The Harlan county Standard will defeat railroad bonds in that county or we miss our guess.

Plattsmouth is to have an iron railroad bridge across Old Muddy at that point the present summer.

The Government boat "Clytie" exploded her boiler last Friday four miles below Nebraska City. Several persons were killed outright and many badly scalded and otherwise injured.

Gillan and Armstrong, two of the Olive gang who were confined in the jail at Platt Creek, secured a revolver and bowie knife by some means unknown, captured the guard and fled to a more salubrious clime.

The new time table of the B. & M., and its branches went into effect the last day of June. The only change made is on the Brownville branch. By the change made, trains connect both at Lincoln and Nebraska City for Nemaha City, and vice versa.

Mark Twain told a newspaper reporter that he was going abroad in order to find a quiet place to write, where he would not be disturbed once a day. It is singular that it never occurred to him to remain at home and secure a desk in a store that doesn't advertise.

How much did it cost this county to have a pole culvert put in across Elm Creek at Hummel's, with four loads of manure from Hummel's stable to cover it - two days work for one man and team - only $75.00! The culvert went out the first rain, and the seventy-five dollars went out (of the treasury) soon after.

A Rulo letter to the Falk City Globe says: "The seventeen year locust is almost as thick down here as were the grasshoppers once. They sing of Pharaoh, and have changed their coats since coming out of the ground. One can see their old clothes hanging on the bushes. No fears are entertained because of their presence."

The new bounty law provides that upon the petition of 50 freeholders of any county, the commissioners of that county shall submit the question to a vote of the people at the next succeeding election, when the ballots shall be printed "For bounties," or "Against bounties." If the election is in favor of bounties, $2 dollars a scalp shall be paid for wolves, wild cats or coyotes.

The following law regarding a road tax was passed at the last session of the legislature: "Every male inhabitant in each road district, being over the age of twenty one years and under the age of fifty years, except paupers, idiots and lunatics, shall be assessed by the assessors to pay a labor tax of three dollars. Said tax may be paid in cash or computed for in labor in the manner provided for in the act on roads. Persons living in cities or incorporated villages, who are liable by the provisions of law regulating cities or villages, to pay a poll or labor tax, or work upon the streets thereof, shall not be assessed to pay the tax provided for in this section.

From Scott.
Scott Neb., June 28th, 1879.
ED. CHIEF.-Under the invigorating influence of the last two weeks of favorable weather small grain, especially wheat, has made rapid progress in recovering from the damage it had sustained during the two preceding weeks. On the whole wheat and oats look much better than we thought possible for them two weeks ago, yet there is no doubt but the yield will be considerably diminished but to what extent the thrasher only will tell.

Mr. Frank Pilgrim who lost his wife some two or three weeks ago from heart disease, left us yesterday morning for his old home in New York having previously sold his homestead and other effects.

Base ball, match game Friday between the Walnut Creek second nine, and the Buffalo Creek club; result in favor of the second nine.

H. Holdridge lost a valuable mare last Tuesday - dropped dead in the field while cultivating corn.

Our neighbor W. T. Parsons has had an addition to his family, it is a boy, mother and child are doing well.

I notice inquiries in our county paper concerning the state of our Agricultural Society, and whether we were going to have a county Fair this fall or not. There has been two or three meetings of the society called the past winter and spring to re-organize the society and prepare for a fair this fall, numerous attended each time by the President, Secretary, and one of the board of managers, at the last of which it was determined to try to hold a fair on the 1st and 2d of October, since which we have heard nothing about it, but I presume there will be a fair however, as the numerous attendance of the citizens of Red Cloud and vicinity indicate their interest in the matter the fair will follow as a matter of course. AGRICOLA.

The following is from E. F. Stephens of Crete, an old nurseryman who thoroughly understands his business, and perhaps his remarks may be of use to some of our readers:
Seasonable Care of Small Fruits.

Now that strawberries are done fruiting, run a cultivator through them, causing rows of plants a foot in width. Repeat the cultivation once a week for six weeks when they usually require little further care until November, when they should be mulched for winter. If the plants in the rows are two years old would cut the old rows out with the cultivator, and leave the younger plants in the middle, to form new rows. If the plants are in matted beds too short for cultivator, they must be spaded out leaving rows a foot wide, 2 1/2 feet apart. This is a good time here to increase the plantation by taking up plants with a ball of earth to each and resetting them near by. We frequently take up plants with a spadeful of earth which being immediately reset again is as well as before. If the tops are above four inches in height would now them off with a scythe before transplanting. The tall leaf stalks of many varieties are pretty certain to wilt down and tax the plant, cut back, new leaves are quickly formed and less loss of plants sustained.

The past three weeks have been very favorable for transplanting strawberries; we have set about an acre, and if damp weather favors will still further increase our plantations. Two years ago I set the last days of June, plants one foot in rows 3 feet, made such a growth that in September the ground was nearly covered with plants. If dry weather follows planting, and a slight shade is needed, a handful of green grass will be found cheapest and most efficient.

We found the Kentucky profitable this season and will largely increase our plantation of it.

If your plants bloomed freely and without known cause failed to set fruit, you may infer that they are Pittillate and need some Stauwaste variety planted among them in proportions of one to three.

Strawberries are grown with such ease, if planted in long rows, and tended with a cultivator with shields, same as small corn, that each farmer should have at least 2000 plants. They are not likely to sell for less than 20 cents a quart for some years, at this price they are very profitable. They may be set when the weather is favorable from April 1st, to Oct. 10th. If taken up with a spadeful of earth and immediately reset nearly all can be moved in dry weather. If plants are received from a distance and the weather turns dry, mulch lightly with green grass. Set from the same depth grown. E. F. STEPHENS.
