

THE RED CLOUD CHIEF.

N. L. THOMAS, Publisher.

RED CLOUD, NEBRASKA.

THE KAISERBLUMEN.

Have you heard of the Kaiserblumen, Queen of flowers?
That grows in the fields of Germany,
Light waving against the breeze?
By field and wood and road-side,
In every garden, it grows,
In every color and gold,
To children love it dearly,
And all who love flowers will gather,
To seek it with song and laughter,
And all the people know.
That the Emperor's daughter loved it,
Like any peasant child, but finally he
And, when she died, her father,
Her Kaiser Wilhelm loved it,
This flower his darling cherished,
And when he died he left it,
To the Kaiserblumen.
The flowers of Germany,
Said little Hans to Gretchen,
One summer morning fair,
And they ran and gathered together,
And hung in the fragrant air.
O look at the Kaiserblumen,
That grow in the grass so thick!
Catcher of the Emperor's golden,
And take to the Emperor, quick!
For never were any so beautiful,
So all they could carry they gathered,
And thought of the Princess dear.
Then under the Kaiserblumen,
As they trooped along the white road,
They let the Kaiser's daughter,
With their bright and golden,
And at last all the nodding blossoms,
Their shining heads hung down,
And the Kaiser's daughter,
"We've all reached the town!"
So they looked patiently onward,
And with heads so soft and small
And sweetly did cry and call.
"Please open the door, O Kaiser!"
"We've brought some flowers for you,
All red and white and gold!"
A lobby and a splendid presence,
As he sat on the throne,
To know the king there was no need
That he should rise.
And the children cried: "O Kaiser,
We have brought you flowers so fair,
And we are so tired and hungry!"
"Oh, Kaiser, here they are!"
They held up their withered posies,
While into the Emperor's face,
And he stooped with a stately grace,
Taking the faded blossoms,
With gentle words and mild,
And when their heads were low,
The heart of each trembling child.
And that was a wonderful glory,
That the Kaiser should say,
And stand with his hands on his knees,
That his children should be so gay,
How they sat at the Kaiser's table,
And shared with him the wine,
That full of day of splendor,
Faded flowers of marvelous things!
And when the sun was setting,
And he sat on the throne,
And his children were all,
And the Kaiser's daughter,
"O Kaiser, here they are,"
"We've brought you flowers so fair,
And we are so tired and hungry!"
"Oh, Kaiser, here they are!"

It was very kind of her, but the second reading left him mentally groping. The first primary position I don't see in my copy of the New York Herald. The sheepshanks, he forced himself to say. "I never saw a..." replied, "except in pictures; but it's not a hard thing to imagine; and say, in this case, it's the sheepshanks, and it's a sheepshank, watching him nervously, and glancing at the sheepshanks, and then he said, "I've never seen a..." replied, "except in pictures; but it's not a hard thing to imagine; and say, in this case, it's the sheepshanks, and it's a sheepshank, watching him nervously, and glancing at the sheepshanks, and then he said, "I've never seen a..."

FARM TOPICS.

KILLING CARBAGE WORMS.—It is said that carbide powder sprinkled over cabbage plants deters the worms from destroying them, and will not injure the plants. It would probably be more effective if a light lime were mixed, and the plants lightly watered with it. The best way to handle them, is to catch the mother butterflies, with an insect sweep net, which any one may make by attaching a bag of muslin two and a half feet long to a stout broom, and sweeping with it over the plants. This comes loose, a correspondent, M. V. L. A. Morrisville, Ill., writes: "My experience with the green cabbage worm was very successful. On their first appearance, there were hundreds. I dusted black pepper over them before the dew was off. After the second application, only a few were left. I then headed them with a brush, rubbing turpentine on their backs with a feather, and now our patch is entirely untroubled."—Western Farmer.

TRY COWS.—It is a common practice among some dairymen to give cows, or cows, white dry, but scanty living. When a cow comes to give milk, or is dried up, any food is considered good enough for her. I think this is a great deal of waste, and it is a disadvantage to the farmer. A cow in poor condition cannot digest much food as an animal in good condition. If the cow is poor when she comes in, she will not produce much milk. If she is kept in good condition, she will produce a large quantity of milk. The practice of turning cows out on poor feed while they are dry, expecting to make up when they come in, is a mistake. A cow that is in poor condition when she comes in, will not produce much milk. If she is kept in good condition, she will produce a large quantity of milk. The practice of turning cows out on poor feed while they are dry, expecting to make up when they come in, is a mistake.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

GREEN CORN PUDDING.

