Under the present basis of representation Nebraska is entitled to four Congressmen.

Henry Schlenker the murderer of Florence Booth, who was to have graced the gallows at Lincoln on the 13th of June, was granted a reprieve by Gov. Nance until July 1st, for the purpose of allowing a re-hearing in the case.

The Gazette of Hastings says that Hon. Wigton of the Journal received remuneration for apologizing for Olive, and the Hon. W. says he did not receive any remuneration. Neither one know what they are talking about—why don't they say remuneration.

The Nebraska State Fish commissioners were appointed by the Governor on the 9th inst. They are, W. L. May, President, Fremont; Dr. R. R. Livingston, Plattsmouth, and H. S. Kaley, Red Cloud. The Governor is to be commended for the excellent judgement he displayed in selecting these gentlemen.—Ex.

An editor is described as a man who is liable to errors of grammar, toothache, typographical errors, and lapse of memory. He has twenty-five thousand people watching to catch him tripping—a man of sorrow and acquainted with grief, poorly paid, poorly estimated and yet envied by some of the great men he has made.

—He waltzed out of the front door, followed by a washboard and two bars of soap; and, as he straightened himself, and walked firmly down the street, he remarked, "A man must draw the line somewhere, or he can't be boss of his own house; and I'll be hanged if I'll carry more than one tub of water for no washing, and there ain't a woman that can make me do it."

The recent law in Kansas compelling physicians to have a diploma from a medical college, and pass examination before a State Board appointed for that purpose, before they are allowed to practice in the State, is causing many a professed physician to quit down his sign, as the penalty is quite large. This is a good law and will be the means of ridding the country of a good many quacks. We need such a law in Nebraska.

Prof. Hardesty, says the Leavenworth Press, has accomplished the wonderful feat of walking across the Missouri River on the surface of the water, by means of "water shoes," invented by himself. The question now arises, is Mr. Hardesty really the inventor of the "water shoes," or were they known to our forefathers and used by Christ when he walked upon the troubled waters of the sea of Galilee.

An inquisitive individual wants to know where Cain obtained his wife, and who peopled that city that he built in the Land of Nod. Cain is dead, and that is a family matter with which we cannot meddle. This idle curiosity concerning the domestic affairs of a deceased person is reprehensible and calculated to violate the sanctity of home life. The letter has been mailed to Bob Ingersoll. If Cain made any mistakes, Bob will expose them.—Johnson Co. Journal.

Those who contemplate purchasing nursery stock should first write to Mr. E. F. Stephens, Supt., of the Crete Nurseries, for their new catalogue. The fruit and ornamental trees, shrubbery etc., sold by this nursery is adapted to this climate, and is consequently more apt to live and thrive than trees shipped from other states. The following in regard to this nursery we clip from the Nuckolls Co. Herald:

"The Crete Nurseries, under the management of Mr. E. F. Stephens, has gained at home and abroad a wide reputation for dealing fairly and liberally with its patrons, and furnishing the most vigorous and healthy stock that has been distributed in the state. Indeed, it is seldom, that the most noted eastern nurseries were ever known to have the care bestowed upon them that is yearly given to the stock in this establishment. None but fruit adapted to this climate, after long trial, is offered to our citizens, and then they are trees perfectly fresh, sound and healthy.

Webster County Teachers Association. June 16th, 1879. Ed. CHIEF—The teachers association held at Blue Hill on the 14th inst., was thinly attended in the forenoon, and no business was done. There was a fair attendance in the afternoon however, and an interesting session was held. The exercises were opened by a lesson in U. S. History, conducted by A. L. Barton, dealing with the sayings of great men, and the circumstances under which they were called forth.

A lively discussion arose upon the methods of teaching History in which most teachers who spoke agreed that it is not desirable to confine pupils too closely to text books, but to study by topic, and require them to make out a synopsis of the parts or periods of history studied.

After a recess of five minutes, Miss Dixon gave a reading; "Curfew shall not ring to-night."

