MASON & HAMLIN

ORGAN'S.

(From Ole Bull, the world-renowned violinist.)

I have pleasure in testifying to the excellence of your Cabinet Organs, which seem to me to excel all instruments of the class I have ever seen. Their fine quality of tone is in contrast with that of other reed organs, and the automatic swell, yox humana, resonant cases, and other recent improvements are so admirable as to greatly increase the artistic value and usefulness of the instrument.

A Monkey's Babies.

About six months ago, an admiring friend of Louis Seidler, the South-side saloonist, presented him with a pair of Marmosette monkeys. They are strange looking animals, and have always attracted attention. They are natives of Brazil, and are a cross between a W. H. Pickins, one frame residence, monkey and a squirrel, having the color two stories high, 18x24, with brick and fur of the latter and the face of the former, in size they are between a small monkey and a large squirrel.
