Captain O'Rourke says the "Rebs" took one good gold watch and chain from him when they put him in "Libby prison" which he never saw again; now a lot of thieves relieve him of the one he brought in Washington, on his release, to take the place of that one. Hard lines on the "Cap".

PERSONAL.
Our readers must bear with us this week for any lack of news and reading matter as we have had so much else to look after. Next week we shall pitch into the old HERALD again with a vim and if anybody says Carpenter, Mason or Painter to us—"letter as he look a leedle out."

PERSONAL.
The Post Office was moved up on Saturday and the Captain has a very nice room of it. Our down town friends feel rather sad and we don't blame them. Phil Young also moves with the Post Office of course and will be found ready, willing, lively and full of business as always, at his new post, on and after this date.

PERSONAL.
George Fairfield, and son Mac, and R. L. Powell, returned from the Survey Sunday. George has seen Doe, Middleton and lots and slathers with big things out there, and looks as happy as a sunburst as a French vintager. He reports the whole country west of Sidney flooded and says we know nothing of rain here.

PERSONAL.
J. P. Young wishes to announce to the citizens of Plattsmouth and Cass County that he has removed his entire stock of goods into the new Post Office stand, in Fitzgerald Block, ready for business as usual, where Phil will be pleased to see all his old friends and customers, besides many new ones. Thanking them for their past esteemed favors and patronage, and hoping by fair and honest dealings and low prices to retain their valued patronage in the future as in the past.

PERSONAL.
As Phil Young progresses with his usual good taste, in arranging his new store room, the nicer it looks, and the more convincing does it appear that he will not regret the move. The room is lighter, showing off his fine stock so much better than it hardly seems the same store. But when you see Phil and "Soda Bob," you'll know you have found the "County renowned" P. O. News Depot. Everybody goes there daily.

A party of our Sportsmen are going out to Kearney for a few days of sport with the chickens, on the 18th of August, consisting of the following named: Dr. H. Livingston, L. D. Bennett, Capt. O'Rourke, S. M. Chapman, Sam. Long, Gen'l Smith, W. D. Jones, U. V. Mathews. It will take daily 140 lbs. of powder, 40 lbs. of shot and 150 boxes of traps to load all the stragglers they expect to use.

Burglary.

Last Friday night a regular onslaught of burglars was made on the town. A lot of "crooks" evidently lit down on us and meant to go through the whole camp.

They entered Capt. O'Rourke's house and stole a handsome gold watch of the Captain's and also one belonging to a relative of Mrs. O'Rourke's, Mrs. Gilmore, who was visiting them from Kentucky.

The same night Hon. R. B. Windham's house was entered and some $35 in money and a set of studs and sleeve buttons captured; besides some clothing which was afterwards found at Chapman Wright's. Getting hungry they paddled over to Chapman Wright's, pulling the tacks out of the wire screen in the basement. Mrs. Wright worked up and spoke, this frightened them, but not before they had helped themselves plentifully to food "with-tals." The same night Dr. Richmond's office was entered and a coat taken which was found by Felix O'Neil near the Brewery a few days after.

On Saturday night George Leving's house was the scene of a raid, but getting frightened here they only upset things and hauled matters about and left in a hurry. Our people are fairly waked up to this thing now and active steps must be taken.

With the condition of the city finances no more police can be hired; but a private subscription has been circulated and no doubt more force will be at once added. No property is safe as it is going and every citizen should be to some extent a guard and all suspicious and unknown characters reported and made to give an account of themselves.

"Let Israel Pitch Their Tents." The Lincoln District Camp-meeting, under the supervision of Prof. A. G. White, will be held in the grove near Mr. Roberts', about midway between Ashland and South Bend, beginning the 13th of August and continuing a week.

Persons wishing to spend a week in the leafy grove, away from the hurry and bustle of everyday life, and at the same time be entertained from day to day by the best pulpit talent of the State, (this combining social pleasure and recreation with spiritual light and Holy communion with God), are cordially invited to attend.

The "State Tabernacle," will be on the grounds to overshadow the assembled worshippers.

The committee of arrangements will spare no pains to make it a time of refreshment both to body and soul. Let all come up to this "Feast of Weeks," and render thanks for the abundant harvest, for freedom from the cyclone's devastation, and the Death Angel's plague.

Further notice will be given of railroad routes, transportation, board, &c.

Miles the Supposed Horse Thief Haunts Himself. The old man arrested sometime ago and held for stealing Patterson's horses, and who gave his name as Miles, hung Saturday in the County Jail, on Saturday last, about four o'clock. At 3:30 Marshal Murphy was at the jail and everything was all right; the old man asked for a book to read and the Marshal got him one, a novel of some sort. A little after four, as we were going into Judge Sullivan's office, the Marshal ran by saying, "Miles has hung himself, come over some of you." Mr. Jonathan Wise, Judge Sullivan and ourself ran over in a few moments, we found the Marshal, Deputy Sheriff Ashley and Henry Miller; Ashley and Miller had just cut him down and carried the body out into the front of the Jail room. It was yet warm, but no sign of a pulse or heart beat. Ashley tried for sometime to force breathing; but it was of no avail and all that was left of the curious, cautious, reticent old man was cold, cold clay.

