

HOME, FARM AND GARDEN.

Do not feed too much corn in winter weather if you do not wish your fowls to get too fat. Everything on a farm is valuable. The compost heap is the farmer's savings bank.—Prairie Farmer.

How to Handle Bees.

Some people get into a fury of excitement whenever they see a bee or bear its hum, though it is only intent on gathering a little honey from the nearest flower. They shout and wail about them with hands or handkerchiefs, as if they were being attacked by an enemy. Such are just the people who generally get stung. Let the bee alone, even though it is buzzing close to your face. In all likelihood it is only animated by curiosity. Make a fuss about it, strike it, or get it entangled in your clothes or hair, and blame yourself if you feel its stinging.

Feeding Chickens.

To feed chickens with the best food for proper quantities at the right time, requires experience, good judgment, and constant watchfulness. There is a great difference of opinion as to what food is best; while some contend that whole seeds are best, others are quite as certain that fine ground meal is best. Why this difference of opinion? May it not come principally from the want of knowledge as to the best method of giving the food?

THE HAMPTON INSTITUTE.

What This Beneficent Enterprise is Doing for the Education of Indians and Colored People. The Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute at Hampton, Va., held its anniversary exercises on Thursday, May 22, and the reports made on this its sixteenth year show a good degree of prosperity.

A THRILLING EPISODE.

A Locomotive Engineer's Instinct—How He Saved a Train and How He Saved Himself. On one of the darkest and stormiest nights of the recent unusual winter, the engine of the leading New York railroad was moving westward from Albany. The engine's headlight threw a strong reflection in advance, but the storm was so blinding it was almost impossible to distinguish anything even at a short distance.

PAPILLON BLOOD CURE.

It is not an alternative. It restores the blood to a healthy condition. For all diseases of the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys, as liver complaint, dyspepsia, flatulence, stomach-ache, jaundice, constipation, colic, vomiting, nervousness, wakefulness, back-ache, neuralgia, and sick-headache, fits of epilepsy, anemia, or poverty of the blood, chlorosis, especially in young females, suppressed or painful menstruation, wakefulness, and female weakness, this medicine is absolutely certain.

SPRING

Is the season in which bad or poisoned blood is most apt to show itself. Nature, at this juncture, seems something to assist in the throwing off the impurities which have collected by the sluggish circulation of blood during the cold winter months.

A Logician. "How is it," said a citizen, meeting an acquaintance, "that you manage to wear such good clothes? If you would not extend so much money on dress, you might be able to repay that sum of money you borrowed from me."

WHAT THE HUNGRY FISH SAID TO THE ANGLER. "If you're not too busy, drop me a line." The question whether young women should pursue the same line of studies as their brothers, seems to find its chief objection in their different physical constitutions.
