THE RED CLOUD CHIEF

4. C. HOSMER, Publisher,

RED CLOUD. - NEBRASKA.

AN OLD MAN'S LOVE.

BY ANTHONY TROLLOPE.

Author of " loctor Thorne," " Framly Parson e," "Is he Popenjoy?" "Phineas Finn, the Irish Member," "The Warden," "Barchester Towers," Etc., Etc.

CHAPTER IX. REV. MONTAGUE BLAKE.

John Gordon, when he left the room, went out to look for Mr. Whittlestaff, but was told that he had gone into the town. Mr. Whittlestaff had had his own troubles in thinking of the unlucky coincidence of John Gordon's return, and had wandered forth determined to leave those two together, so that they might speak to each other as they pleased. And, during his walk, he did come to a certain resolution. here till September, you'll see me a gested the other. Should a request of any kind be made married man. One Kattie Forrester to him by John Gordon, it should re- intends to condescend to become Mrs. ceive not the slightest attention. He Montague Blake. Though I say it as easily. He's a sort of dog whom you so-called "Journal of Civilization" this Nation under Republican rule, in was a man to whom he owed nothing, shouldn't, a sweeter human being can not easily persuade to give up a bone. known as Harper's Weekly. and for whose welfare he was not in the doesn't live on earth. I met her soon If he has set his heart upon matrimony punished and he be made happy?" It wait till I had some sort of a house to know anything of his intentions?" was thus he spoke to himself. Should put her into. Her father is a clergyhe encounter disappointment, in order | man, like myself, so we are all in a that John Gordon should win the object | boat together. She's got a little mor- ing of it, too, with the same lady." dearer to him than that of John Gor- know all about me; and what have you I did not mean to say. I did not mean been doing yourself?" But if a request should be made by John Gordon thought that this friend ask me the question. I will answer it Mary Lawrie? Alas! if it were so, then of his had been most communicative. truly-I have thought of the same lady there must be sharp misery in store for Had Mr. Blake written a biography of And my thoughts were earlier in the him. In the first place, were she to tell himself down to the present period, he field than his. I must say good-night him that this man was dear to her, how could not have been more full or accurate now, ' he sa'd, somewhat brus usly. was it possible thas he should go to the in his details. But Gordon fe t that as "I have to walk back to Alresford, and altar with the girl, and there accept regarded himself he must be more must see Mr. Whittlestaff early in the from her her troth? She had spoken of reticent. "I intended to have joined morning. According to your view I a fancy which had crossed her mind re- my father's bank, but that came to sha'n't do much with him. And if it specting a man who could have been grief." no more than a dream to her, of whose "Yes; I did hear of some trouble in fields again by the first mail." whereabouts and condition-nay, of his that respect." very existence she was unaware. And "And then I went out to the diamondshe had told him that no promise, no fields.' word of love had passed between them. "Dear me! that was a long way." "Yes, you may think of him," he had said, meaning not to debar her from the | rough towards the end." use of thought, which should be open to ... D d you do any good at the diamond- pretty much the same to you. I shall all the world, "but let him not be spo- fields? I don't fancy that men often disappear from Alresford, and never ken of." Then she had promised; and bring much money home with them." more be heard of. You needn't talk when she had come again to withdraw "I brought some." "Enough to do a fellow any good in though I shall be out of the way at Kimher promise, she had done so with some cock-and-bull story about the old wo- his after life?" man, which had had no weight with "Well, yes; enough to content me, here, a man does not care to have his him. Then he had her presence dur- only that a man is not easily contented name in every one's mouth. ing the interview between the three on who has been among diamonds." which to form his judgment. As far as "Crescit amor diamonds?" said the a word about Miss Lawrie: unless, in he could remember, she had spoken parson. "I can easily understand that, deed, you should be successful," hardly above a word during that inter- And then, when a fellow goes back "There is not the remotest possibility view. She had sat silent, unhappy, again, he is so apt to lose it all. Don't of that," said Gordon, as he took his but not explaining the cause of her un- you expect to see your diamonds turn leave. happiness. It might well be that she into slate-stones?" should be unhappy in the presence of "Not except in the ordinary way of him," said the curate to himself, when her affianced husband and her old lover. expenditure. My diamonds, for the he resolved to go to bed instead of be-But now, if she would tell him that she most part, have been turned into ready ginning his sermon that night. "I wished to be relieved from him, and to money, and take the comfortable shape shouldn't wonder if she is, for he is just give herself to this stranger, she should of a balance at my banker's." be allowed to go. But he told himself "I'd leave it there, or buy land or him." that he would carry his generosity no railway shares. If I had realized in further. He was not called upon to of- that venture enough to look at it, I'd fer to surrender himself. The man's never go out to the diamond-fields coming had been a misfortune; but let again him go, and in process of time he would "It's hard to bring an occupation be forgotten. It was thus that Mr. of that kind to an end all at once," said Whittlestaff resolved. John Gordon. It was now nearly five o'clock, and "crescit amor diamonds!" repeated Mr. Whittlestaff, as Gordon was told, Rev. Montagu Blake, shaking his head. dined at six. He felt that he would not | "If you gave me three I could easily find the man before dinner unless he re- imagine that I should toss up with mained at the house-and for doing so another fellow who had three also, he had no excuse. He must return in the | double or quits till I lost them all. But evening, or sleep at the inn and come | we'll make sure of dinner without any back the next morning. He must man- such hazardous proceeding." Then age to catch the man alone, because he | they went into the dining-room and enwas assuredly minded to use upon him | joyed themselves, without any referall the power of eloquence which he had | ence having been made to the business at his command. And, as he thought which had brought John Gordon into it improbable to find him in the even- the neighborhood. ing, he determined to postpone his "You'll find that port wine rather task. But, in doing so, he felt that he good. I can't afford claret, because it should be at a loss. The eager words takes such a lot to go far enough." were hot now within his memory, hav- "Why do you make a ceremony with ing been sharpened against the anvil of me?" his thoughts by his colloquy with Mary | "Because it's so pleasant to have an Lawrie. To-morrow they might have excuse for such a ceremony. It wasn't cooled. His purpose might be as strong; you only I was thinking of. Think but a man when he wishes to use burn- what it is to have a prudent mind. I ing words should use them while the had to get it myself out of the cellar, because girls can't understand that words are on fire.

