

Call for Republican State Convention.

The Republican electors of the State of Nebraska are hereby called to meet in State Convention at Columbus, Mo., on Wednesday, the 15th day of May, 1880, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing delegates to the National Convention to be held at Chicago, on the 23rd day of June next, to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States, and to transact such other business as may properly come before them.

It is recommended first, that no proxies be admitted to the Convention except such as are held by persons residing in the Counties from which the proxies are given.

Second, that no Delegate shall represent an absent member of the delegation unless authorized by authority from the County Convention, or in possession of proxies from regularly elected delegates.

Landlord Thorne, who has taken the "W. W. House" in the town of the same name is just settling up some good hash, now-a-days, we tell you, and runs a good hotel, for once in W. W. When he gets fixed up a little, he will have as good a stopping place as there is in the County.

Complaint is made that the readers of the HERALD do not get their papers promptly at Three Groves. We make every endeavor to have the paper out on time always, and we would ask postmasters and others, handling the mails, to please be careful and deliver them promptly.

The Creta Union has a list of papers in the State headed, "For Blaine," "For Grant," &c., and finally this heading:

"WAITING FOR THE CAT TO JUMP: PLATTSMOUTH HERALD." This paper was dated May 7th, and Bro. Wells, you must either reply your exchanges very carelessly or care less for the truth than any editor we ever "buttermilked" with.

We give space to the following which we have just received from the Supervisor of Census for this district: ED. HERALD:—Please call attention to the following facts in your paper, and impress upon the citizens of your County the necessity for an accurate collection of all statistical information required by law.

Two Little Ones Gone. On Monday of this week occurred the sad death of two children of Mr. and Mrs. Carrigan within a few hours of each other. John, the oldest, aged 5, and the other, with the remaining children of the family four in number, with measles, and afterward whooping cough, his constitution being unable to bear the continued strain of both.

Colorado Excursion. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company will commence on May 1, 1880, and continue during the season, the sale of first-class excursion tickets from Chicago and other points to Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo, by six different routes.

Luella. There has been another death in our vicinity, that of J. S. Hopkins, was buried last Wednesday, at Stove Creek, Dr. Kenaston, officiating. She had not been in our neighborhood long, but was well liked by those who got acquainted with her.

Rock Bluffs—William Lloyd, W. H. Royal, Thomas Holmes, W. J. Hesser, William Morrow, Ben Ernst, Anderson Root, George Berger, Euse Berger, A. L. Root and Wm. Jenkins.

Personal. We would be glad to have supported the editor of the HERALD for a delegate, but politically he happens to be in the wrong pew. Our very special school meeting came off Saturday night and lasted until the wee sma's hours of the Sabbath. There were no lives lost, but there was some very queer legislation done, that laid our late session at Lincoln in the shade.

Fred, Let's Shake. It will be remembered that Mr. Nye of the Omaha News, made some remarks about being the agent of the Utes one, and called the New York Sun a "Republican paper."

We ran a moderate anti-Blaine paper, carried our own war solid and went to the County Convention as a candidate for Columbus also. We got 49 votes out of 109 in a convention that finally elected a solid Blaine delegation to Columbus; but our 49 votes, didn't do us any more good in getting there than Fred's one, so we are even—only we have the laugh on our side, rather.

At W. W. We could not help noticing the growth of Weeping Water during our late visit there. Convention day. The Railroad surveys there, whether they mean business at once or not, have already had their effect on the town, and new-comers are dropping in every day.

This State Tournament at Nebraska City, this week, was the best attended of any yet held. A very fine body of men represent the various shooting clubs in the State. All passed off finely, and the enjoyment of the boys was immense; the only drawback being the weather—hot, dusty and windy.

Lincoln won the Plattsmouth "State Cup." Bogardus and his son were there and did some excellent shooting. Many visitors from all over the State were present.

The Plattsmouth team were Smith, Jones, Livingston and Straight in the State Cup shoot; but Chapman, Long, Agnew, Mathews, and all the boys took a hand at glass balls and other matches. Lack of space prevents a more extended notice now.

Of the Counties holding nominations last week that we have seen the result, Lancaster gives Grant delegates; Otoe, Blaine; Nemaha, Grant; York, Grant; Seward, Grant; leaving at present a majority for Grant.