H. S. Hampton read a paper on Botany, urging that its use in the schools would develop the faculties of observation, and teach the pupils to classify and systematize his knowledge. Next followed an essay by Miss Moore, in which she set forth the necessity of co-operation between parents and teacher. A couple of declamations were well rendered by two of Miss Moore's pupils, after which the subject of reading was discussed at some length.

Mr. Pope recommended the plan of using some well known journal or magazine, and of changing occasionally, for variety of style and matter. The plan was well received and must commend itself to the judgment of thinking teachers.

The next association will be held at Red Cloud, July 12th. Committee on program A. L. Barton, Miss Laura Dixon, and Miss Lydia Monger.

H. S. Hampton, Sec'y. Protom. South Guide Rock. June 24th, 1879. Ed. CHIEF.—We take special interest in recommending the raising of Osage for hedge in this country. D. Volter and others of this community have hedges in splendid growing condition. Nearly one half of Mr. V's hedge of two years growth would already turn stock.

We are indebted to James Watt for the following information in regard to preparing ground and setting hedge.

Break the hedge rows not later than the 15th of July say two rods wide, so as to leave a dead furrow as near as possible where you want the hedge fence. In the fall stir it about 2 inches deeper than it was, again leaving a dead furrow where it was left in breaking. Roll, harrow and pulverize, being careful to work as little dirt as possible into the furrow. In the spring stir again as deep as possible, leaving furrow as before. Pulverize again as before. Now take stirring plow and draw a straight, deep furrow, throwing the dirt into the dead furrow; (better not draw this furrow more than 8 or 10 rods, until you plant up as far as the furrow is drawn, so as to retain all the moisture possible.) Into this last furrow drop the hedge plants about 8 inches apart, and with the hoe cover the roots about 2 inches deep with loose pulverized dirt. Now plow another furrow throwing dirt onto the roots of plants and pack carefully, so that your hedge will be planted about 5 inches deep. Now plow about two furrows on each side of hedge, throwing dirt toward hedge which finishes planting. Soak plants in warm soft mud before planting. Plant about the time forest trees are planted. To tend hedges, pull weeds, hoe and plow as you would a row of corn.

There are several in this community raising hedge plants to sell this fall and next spring. They will advertise in due time.

Every dog has its day, and we think the time is near at hand when business men will run through the rage of what is known as "local" advertising and come back to business principals, keeping their names and the prominent features of their business, in bright, bold display type, in the regular advertising columns of newspapers. It is folly to say that people do not read the standing advertisements. Perhaps no one individual reads it all. The man who wants to buy a cow may not be attracted by and may not read a card in which a stove cut is prominent; but suppose he is about to buy a stove, then the cut will be the first thing he will see, and the advertisement the first one he will read. Not only so, but he is the man the dealer wishes to reach. He does not care whether the other reads his card or not. So it goes. People do read the standing advertisements so far as they relate to any interests of their own, and they are the best and cheapest advertising that any paper contains. The local advertisement is glanced at, many times with a spirit of something like venetian, that it should be "only" an advertisement. On the other hand the bold display type of the regular advertisement arrests the attention of the very ones it is designed to reach. It is as if one talked in a crowd, and was only heard by one here and another there when the speaker intended should hear.—Exchange.

City Ordinances. Ordinance No 12. Be it ordained by the Board of Trustees of the inhabitants of the town of Red Cloud

Sec 1. That the grade and level of Webster street between Second and Fifth Avenues, as reported surveyed and profiled by W. H. Strohm at the request of the said Board, shall be signed by the Board of Trustees, and the Clerk, and copied by said Clerk upon the records of the town, and when so signed and recorded, such grade and level shall be thereupon considered as the true grade and level of the said Webster street between said avenues and be binding on the corporation and all other persons whatever and be thereafter regarded in making improvements upon said portion of said street

Sec 2. That it shall be the duty of every person owning lots on said street between said avenues, to repair and alter the sidewalk adjacent to his lot, so as to be in conformity with the requirements of the said ordinance, and to construct of two inch plank and shall be supported by three posts.

