A Book for Boys and Girls. Of this book Charles Budly Warne

"In the bound volume of St. Nicholas with its glory of red and gold, we have a permanent addition to the literature of the young. Never before has so much literary and and artistic talent co-operated in the service of children. It is a continual educator of their tasts and of their hanor and courage. I do not see hew it can be made any better, and if the children don't like it, I think it is time to begin to change the kind of children in this country."

"A MASSIPIORET COSCEPTION, WORDSAPUL-LT CABBIBS OUT."

Imped Houthly.

The necessity of a popular medium for the ation of the productions of our great artists, has always been recogni and many attempts have been made to meet the want, The successive failures which so invariably followed earh attempt in this country to establish as art journal, did not prove the indifference of the people of Amerles to the claims of high art. So soon as a proper appreciation of the want and an prices. once rallied with enthusiasm to its support, and the result was a great artistic and commercial trismph—THE ALDINE

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the simely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest sprimens of artistic skill, in black and white, Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and bessty of THE ALDINE will be most apeciated after it is bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivale of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a untque and original conception—alone and unapproached absolutely without competition in price or character. The prosessor of a complete volume can not duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost : and then, there is the chromo,

The national feature of THE ALDINE must be taken in no narrow sense. True art is cosmopolitan. While THE ALDINE is a strictly American institution, it does not confine itself entirely to the reproduction of native art. Its mission is to cultivate a broad and appreciative art taste, one that will discriminate only on grounds of intrincie merit. Thus, while placing bef re the patrom of THE ALDINE, as a leading characteristic, the productions of the most noted American artists, attention will always be given to specimens from foreign masters, giving its subscribers all the pleasure and and instruction obtainable from home or foregin sources.

The artistic illustration of American scenery, original with THE ALDINE, is an important feature, and its magnificent plater are of a size more appropriate to the satisfac tory treatment of details than can be afforded by any inferior page. The judicious interspersion of land scape, marine, figure, and animal subjects, sustain an unabated interest, impossible where the scope of the work confines the artist too closely to a single style of subject. The literature of THE ALDINE is a light and graceful accompaniment, worthy of the artistic features, with only such technical disquisitions as do not 3 (0) only such technical disquisitions as do not 2 00 interfere with the popular interest of the PREMIUM FOR 1875.

Every subscriber for 1875 will receive beautiful portrait, in oil colors, of the same noble dog whose picture in a former issue attracted so much attention.

"MAN'S UNSELFISH FRIEND" will be welcome in every home. Everybody loves such a dog, and the portrait is executed so true to the life, that it seems the veritable presence of the animal itself. The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage tells that his own New foundland dog (the finest in Brooklyn) barks at it! Although so natural, no one who sees this premium chromo will have the slightest