Cass County Republican Convention. The Republican County Convention of Cass County met at Weeping Water, May 8th, in pursuance to a call of the Central Committee.

Weeping Water Notes. It is now two weeks since my last letter to you. We have had some rain since then, but not sufficient to do much good.

After dinner, the Convention being called to order, D. H. Wheeler read the report of the Committee on Credentials, showing the following-named delegates entitled to seats in the Convention.

Second Ward—Geo. S. Smith, J. W. Johnson, J. B. Strode, Geo. W. Fairchild and W. H. Newell, proxy for M. L. White.

Luella. There has been another death in our vicinity, that of J. S. Hopkins, was buried last Wednesday, at Stove Creek, Dr. Kenaston, officiating. She had not been in our neighborhood long, but was well liked by those who got acquainted with her.

Our very special school meeting came off Saturday night and lasted until the wee sma's hours of the Sabbath. Golden Wedding. One of those beautiful little episodes that mark the boundary lines along the pathway of life occurred on Chicago Avenue, Wednesday evening, May 13, 1880. We allude to the celebration of the Golden Wedding, or 50th Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Todd.

Fifty years, just think of it, not far from that time Fulton was "settling" round the fire watching the tea-kettle and trying to hatch out a steanboat that would run up the Hudson. The telegraph was almost practically unknown, the lines being short indeed that were in operation and the instruments very imperfect by the side of those of today.

This great and wonderful West, where Uncle Todd and wife now rest so happily, was "The Great American Desert." California was an unknown land, the Rocky Mountains a huge barrier of inaccessible and frightful precipices, where the lion roared and the whangdoorie was supposed to mourn for its young, and the whole Northwest was yet a "Territory."

The Rev. Mr. Mullis made a short address with prayer and was followed by Mr. D. H. Wheeler, who with a few appropriate remarks, presented the gifts brought by the various friends. Among them were a handsome butter dish, from Hon. D. H. Wheeler and wife; gold lined spoon holder, from C. H. Parmele & Wife; pair of gold spectacles, Messrs. G. S. Smith, Marshall, Sage and MacMurphy and their wives; a beautiful anniversary card handsomely framed, gold ring, bouquet holder, shirt studs, sleeve buttons, breast pin and an easy chair from members of the family, Mr. and Mrs. Todd smiled their thanks, seated beneath the evergreen and white blossom arch from which was suspended the typical marriage bell, and Mr. Todd responded in a few appropriate words; refreshments were served and the pleasant party separated with many cordial wishes for future prosperity on both sides.

The following list is a pretty correct statement of the results of the various conventions throughout the state as far as they have been held:

Eight Mile Grove—J. F. Polk, M. D. Polk, Samuel Parker, John Henning and J. H. Becker. Louisville—J. V. Glover, A. B. Fox, B. G. Hooper, D. D. Martindale, W. C. Whitford, Capt. Howell and B. G. Hooper, proxy for J. T. A. Hoover.

Center Precinct—G. M. Flowers, Peter Coon, William Carlisle, R. G. Gordon, J. M. Woodford and Simeon Recter. Weeping Water—B. C. Yeomans, J. M. Beardsley, S. W. Beardsley, J. W. Thomas, M. A. Butler, A. A. Barden, Timothy Clark, C. C. Haddell, D. D. Johnson and D. C. Flemming.

On motion of M. M. Butler the Convention then proceeded to ballot for ten delegates to represent Cass county in the State Convention, to be held at Columbus, May 19th, 1880.

On motion of G. W. Fairchild the Chair appointed two sets of tellers, as follows, to-wit: Joe McCaig and Dr. Hobbs, E. R. Butler and H. M. Bushnell.

On motion of George S. Smith, the vote was taken by a call of the precincts. Nominations being in order, twenty-one candidates were placed in nomination, the two ballots resulting as follows (those elected on the first ballot marked with a *; those elected on the second with a †); 109 votes were cast, making 55 necessary to a choice:

On motion, the foregoing eight delegates were declared the unanimous choice of the Convention.

The second ballot was then taken for the remaining two delegates, which resulted in the election of J. F. Polk and H. E. Palmer.

The following resolution was read by J. E. Morrison and its adoption moved, with second, to-wit: Resolved, That James G. Blaine is the first choice of the Republicans of Cass County for President.