Sec 3. That said sidewalks shall be the height of the grade by the ordinance declared. The width shall be ten feet or so near that as may be necessary to make the outer edges of the walks in one straight line. The sidewalk shall be constructed of two inch plank and shall be supported by three posts.

Sec 4. The committee on streets and alleys by, and with the concurrence of the chairman of the Board, shall procure the construction of crossings at the corners of the several streets intersecting Webster street between said avenues. Said crossings shall be of two inch plank four planks wide the two outer ones beveling.

Sec 5. That the committee on streets and alleys are hereby authorized and instructed, on the 30th day of July next, to repair, and change, and build, and pave, all and any sidewalks on said street, so as to conform to the requirements of this ordinance. And the town Attorney is instructed to institute proceedings for the recovery of the expense thereof from the owners of the lots.

Ordinance No 17. Be it ordained by the Board of Trustees of the inhabitants of the town of Red Cloud

Whereas. The original town plat of the town of Red Cloud having made the width of Webster street eighty feet, and the same having been deemed too narrow by the original proprietor and those who first built upon said street, and the street having been widened by said original proprietor, by those who built upon it. They having built their houses eight feet back of said street on each side thereof, and all of the houses on the west side of said street being so constructed at said distance from said street, and all of the houses on the east side of said street save four which are most recent in their erection. And the width of said Webster street having been so established by custom, and the building of the houses thereon, and the municipality having been deemed too narrow to adopt as the width of said street the original street as platted with the eight feet additional on each side thereof.

Therefore, be it ordained, that no building shall hereafter be erected on either side of said street, so as to project into and upon said street as adopted and by this ordinance declared.

Ordinance No 18. Be it ordained by the Board of Trustees of the inhabitants of the town of Red Cloud

Sec 1. That there shall be no fireworks of any description—Torpedos, Chinese crackers, Rockets, Roman Candles or any other explosive or combustible instruments, exploded or fired within the portion of the town of Red Cloud, bounded on the north by fifth avenue, on the east by the bluff, on the south by Second avenue, on the west by Cedar street.

Sec 2. Any person who shall commit the above offence shall be fined for each offence five dollars, or be confined in the town jail ten days.

Sec 2. It is hereby made the duty of the street Commissioner and Marshal to arrest each and every person so offending.

A Great Dunt in the Black Hills Drowned Miss Parsons. DEADWOOD, D. T. June 14.—Four particulars of the cloud burst Thursday night, by a sudden rise and overflow of Beaver Creek, caused by a water spout, nine persons were drowned. Their names were Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Rhodes, Frank Reed, Clyde Rhodes, Cliff Rhodes and Mabel Rhodes. The latter three were children. All were emigrants on their way to the Hill from Mills county, Iowa, and four men going from the Hills to the railroad, whose names are unknown. Two were team-owners, one a passenger, the other a night herder. Five minutes from the time the whole country was flooded. The water subsided almost as suddenly as it rose.

At Buffalo Gap, or near Buffalo Gap on Thursday evening, obtained from a passenger on this evening's coach, show that the water commenced rising at about 8 o'clock. Beaver Creek, one mile this side of Buffalo Gap Station, on the Sidway stage road, and about 82 miles from Deadwood. Near the bank of the creek were camped a party of nine persons from Mills county, Iowa, four from the Black Hills, and Montgomery brothers and Clark's freight outfit, loaded with forty thousand pounds, principally Homestake machinery, which was nearly all destroyed and scattered for miles around. All the wagons with one exception were also destroyed, and only a few miles were saved. No estimate can be made of the loss at this writing. Nine persons were drowned. Four bodies are so far recovered. The water covered a space of forty miles wide, and within two hours after the rise, fragments of the wagons, etc., were seen from three to five miles distant from the scene of the disaster. All the creeks and streams around the hills are unusually high.
