

THE HERALD

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY AT PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA OFFICE: On Vine St., One Block North of Main, Corner of Fifth Street.

TERMS: In Advance: One copy, one year $2.00 One copy, six months $1.00 One copy, three months .50

FIRST National Bank

OF PLATTSMOUTH, NEBRASKA. TOOTLE, HANNA & CLARK. JOSEPH FITZGERALD, President. G. G. ROYER, Vice President.

BANKING BUSINESS.

Stocks, Bonds, Gold, Government and Local Securities. BOUGHT AND SOLD.

DRAFTS DRAWN.

Available in any part of the United States and in all the Principal Towns and Cities of Europe.

WILLIAM HEROLD, dealer in

DRY GOODS, CLOTHS, BLANKETS, FLANNELS, FURNISHING GOODS, GROCERIES OF ALL KINDS, BOOTS and SHOES, CLOSED OUT AT COST.

SAGE BROTHERS,

Dealers in HEATING STOVES, RANGES, PUMPS, GAS PIPES and Fittings, COAL STOVES, HEATING OR COOKING, MAKING AND REPAIRING.

LAND, LAND!

BEST FARMING LANDS IN NEBRASKA. FOR SALE BY B. & M. R. R. IN NEBRASKA.

FINE CIGARS,

TOBACCO'S. Special BREADS and sizes of CIGARS made to order, and satisfaction guaranteed.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS,

THE FRIEND OF ALL! HOLLOWAY'S PILLS, FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS. HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

Excelsior Barber Shop.

J. C. BOONE, Main Street, opposite Saunders House. HAIR CUTTING, SHAVING and SHAMPOOING.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

J. L. MCKEE, DENTIST and Homoeopathic Physician. T. B. WILSON, ATTORNEY AT LAW. R. H. WINDHAM, ATTORNEY AT LAW.

OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

State Directory. A. S. PADDOCK, U. S. Senator, Beatrice. ALVIN SANDERS, U. S. Senator, Omaha.

B. & M. R. R. Time Table.

FOR OMAHA FROM PLATTSMOUTH. Leaves 7:20 a. m. Arrives 4:35 a. m. FROM PLATTSMOUTH FOR OMAHA.

R. V. R. R. Time Table.

FOR OMAHA FROM PLATTSMOUTH. Leaves 7:20 a. m. Arrives 4:35 a. m. FROM PLATTSMOUTH FOR OMAHA.

C. S. & Q. R. R. TIME TABLE.

WESTWARD. Leave Chicago, Express 10:00 am. Leave Plattsouth, Express 5:00 am.

STREIGHT & MILLER,

Harness Manufacturers, SADDLES, BRIDLES, COLLARS, and all kinds of harness stock.

STREIGHT & MILLER,

FRUIT, CONFECTIONERY, AND GROCERY STORE, NUTS, CANDLES, TEAS, COFFEES.

STREIGHT & MILLER,

Remember the place opposite E. G. Dovey's on Lower Main Street, Plattsouth, Neb.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Up with the birds in the early morning— The dewdrops glisten like precious gems; Beautiful tints in the sky are dawning.

SHAME!

Miller on the "Bucoic Press." Those persons who for some insupportable purpose of providence are permitted to bray as editors of the bucoic press in Nebraska, were, at last accounts, lost among other specimens of the vegetable kingdom in Shaw's grounds at St. Louis.

CURED OF A WATER-CURE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Her boy at school must look like her. She says, as she patches their frocks and hose; For the world to look to ensure mothers.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Up with the birds in the early morning— The dewdrops glisten like precious gems; Beautiful tints in the sky are dawning.

SHAME!

Miller on the "Bucoic Press." Those persons who for some insupportable purpose of providence are permitted to bray as editors of the bucoic press in Nebraska, were, at last accounts, lost among other specimens of the vegetable kingdom in Shaw's grounds at St. Louis.

CURED OF A WATER-CURE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Her boy at school must look like her. She says, as she patches their frocks and hose; For the world to look to ensure mothers.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Up with the birds in the early morning— The dewdrops glisten like precious gems; Beautiful tints in the sky are dawning.

SHAME!

Miller on the "Bucoic Press." Those persons who for some insupportable purpose of providence are permitted to bray as editors of the bucoic press in Nebraska, were, at last accounts, lost among other specimens of the vegetable kingdom in Shaw's grounds at St. Louis.

CURED OF A WATER-CURE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Her boy at school must look like her. She says, as she patches their frocks and hose; For the world to look to ensure mothers.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Up with the birds in the early morning— The dewdrops glisten like precious gems; Beautiful tints in the sky are dawning.

SHAME!