The acting coroner Sheriff Hyers summoned a jury in the evening who found a verdict in accordance with the above facts, viz: that he strangled himself to death, and Sunday morning he was buried.

Co. Commissioner Samuel Richardson was present a few moments after the alarm and at the jail. A day before his death it was reported that he planned an attempt to kill the jailer, (a full account of which was given in the Daily here) at least Dr. Warren said so, and on the strength of this, Murphy has been more severe with the old man. This with his constant fears of mob law (for some reason or other) no doubt caused his insane destruction of himself. He tore up his shirt to make the rope and fastened it to one of the ventilators, being obliged to almost kneel in order to choke; he must have been determined to die and die he did.

A young lady walking out, came to a ditch and asked a youth on the other side, what the name of the river was that swept along by her. He replied "Chockoackoiaoyogin-mochiowagawaythonbenkiefel-eremthodragolawaythentlonity." And she believed it.

AMY G. BARCOCK, Teacher.

EDUCATIONAL.

Our Normal Institute. The Normal Institute, now in session in our city, increases in numbers and interest as the term lengthens. There are now in attendance between forty and fifty well awake, intelligent and enthusiastic teachers from all parts of this county, several from adjoining counties and a few from other states.

The term being so long they are able to take up the different subjects by topical lessons, and prepare their recitations the same as in school. As mentioned in the circular, two classes are formed, one for second grade work; the other for first. Eight have taken up the first grade studies and are making thorough work of them. The rest are on second grade work. Superintendent Martindale is in attendance all the time, and conducts the arithmetic, algebra and history classes.

The work for each succeeding day is outlined and typically arranged on the blackboard by the instructors, and the teachers are required to prepare the next day's lessons on the topics mentioned. By this means a variety of text books, various opinions, a comparison of authorities, and the most accurate and definite conclusions and facts are secured.

Mr. Love has the classes in philosophy, physiology, geometry, geography, grammar, drawing and reading. In these studies as far as necessary and convenient some good author is selected, and his text followed as closely as possible. However, most of the recitations or topics of these studies are scheduled on the board, and the teachers are required to prepare definite and thorough lessons on the divisions or topics assigned. The recitations are conducted so as to secure accuracy, thoroughness and enthusiasm in the work. The same subjects are presented to the classes differently at stated times, and the teachers are required to select their preference. They must select that manner and method, which most effectually impresses them, and by which they are most perfectly taught. By this means the normal method is secured.

Mrs. Love conducts the botany class, penmanship and orthography. The different divisions of these studies are similarly classified and presented.

We are most favorably impressed with the class of teachers in attendance. Surely they are far above the majority of western teachers in appearance, intelligence and ability. They are neither noticeably young or old, but in the full vigor of life, and enthusiastic in their work. That timidity or backwardness common in county institutes is not a drawback to this.

During next week the Institute is to be favored by lectures by Prof. Aughey, of this state, and Prof. Piper, of Chicago; and on the week following, lectures by other educators will be given. These lectures are free to all members of the Institute, but a small fee of ten or fifteen cents will be charged outsiders, to defray expenses. We trust these lectures will be well attended. Our citizens should in every way encourage such institutes in our midst, as they so far advance our city at home and abroad.

DIED. FAIRFIELD.—On July 25, 1879, of congestive cholera, Frank, son of Mrs. Lena Fairfield, aged six months and six days.

Her little life was like a new born star that illumined the horizon in which she lived. In the brightest, happiest moment of all her voyage, she was lost in chaos, and that dreary sleep that precedes her little eyelids down. Her tiny cherub laugh drew every fraternal fond care, and even in her latest breath, she used the unshed breath of death, to touch the air of living people. She died in the arms of the loved and loving, passing away as gentle as the autumn winds would tarry a withered leaf, and while the shadows of life were falling toward the West and stars had reached a half a span. Bidding with flowers, they are budding still. By the budding twigs, and swelling leaves; the spreading grass, and the spreading forest; by the songs of birds, and the sweet perfumes of gentle flowers, by the throbs of life, and all the sweet influences of nature we live, her sacred dust adieu.

Honored and Blessed.

When a board of eminent physicians and chemists announced the discovery that by combining some few well known valuable remedies, the most wonderful medicine was produced, which would cure the most stubborn of diseases that most all other remedies could be dispensed with, many were very skeptical; but proof of its merits by actual trial has dispelled all doubt, and to-day the discoverers of that great medicine, Iron Bitters, are honored and blessed by all as benefactors.
