THREE FISHERS. Three fishers went strolling away to the stream.

To the babbling brook where the fish swim;
Of speckled beauties they all did dram,
And each felt certain they d bite for him. For men will tramp from morning till night, And suffer the fierce mosquito's bite, And drink to stop their grouning.

Three fishers strolled into the market place, Twas some two bours after the sun went down.

And a look of gloom was on each man's face,
For at empty baskets they each did frown.
For men may fish but may get no bite,
And tired and ugly go home at night,
And tired and their weath in grouning. And vent their wrath in grouning.

Three fishers stroffed into the beer saloon, Where the crown sather bright,
And cach gally whistled a merry tune,
And showed his fish with assumed delight.
For men will lish, yea, and men will lie,
And boast of catching the fish they buy,
While inwardly they're groaning.

The year 1879 was marked by a great number of carthquakes and volcanic eruptions, many shocks being reported almost at the same instant from places widely separated. Thus on the 8th of January severe shocks were felt in the quake since 1868 was experienced at Areguipa, Peru; on the 10th shocks were felt at Cologne and throughout Southern Germany; on the 11th, more at Vienna; on the 12th, another violent May eruptions began from Vesuvius; Atna sympathized on the 25th, pouring out ashes and lava for a fortnight; simultaneously a similar outburst was noted at Geisfugie, Iceland, and on the day that Ætna broke into activity a violent emption of the Czobancz mountain in Hungary, long regarded as extinct, was chronicled. As the eruption of Ætna was followed by continuous earthquakes in Sicily until the end of June, so the outbreak of the Czobancz Mountain was accompanied by severe convulsions in Hungary, Bosnia and Bessarabia, throwing down houses and trees and opening fissures from which water poured in foods, and culminating in the violent shocks at Agram, June 21-22, while tremblings were observed at Aix and Nassan, May 26-27, and at Hastings May 21. Thereafter Europe had a comparative rest till about the 1st of November, when ali the south and east of Hungary, Servia, Roumania and Bessarabia felt incessant earthquakes of considerable intensity, some shocks even lasting a minute. At the time of least activity of volcanie forces in Europe-July 11-three strong shocks were felt in Cairo and near the Pyramids, something unknown in Egypt since 1857. In Persia, March 22-April 2, there were twenty-one villages destroyed and lifey-four greatly damnged; of the 1,200 inhabitants of Manan and Tark but few escaped. Java was ported by facts; for they are occasionvisited by several disastrons shocks between March 28 and June 5, its volcanoes being also in active eruption. China had its turn June 29-July 11, with after shocks of sufficient violence, though not nearly so destructive in August and September. There were very serious eruptions and shocks extending over a large area in Central America soon a ter the new year, after which the great center of volcanie ac-Livity was comparatively quiescent. In the Tacific there were disturbances in the early part of the year, culminating in the eruption of Kilauca in June.

At the beginning of May the earthquake season opened in Asia Minor, the village of Heleddi, near Sinope, being engulfed by the sea so that not a trace of its buildings remained. But the convulsions reached their height toward the end of July (July 28-August 4) when Smyrna and the surrounding places suffered enormously. In one town.