1 quart of milk, 3 beaten eggs, a little salt, a cup of sugar, and one cup of cornmeal. Bake in a greased pudding-dish 1 hour.

FRUIT CUMBERS.

Pare out into lengths twice a quarter of an inch thick and lay in one row in a shallow dish. Sprinkle with a mixture of salt, sugar, and vinegar. Let stand overnight. Drain off the liquid. Dip in flour, then in egg, then in bread crumbs. Fry in hot oil.

APPLE FRITTERS.

Peel some apples and cut them in slices, put a little sugar over them and some lemon juice. Let the pieces soak a couple of hours; then dip each piece in a mixture of flour and water, then in egg, then in bread crumbs. Fry in hot oil.

DR. CLARK'S Indian Blood Syrup.

LABORATORY, 77 W. 3d St., New York City.

AGENTS, READ THIS.

L. P. EWALD & CO.,

AGENTS FOR THE PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE WORLD.

THE BEST REMEDY KNOWN TO MAN!

DR. JOHN BULL'S Smith's Tonic Syrup FOR THE CURE OF FEVER AND ACUE OR CHILLS AND FEVER.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority which has been proved by the practice of this medicine in the most difficult cases of Fever and Ague. It is a pure and powerful tonic, and its use is recommended by the most eminent medical authorities.

THE ONLY 25 Cent AGUE REMEDY IN THE WORLD. THERMALINE.

A safe and reliable substitute for Quinine. The best known remedy for all cases caused by Malaria, and the most effective cure for a preventive as well as a certain cure for Fever and Ague, Chills & Fever.

Dr. Clark Johnson's Indian Blood Purifier. Price of Large Bottle $1.00. Price of Small Bottle .50.

TESTIMONIALS OF CURES.

BARSE & SNIDER Live-Stock Commission, KANSAS CITY STOCK YARD, MO.

Safe and Reliable Medicine. For Sore Throat and Lung Fever.

THE READERS OF THIS STATE should know that Barse & Snider's UPRIGHT PIANO is the best in the world.

GRAEFENBERG'S VEGETABLE PILLS.

Mildest ever known. Cure for Biliousness, Headache, Indigestion, and Fevers. Tonic for the system and restore health to those suffering from general debility and nervous prostration.

OCCIDENTALIS. NO ALCOHOL! NO QUININE! NO POISONOUS DRUGS!

THE BEST REMEDY KNOWN TO MAN! For Chills and Fever, Fever and Ague, and all cases of Malaria.

THE EMPEROR'S APPEAL TO DELINQUENT SUBSCRIBERS.

It is the duty of every subscriber to pay for the paper on time. Failure to do so is a neglect of duty.

THE MAN WITH A HOBBY.

The editorial head in suggestive nearness to a phenomenal cabbage which some elite country subscriber had left upon my table, and the editor's face was a study to the intelligence of a "people who choose to select their own standards." The man with a hobby is a man who is devoted to one particular pursuit.

It was very kind of her, but the second reading left him mentally groping. The first primary position I don't see in my copy of the New York Herald. The sheepshanks, he forced himself to say. "I never saw a..." replied, "except in pictures; but it's not a hard thing to imagine; and say, in this case, it's the sheepshanks, and it's a sheepshank, watching him nervously, and glancing at the sheepshanks, and then he said, "I've never seen a..."

THE MAN WITH A HOBBY.

The editorial head in suggestive nearness to a phenomenal cabbage which some elite country subscriber had left upon my table, and the editor's face was a study to the intelligence of a "people who choose to select their own standards." The man with a hobby is a man who is devoted to one particular pursuit.

It was very kind of her, but the second reading left him mentally groping. The first primary position I don't see in my copy of the New York Herald. The sheepshanks, he forced himself to say. "I never saw a..." replied, "except in pictures; but it's not a hard thing to imagine; and say, in this case, it's the sheepshanks, and it's a sheepshank, watching him nervously, and glancing at the sheepshanks, and then he said, "I've never seen a..."

FARM TOPICS.

KILLING CARBAGE WORMS.—It is said that carbide powder sprinkled over cabbage plants deters the worms from destroying them, and will not injure the plants. It would probably be more effective if a light lime were mixed, and the plants lightly watered with it. The best way to handle them, is to catch the mother butterflies, with an insect sweep net, which any one may make by attaching a bag of muslin two and a half feet long to a stout broom, and sweeping with it over the plants. This comes loose, a correspondent, M. V. L. A. Morrisville, Ill., writes: "My experience with the green cabbage worm was very successful. On their first appearance, there were hundreds. I dusted black pepper over them before the dew was off. After the second application, only a few were left. I then headed them with a brush, rubbing turpentine on their backs with a feather, and now our patch is entirely untroubled."—Western Farmer.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

GREEN CORN PUDDING.