are you going to, and what brings you | tended marriage had been brought forto Arlesford, beyond the charitable in- ward in a peculiar manner. But he tention of dining with me? Oh, non- was by nature sltogether different from sense! not dine; but you will, and I can Mr. Blake, and could not blurt out his give you a bed, too, and breakfast, and love story with easy indifference. "Do shall be delighted to do it for a week. you know Mr. Whittlestaff well?" he Ordered your dinner? Then we'll un- asked.

order it. I'll send the boy in and put "Pretty well. I've been here four that all right. Shall I make him bring years; and he's a near neighbor. I your bag back?" Gordon, however, think I do know him well."

though he assented to dinner, made his 'Is he a sort of man likely to fall in friend understand that it was impera- love with such a girl as Miss Lawrie, tive that he should be at the inn that seeing that she is an inmate of his night. house

"Yes." said Blake, when they had settled down to wait for dinner, "I am consideration, "if you ask me, I don't George William Curtis said: "The men political rights to colored citizens. It parson here-a sort of a one, at least. think he is. He seems to have settled to whom we commit the banner of the is the only party that has always ream not only curate, but live in expec- down to a certain manner of life, and Republican party-the banner that sisted attempts to control votes or electation of higher things. Our Squire will not, I should say, be stirred from Abraham Lincoln bore-must be like tions by traud, fear or force. here, who owns the living, talks of giv- it very quickly. If you have any views Abraham Lincoln, a knight indeed, and, 7. It has done more than any other ing it to me. There isn't a better tellow in that direction, I don't think he'll be like the old knight, a knight without party to protect citizens when abroad. the respect and support of every man who living than Mr. Furnival, or his wife, or your rival."

his four daughters." "Will he be as generous with one of girl's love?" them as with the living?"

