

THE CHIEF.
LOCAL MATTERS.

Fruit trees are blooming.
New goods at Mrs. Fowler's.
Butterick's Patterns, at Mrs. Fowler's.
Last Saturday it tried hard to rain, but signally failed.
VanAmburgh's great show will be in Hastings to-morrow.
We paid the county our rent for a 160 acres of land last week.
Mr. Moley, of Cowles, becomes a regular reader of the CHIEF.
The South-western Chronicle has been moved from Nelson to Superior.
Nine divorce cases on the docket in Beatrice. This beats Red Cloud.
We received from the Johnson type foundry a lot of new type this week.
We are indebted to J. S. Gilham, for assistance on this issue of the CHIEF.
The Republican City Enterprise is the latest newspaper venture, up the Valley.
The Pawnee Enterprise says that the peaches are nearly all killed in that vicinity.
You can buy Kendall's horse boots of Moon & Callender at Red Cloud, for 25 cents apiece.
Mr. Rosenthal will soon open up a large stock of goods in the building south of the bank.
F. Newhouse is selling off goods at a small advance above cost, see announcement elsewhere.
The county convention is called to meet at Red Cloud, on the 15th day of May, at 1 o'clock P. M.
Moon & Callender keep a large stock of goods of all kinds at reasonable prices. Give them a call.
Property is fifty per cent cheaper this month than at any other time in the year—ask the assessor.
Mr. Nick, postmaster at Salem, Kan., informs us that no clue has yet been obtained of the post-office robbers.
Mr. Newcomer, member of the County Central Committee, from Blue Hill, called on the CHIEF last Saturday.
Mr. Marsh from Beatrice purchased the goods left by Mr. Liddy, and will put in a large stock of goods and continue the business.
J. C. Waller, of Cowles, an old time friend and an appreciative reader of the CHIEF called last Saturday and extended substantial encouragement.
A partnership has been formed between Mr. Besley and young Mr. Perkins who recently arrived from Chicago. They will continue the hardware business at the old stand.
The ladies Presbyterian and M. E. Aid Society, will meet at Mrs. W. H. Strohm's, this Thursday, at 2 o'clock P. M. A full attendance is desired.
ANNA PATER, Sec'y.
The late cyclone which destroyed Marshall, Mo., and many other towns in the State, is said to have extended over more than half of the State. The loss of life and property was terrible.
Come to the CHIEF office and examine specimens of job work and get prices before you order, we don't propose to be beaten in quality of work or cheapness, by any office west of Lincoln.
We visited Cowles last week, and was somewhat surprised at the amount of business that is being done at that little place, the merchants enjoy a good trade, notwithstanding the dull season of the year.
Every man had ought to keep posted on county affairs, as well as state and national matters, and in order to do so he should subscribe for the CHIEF, $1.50 a year, the best and newest paper in the county.
Miss Jenny Potter, sister of our townsmen, C. H. & J. G. Potter, arrived last Thursday from Iowa. She intends remaining in Red Cloud for some time, and will be quite an accession to our society.
Last week we received a nice lot of plants and flowers from the Garden of Mr. Wm. J. Hesser of Plattsmouth. Mr. Hesser is a practical Horticulturist and always gives satisfaction in his line of business. Accept our thanks.
C. W. Springer, of Red Cloud, called to see us on Monday morning. We had the pleasure of listening to his first sermon preached in Christiana Chapel on last Sunday evening, and we must say that it was an indication of a splendid future.—A. Nelson Chronicle.
New papers are being started in every little hamlet in western Nebraska and Kansas. We opine it will not be long ere the majority of them will find rest in untimely and unknown graves. The newspaper business is being entirely overdone.
The editor has gone to Chicago for the purpose of purchasing a new dress for the paper and a large stock of printers goods. If the CHIEF, this week, presents a better appearance than usual, it may be attributed to the absence of the editor and pleased to the credit of the "devil."

There will be preaching at the school house in Red Cloud on next Sabbath at 3:30 P. M. by the Christian minister J. P. Johnson of Amboy. All are cordially invited.
The people of Cowles set an example on Arbor day that might be followed with profit by many larger and older towns, we refer to planting of shade trees. The streets of Cowles are now lined with rows of thrifty looking box-alder and other kinds of trees, which, if they thrive, will add much to the beauty and attractiveness of the town, and give it a more homelike appearance.
Call for Republican Primaries and Conventions.

