from an acre than any farm crop.

Small fruits can generally be disposed of to better advantage in country villages, or even among neighboring farmers, than in large cities, as there is no expense for packages, transportation, or for selling. The country boy can take his own fruit to his customers, sell it by measure and pocket all the proceeds. As a rule small fruits sell for more in the country than in the city, although they pass through several hands in the latter place. Probably the most profitable fruits to raise are strawberries and grapes, although blackberries and raspberries sell well in their season. As a rule, currants and gooseberries are not profitable, as most gardens contain them. Strawberries offer many advantages over other small fruits. It costs little to get a start with them. A hundred plants set out in a rich place after the bearing season will produce a good crop the year after they are transinted. No implements are required for the cultivation except those found on

It takes but a small patch of land to produce fifty quarts of strawberies per day during the bearing season, and there are few places where they will not bring at least 10 cents per quart. By having late and early varieties, the strawberry season may be extended several weeks. There are few persons who will deny themselves strawberries if they are to be had. Grapes have some advantages over strawberries. They are not as perishable and may be transported long distances without injury. It costs more to get a start with grapes than with strawberries, and it takes much longer to bring the vines into bearing. Mature grapevines, however, require little care, and are almost certain to produce a crop every year. There is little trouble in keeping grapes till Thanksgiving and Christmas, when there is always a demand for them at good prices. With grapes and strawberries to tile, ose of any farmer boy can keep himsen supplied with money, and some "to lay up for a rainy day."

CATARR

IS IT CURABLE? THOSE who have suffered from the various and complicated forms of disease assumed by Catarrh, and have tried many physicians and remedies without relief or cure, await the answer to this question with considerable anniety. And well they may; for no disease that can be mentioned is so universally prevalent and so destructive to health as Catarrh. Bronchitis, Asthma, Congha, and serious and frequently fatal affections of the lungs follow, in many instances, a case of simple but neglected Catarrh. Other sympathetic affections such as deafness, impaired eyesight, and loss of sense of smell, may hereferred to as minor but nevertheless serious results of neglected Catarrh, bad enough in themselves, but as nothing compared with the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs likely to follow.

IT CAN BE CURED.

I can be cured. There is no doubt about it. The immediate relief afforded by Sanyord's Radical Curs for Cataran is but a slight evidence of what may follow a persistent use of this remedy. The hard, incrusted matter that has lodged in the nazal massages is removed with a few applications; the ulceration and inflammation subdued and healed; the entire membraneus linings of the head are cleansed and purified. Constitutionally its action is that of a powerful purifying agent, destroying in its course through the system the acid poison, the destructive agent in extarrhal diseases.

A COMPLICATED CASE. Gentlemen, — My case is briefly as follows: I have had Catarrh for the years, each year with increasing severity. For nine years, I had not breathed through one nostril. That droppings in the throat, a very bad congh, asthma so had as to be obliged to take a remedy for it at night before being able to lie down and sleep, and a constant dull pain in my head. My head was at times so full of catarrhal matter as to injure my sense of hearing and compel me to get up several times in the night to clear it and my throat before I could sleep. Every one of these distressing symptoms has disappeared under the use of not guite three bottles of Sanyons's Rantoll Cural, My hearing is fully restored. I have no sathmatic symptoms, no cough, no droppings in the throat, no headacha, and in every way better than I have been for years. I could feel the effects of the Cura on my uppetite, on my kidneys, and, in fact, every part of my system. What has been done in my case is wholly the effect of the Rantoll Cural. Very respectfully.