"I should say not." "There is ponecessity, as far as I am concerned. I came here already pro- to ask her?" said Gordon.

"That's what I mean."

"I fancy that he is thinking of it."

to talk about my-elf. But since you be so, I shall be off to the diamond-

"You don't say so?" "That is to be my lot in life. I am very glad to have come across you once again, and am delighted to find you so "Yes, it is a long way-and rather happy in your prospects. You have told me everything, and I have done much about me and my love; for

NOT BLAINE!

A Very Sweet Thing in Cartoons Put Forth by " Harper's Weekly Journal of Civilization " in the Dark Days of the War-Oace a Doughface, and Always a Doughface-Ready to Stab in the Back Every Man Who Has Achieved Eminence as a Stolesman and Patrint-" The Tragedy ager Lincoln and Three New and Ele- party has constantly tried to break down vating War Farces Substituted by Sian- that system. ton and Weiles.

In his speech before the Republican civil and political rights of all citizens. National Convention in Chicago, put- In its youth it refused to deprive adopt-"Well," said the parson, after some ting Mr. Edmunds in nomination, ed citizens of rights.. It gave civil and fear or without reproach." vided in that respect. If you'll remain "And if she accepted him?" sug- 1884 resembles the Republican knight citizen who goes on a lawful errand.

of 1860, and that is that both are honored by the editorial opposition and tra- other Nation in history has ever met a "I don't think he'd let her go very duced in the pictorial department of the great debt as honorably and rapidly as We reproduce this morning one of a no other has higher credit. least solicitous. "Why should I be after I had taken orders. But I had to he will not be turned from it. Do you series of four shocking cartoons, exhib- 9. It has given the country, in spite iting Abraham Lincoln in the most of- of constant Democratic hostility, a betfensive light, which were printed by ter currency than any other Nation en-"And you mean that you were think- liarper's neekly, beginning immediate- joys. Defeat of the party would open ly after the election of Mr. Lincoln the door to the old Democratic currency on which he had set his heart? Cer- ey, and I've got a little money, so that "No, I didn't mean that." Then he and continued until the war was more -to thirty-eight kinds of paper issued tainly not. His own heart was much we sha'n't absolutely starve. Now you added, after a pause, "That is just what than half over. Among the most cruel at will by wild-cat banks.

Where have you come from, and where And the subject of Mary Lawrie's in- THEY LANPOONED LINCOLS; WHY party has defended labor by a protective

5. When goods made by pauper labor abroad can be sold here without paying Cleveland (O) Democratic City Cenfor admission to this market, the dan- tral Committee, a life-long Demoerat, ger is that our own will become pauper | and a prominent Irishman, hastendared labor also. The Republi an party his resignation and addressed the folmakes foreign goods pay duty, and so | lowing open letter to Mr. Blaine giving builds up home industry and a home reasons for his change of sentimenta. of the Potomae" Withdrawn by Man- market for farmers. The Democratic It is well worth reading:

6. The Republican party protects the Led by Mr. Blaine in Congress, it "Is he a man to care much for a It may be that Mr. Blaine does not caused Great Britain to give up the sembled a ted generously toward the men of answer the description of Mr. Curtis in claim that British-born citizens still my race. That party is not under many obtathat gentleman's own judgment, but owed allegiance to the British crown. "But if he had once brought himself there is one respect in which the knight- It is pledged to make American citizenly candidate of the Republican party in ship a sateguard in all lands for every must be admitted that they did only the right

8. It upholds the public faith. No. spite of Democratic opposition. Hence

An Open Letter to Mr. Illaine.