1 quart of milk, 3 beaten eggs, a little salt, a cup of sugar, and one cup of cornmeal. Bake in a greased pudding-dish 1 hour.

FRUIT CUMBERS.

Pare out into lengths twice a quarter of an inch thick and lay in one row in a shallow dish. Sprinkle with a mixture of salt, sugar, and vinegar. Let stand overnight. Drain off the liquid. Dip in flour, then in egg, then in bread crumbs. Fry in hot oil.

APPLE FRITTERS.

Peel some apples and cut them in slices, put a little sugar over them and some lemon juice. Let the pieces soak a couple of hours; then dip each piece in a mixture of flour and water, then in egg, then in bread crumbs. Fry in hot oil.

THE MAN WITH A HOBBY.

The editorial head in suggestive nearness to a phenomenal cabbage which some elite country subscriber had left upon my table, and the editor's face was a study to the intelligence of a "people who choose to select their own standards." The man with a hobby is a man who is devoted to one particular pursuit.

THE MAN WITH A HOBBY.

The editorial head in suggestive nearness to a phenomenal cabbage which some elite country subscriber had left upon my table, and the editor's face was a study to the intelligence of a "people who choose to select their own standards." The man with a hobby is a man who is devoted to one particular pursuit.

THE MAN WITH A HOBBY.

The editorial head in suggestive nearness to a phenomenal cabbage which some elite country subscriber had left upon my table, and the editor's face was a study to the intelligence of a "people who choose to select their own standards." The man with a hobby is a man who is devoted to one particular pursuit.

THE MAN WITH A HOBBY.

The editorial head in suggestive nearness to a phenomenal cabbage which some elite country subscriber had left upon my table, and the editor's face was a study to the intelligence of a "people who choose to select their own standards." The man with a hobby is a man who is devoted to one particular pursuit.

DR. CLARK'S Indian Blood Syrup.

LABORATORY, 77 W. 3d St., New York City.

AGENTS, READ THIS.

L. P. EWALD & CO.,

AGENTS FOR THE PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE WORLD.

THE BEST REMEDY KNOWN TO MAN!

DR. JOHN BULL'S Smith's Tonic Syrup FOR THE CURE OF FEVER AND ACUE OR CHILLS AND FEVER.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority which has been proved by the practice of this medicine in the most difficult cases of Fever and Ague. It is a pure and powerful tonic, and its use is recommended by the most eminent medical authorities.

BARSE & SNIDER Live-Stock Commission, KANSAS CITY STOCK YARD, MO.

Safe and Reliable Medicine. For Sore Throat and Lung Fever.

THE READERS OF THIS STATE should know that Barse & Snider's UPRIGHT PIANO is the best in the world.

GRAEFENBERG'S VEGETABLE PILLS.

Mildest ever known. Cure for Biliousness, Headache, Indigestion, and Fevers. Tonic for the system and restore health to those suffering from general debility and nervous prostration.

OCCIDENTALIS. NO ALCOHOL! NO QUININE! NO POISONOUS DRUGS!

THE BEST REMEDY KNOWN TO MAN! For Chills and Fever, Fever and Ague, and all cases of Malaria.

THE MAN WITH A HOBBY.

The editorial head in suggestive nearness to a phenomenal cabbage which some elite country subscriber had left upon my table, and the editor's face was a study to the intelligence of a "people who choose to select their own standards." The man with a hobby is a man who is devoted to one particular pursuit.

THE MAN WITH A HOBBY.

The editorial head in suggestive nearness to a phenomenal cabbage which some elite country subscriber had left upon my table, and the editor's face was a study to the intelligence of a "people who choose to select their own standards." The man with a hobby is a man who is devoted to one particular pursuit.

THE MAN WITH A HOBBY.

The editorial head in suggestive nearness to a phenomenal cabbage which some elite country subscriber had left upon my table, and the editor's face was a study to the intelligence of a "people who choose to select their own standards." The man with a hobby is a man who is devoted to one particular pursuit.

THE MAN WITH A HOBBY.

The editorial head in suggestive nearness to a phenomenal cabbage which some elite country subscriber had left upon my table, and the editor's face was a study to the intelligence of a "people who choose to select their own standards." The man with a hobby is a man who is devoted to one particular pursuit.