Miller on the "Bucoic Press." Those persons who for some insupportable purpose of providence are permitted to bray as editors of the bucoic press in Nebraska, were, at last accounts, lost among other specimens of the vegetable kingdom in Shaw's grounds at St. Louis.

CURED OF A WATER-CURE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Her boy at school must look like her. She says, as she patches their frocks and hose; For the world to look to ensure mothers.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Up with the birds in the early morning— The dewdrops glisten like precious gems; Beautiful tints in the sky are dawning.

SHAME!

Miller on the "Bucoic Press." Those persons who for some insupportable purpose of providence are permitted to bray as editors of the bucoic press in Nebraska, were, at last accounts, lost among other specimens of the vegetable kingdom in Shaw's grounds at St. Louis.

CURED OF A WATER-CURE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Her boy at school must look like her. She says, as she patches their frocks and hose; For the world to look to ensure mothers.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE FARMER'S WIFE.

Joel Newman decided that he could not be a farmer. His father was devoted to agriculture, and seemed to like the business; but that was no reason why he (Joel) should adopt that branch of industry as a profession.

THE HERALD.

ADVERTISING RATES. PER ANNO: One year $2.00 Six months $1.00 Three months .50

NUMBER 10.

TERMS: $2.00 a Year.

Little's Living Age.

The numbers of the Living Age for the weeks ending May 10 and 17, respectively, contain the following articles: Memoirs and Character of Sir John Lubbock; Biography, Travel and Sport, Blackwood; Residual Phenomena, Fraser; Court Life; Theology; Miscellaneous; The Umbrella Bird, Hatter's Gazette; Science and Faith, Sir A. Panizzari; Henry James J. S. Lord of American Character, and Earlham Motors, Boardman; Uphill Work, and Historical Casuality, Saturday Review; with further chapters of Jean Ingelow's "Sarah also Rejoice"; and "Boatman's Hierarchy, a Tale about Priests; and among other poetry, Tennyson's "Defense of Lockwood."

A Special Offer to the Readers of This Paper.

For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,000 pages a year, the subscription ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send an American Lexicon, $4 monthly or weekly with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Little & Co., publishers.

$7.00 FOR 63 CENTS.

The American Diamond Dictionary, containing 30,000 words, orthography, pronunciation and definitions according to the best English and American Lexicographers, illustrated with nearly 200 engravings; satisfies the wants of the scholar and at the same time is just what a plain man requires for his needs. It is the best of the best dictionary ever printed. Contains 700 double column pages. Superbly bound in cloth and gilt. Type clear and handsome. Sent by express, or by mail, on receipt of $7.00 in advance, or $1.00 per month in advance. This great offer is good for thirty days only, and is made solely for the purpose of increasing circulation. But two dictionaries will be sent to one address. This appears but once. Order now. Send silver, currency or 3-cent postage stamps. Address: American Book Company, Rockland, Mass.

A Great Literary Work.

A work of every lover of good literature wants at constant command, because, while it is superlatively attractive and interesting in itself, it is also a key and index to the best of English literature, enabling one to see and judge for himself what authors and books are most desirable for him to read—such as the publication of Chambers's Cyclopaedia of English Literature. In its nearly 3,000 pages it gives biographies of all noted British and American authors from the earliest times to the present, with classic and characteristic selections from their writings, thus being a concentration of the best productions of modern literature. It is published in eight hands and beautiful 10mo volumes, at prices so low as to seem rarely attainable to most book buyers, viz.: in paper, complete, $2.00; cloth, $3.00; half morocco, $4.75; half morocco, the four volume edition, $4.75. From these low rates a discount of 10 per cent is allowed to those ordering before June 1, and a further discount of 10 per cent when ordered in clubs of five or more. It is not sold by dealers or agents, but only to buyers, direct, by the publishers. Address: American Book Company, 35 Beekman street, New York, who will send specimen pages, &c., free on request.

It is said that Germany will soon begin the coinage of a large amount of silver.

Judge Davis, United States Senator from Illinois, is understood to be a really wealthy man, the figures being over a million. He is a man of large frame, commanding presence, and full of non-sensical and grand ideas—as a perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that he had not "taken to the tall timber." His judgment of human nature was confirmed. For the farmer appeared at the appointed time, and he was as perfectly fearless man, as the following anecdotes will attest: A well-to-do farmer was once convicted before him of having counterfeited United States money. He was fined with the intention of passing them. Before pronouncing sentence Judge Davis asked him if he had arranged his affairs so that he could pay the fine. The farmer replied that he had no money, but he would give him a note for $100,000. The farmer replied that the conviction was a surprise to him, and nothing was in order, but that he could still pay the fine. The judge laughed at the idea of the farmer being able to counterfeits $100,000. Judge Davis insisted that