After an animated discussion, in which several speakers said they regarded the resolution as equivalent to instructions, and among them Blaine men who opposed instructions, and it being apparent that the delegates elected were solid for Blaine, the resolution was considered unnecessary, and, on motion, was laid on the table.

cake in its appearance and flavor was a triumph of culinary skill. Those twin boys of Alf's were there too. Alf said they were bound to go, just to see those pretty twin sisters; they think considerable of them, they do.

Then, those presents to the bride and groom were splendid. They honored your humble friend "Trixy" with a special invitation to see those presents to-day. Altogether they were a gorgeous array. I presume there must have been several hundred of them. There was almost everything needed by a young couple making their debut into married life, from a box of blue to an armchair, and a bottle of Mrs. W's soothing syrup.

dictionary, but the moral of this arithmetic is first rate: "Dis maw'nin' ez I war walkin' out 'mong de sunflowers in de back yard," began brother Gardner, at the last meeting of the Lime Kilt Club, "Missus Darius Green, de white man, come 'long, an' dere war a powerful sad look on his face, ez he leann'd ob de fence an' said: Missus Gardner, dis sufferin' hez got to come to a cease!" "Hez you got de shakes an' chills?" I axed.

"Wuss dan dat, Missus Gardner, I'ze workin' de long week for ten shillin' a day, an' whar de money goes I can't tell. De ole woman wants new clothes, de chillin' want dis an' dat, de rent runs behin', an' I'ze gittin' desperit." "Shoo, now! but let's make some figgers on de fence," I tole him. "Now, den, you chaw 'bout backer?" "Yes, I chaw 'bout ten cents' wort a day."

"Dat's seventy cents a week. An' you drink lager?" "Well, ob course, I drink a glass now an' den—may be fifteen cents a week." "An' dat's seventy-five cents moah, sah. What 'ye do on Sundays?" "Go up to de beer garden."

"I guess so—may be two of 'em." "Say twelve shillin', an' dat makes two dollars an' sixty-five cents per week. I reckon you frow away at least five dollars every week, sah." "Frow it away?" "Yes, sah, dat money would pay your rent an' buy your foun?" "But a fellow must have some comfort."

"De same, sah. De greatest comfort in de world an' to see de rent paid up, de family dressed up, de table loaded down, an' de ole woman able to go to church. You frow away free dollars every week, sah, an' den go round a cussin' de times, de wedder, an' de man who hez saved his money."

Gen'l'm'n, dat white man called me an' ole black fool, and a dog-staler, but dat didn't alter de case a bit. He is frowin' away one-third of his weekly wages, an' den blowin' round dat he's gettin' desperit an' ready to head a riot. Doan't let me heah any member o' dis club spinnin' dat yarn, kase if he does, dar's gwine to be a committee of investigashun, an' dat committee won't whitewash wurf a cent.—[Detroit Free Press.

The Cause of London Fogs. Dr. Frankland has lately conducted an investigation into the cause of the persistence and irritating character of the fogs which afflict the large towns of England, a subject which is rather opportune just now. The fogs are not always a sign of dampness, as they occur in comparatively dry weather. Dr. Frankland has ascertained that their persistence in a dry medium is due to a coating of coal oil, derived from coal smoke, upon the particles of the minute particles of water which compose fog; the oleaginous coating of finely pulverized the evaporation of the water. The oleaginous liquids are discharged into the atmosphere in large quantities during the combustion of bituminous coal in fires. Dr. Frankland therefore concludes that by the substitution of smokeless coal, coal gas, or bituminous coal, town fogs would cease. This would be a consummation devoutly to be wished; but considering the social interests which are concerned in the supply and use of bituminous coals, and the national preference for blazing fires, the reformer is not likely to come from the adoption of some of the as yet undiscovered means of heating. But much might be done if the gas companies were more enterprising. Apart from the incalculable waste of money to be used in heating with gas, which is equally effective for that purpose, but far cheaper, could be obtained. Nor would it be requisite to have a double set of mains, as there are several methods by which such gas could be rendered illuminating at a cheap rate.—[The Architect.

The story is told at Williamsport, Pa., of a young man who went to the Black Hills to seek his fortune, and who came back to his home in the East, doing well, but added: "I will be home on Wednesday evening. Meet me at dark just out of town, and bring a blanket or what you call a trousseau with you. I have a bit."