Secretary, President.
PEOPLE OF RED CLOUD, READ THIS.
Well aware Mr. Editor, how deep an interest you feel in the present prosperity, rapid growth, and "manifest destiny" of our town, and how ready you are to encourage everything that makes for the same. I feel assured that you will allow me to make a short appeal in your popular paper, to the public spirited men of Red Cloud, its business men, Bankers and builders, merchants and mechanics, all who have money to lay out on a large per centage, on a subject well worthy of their serious attention,—that Red Cloud may speedily grow into a city of paramount mercantile and industrial importance in this great Valley, affording useful employment, and a comfortable subsistence—bright sweet homes, to large and ever increasing numbers of our fellowmen, in, we all agree, a consummation devoutly to be wished, but a consummation to be realized through exertion constant, energetic united exertion, age, and expenditure on our part. To convert the foregoing dream wish into a reality it will cost something, there is something to pay sure, this we are too apt to overlook to ignore. Towns and cities are not spontaneous growths but the outcome of human thought and labor. To secure the growth of our town we must make it a direct object, to work for not individually merely but unitedly, by combining our resources and efforts we look public spirit. To build up a live thriving city here, it will behoove our business men in general to do more than attend each individually to his own private affairs and interests, even to cooperate in promoting the general industrial interests of our place, endeavoring to introduce new branches of industry, new enterprises into the place as well as encouraging and fostering those which exist. They need not be told that if we depend for the growth of our town on the commercial transactions which the agricultural resources of the surrounding country will develop, we had better repress our hopes and prepare ourselves as best we may for an indefinite period of patient waiting.
"But Red Cloud will yet become a railroad center, and that will build up the town." Doubtless if we get them here, but "that's the rub." Will railroads come here without an object, something to attract them? Let us supply the attraction in the form of industrial premises, manufacturing enterprises and railroad companies will take knowledge of us, and if they do not so much the worse for them, people will come in, property will rise in value, business will be brisk, and the town will soon grow into a city, and the city will go on growing and to grow. The upbuilding of a city here depends in a great measure on the preparations and business men of the place. It must be their work. Could they trust to accident or chance to build the city for them would that be a source of pride or satisfaction, to them compared with the outcome of a great live, happy community, the outcome of their own forethought and labor? If they assure themselves of this and satisfaction a few years hence instead of rearing the risk of a bitter disappointment now is their time. They had better be up and doing, on the outlook for chances to introduce some new form of industry, some manufacturing enterprise or interest as an initial movement into the place, ready to avail themselves of the first chance or opportunity that will occur. Doubtless many chances of this kind have been already lost through neglect. The town cannot afford to lose many more, already its growth seems almost at a stand. Its fate is in the balance. On us and perhaps, the present time it depends which way it will turn, up or down. We need something to give the place a new impulse growthward, a new spring of useful activity, some new enterprise just at this juncture. This secured, something else will soon follow, and the ball set in motion will roll on. But to introduce this Aic opus est hic labor.
Fortunately for our town such an opportunity is now within our reach. A gentleman who has been residing among us for some time has a government patent on a cultivator, an invention of his, one of the most useful and generally needed of agricultural implements, which has been thoroughly tested for three years, and has proved superior to any cultivator in use. For simplicity, durability and cheapness it stands without a rival. There is nothing that can compete with it. It is sure to sell. Competent authority last year to manufacture it but failed, because it was too late in the season to procure the requisite materials, iron being scarce in the eastern cities, declares that nine cultivators of this kind will readily sell for every one of any other kind in the market. And it cannot fail to pay, for it can be manufactured in this place, so as to yield at least 50 per cent on the money invested. Juniors is exceedingly anxious to secure this chance.
A large manufacturing company formed there, who are starting operations on a large scale are more than eager to undertake the manufacture of this implement, and they hold out special inducements to the inventor, but having resided here long enough to form friendships here and his lady would prefer to stay here if his object in coming out west could be attained. Now this is an opportunity for Red Cloud to begin a movement in the right direction. The way to secure it is to form a joint stock company on a capital of from $2,500 upward. The aforesaid sum will start the enterprise successfully. Will the people, the men of business, the men of money avail themselves of it. This is not one of those chances that often occur, of having some kind of industry in the place by helping some fellow to the time of several thousands of dollars to set it up for himself, but an opportunity to set up a business of your own, that will yield a handsome profit, and thereby advance the interests of the town.
Will a number of our citizens lend a helping hand to this enterprise, secure the advantage for Red Cloud, and thus help to keep alive, and aster, keep live men here and draw them to the place and secure its permanent growth, or will you let Juniors have it, and with greater ease, allow the next chance to slip, till the last chance is gone, live men give the place a wide berth, property to sink in value, and Red Cloud, past hope?
