CHRISTMAS.

How did they keep his birthday then,

The little fair Christ, so long ago? Oh, many there were to be housed and fed, And there was no place in the inn, they so Go into the manger the Christ must go, To lodge with the cattle and not with men.

The ox and the ass they munched their bay, They munched and they slumbered, won dering not, And out in the moonlight cold and blue The shepherds slept, and the sheep slept, too, Till the angels' song and the bright star ray Guided the wise men to the spot.

But only the wise men knelt and praised And only the shepherds came to see; And the rest of the world cared not at all For the little Christ in the oxen's stall, And we are angry and amazed That such a doll, hard thing should be!

How do we keep his birthday now? We ring the bells and we raise the strain, We hang up garlands everywhere And bid the tapers twinkle fair, And feast and frolic-and then we go Back to the same old lives again.

Are we so better, then, than they Who failed the new born Christ to see? To them a helpless babe-to us The shines a Savior glorious, Our Lord and Friend and all-yet we Are half asleep this Christmas Day. -Susan Coolidge, in the Christian Union.

----CHRISTMAS FLOWERS.

Ι.

The earth is so bleak and deserted, So cold the winds blow, hat no bud or no blossom will venture peep from below; longing for springtime, they nestle p under the snow.

And now, in this dreary December, Our glad hearts are fain To see if earth comes not to help us; We seek all in vain; of the finiest blossom is coming Till spring breathes again.

Where love takes, let love give, and so doubt Love counts but the will, And the heart has its flowers of devotion, No winters can chill; They who cared for "good will" that first Christmas Will care for it still. -Adelaide Proctor.