Mr. W. J. Gleason, Chairman of the CERVELAND, G. July B. 184. Ros. James G. BLAINE - See Mr. As & Dife-long Democrat, and as an Irish American. permit me to congratulate you on your nemb-nation for President of the Called Makes by the Republican National Convention. Your brilliant record as a stateaman, your cornest and scholarly advocacy of the principles ad the Republican party fully entitled you to the high and honorable recognition you have so enthusiastically received at the hunds of your party. Your unfinching, patricia and gal-iant record in defense of the rights of American estiment, of native or foreign birth, at home and abroad, is worthy of the grainteds, loves his country better than his party. The Republican party in National Convention av gations to the Irish race in this country. speaking from a political standpoint, and their action is the more commendable. It thing. Yet it is generous to do the right thing at the request of those to when a party own nothing. Under all the existing circumstances, and taking your record and candidacy into consideration, the Irisis-Americana can sol consistently, and will not any longer wear a Democratic party collar. It is a well-known fact that the Irish-Americans have marched in nearly solid column under the Democratic banner for the past twenty-finte years, to iceal victories occasionally, but to National defeats regularly. In sumhine and shadew, when all other classes wavered, the irish-Americans as a body have been loval Demo-crats; and this, too, in the face of the fact that they have been repeatedly stabled in the back by the bigsted members of the Denni-cratic party. Your nomination, however, coming as it did from the people, your record as a liberal-minded American, your anteced ents, the antecedents of John A. Logan, 5 galant, brave and chivalmon construct on the ticket, have set my countrymen to thinking for themselves. Under your magnetic leader-HARPER'S WEEKLY "KNIGHT OF OLD." ship, particularly with reference to your grand Americanism and the rights of foreignborn citizens, the hitherto solid Democraise Irish-American army will be had y shattered, if not entirely disbanded. Gratitude is one of the strongest characteristics of the Irish race. As an Irishman by birth, and proud of it: an American by choice, and glorying in it, and speaking for a large number of the sead ing and thinking men of my race in this country, we owe you a debt of gratitude for breaking and casing to the winds the old mos-covered British shibboleth: "Once a British subject, always a British sub-Of what earth's use is any Government that does not jealously protect the rights of its citizens at nome and abroad) None! Your broad and comprehensive American statesmanship has struck a re-bogs County and City of Clarge create Committees Immediately milind a mention of the Destortrait man, in order that I might b the principles and men that heat impulse of every independent, estime. It will afterd ma special excisers. It will afford the them, as a manner too in the endeding effection, as a manner required to the first fi march of propress of a separation of an array and fully account of the unparationed and the separation of our examples of the Republican party countrated to its platform, as well as standard benares, place any insure as well as a standard benares, place any insure fage on the standard benares, place any insure fage on the standard benares, place any insure fage on the standard benares. stoches, and guaranton to every large of lib-erty that America's observing basised, borne alorft by an intioligent, from united people will maintain its proved and woll carned pro then as the grandent emilies that represents the most property at the provisions that the provisions monlight of beares shows spon. Very respectively. WILLIAM J. GLEANIN. ...

The Shallow Cry for a Change.

Judge Thurnman said in his Columbus eporch that it is "a bad thing for martina to remain in power so long. The ferring to the successive administrations of the Government by the Republican party. As matter of principle an occasional change of the party in power is desirable, but no change can be advisable that will bring the rebel South into control of the Governm at which it sought to destroy. If the Democratic South and acquiesced in the election of Ab aham Lincoln, and accepted the verdict of the majority of the American people, is altogether likely that the We publican party would not have retained its long hold upon the Goverment, notwithstanding the wisdom and splendor of its career. But the Democratic South, with the sympathy of the Northern doughtaces, rebelled against the fundamental principles of American liberty, by refusing to submit to the will of the majority of the people. It revolted against the very principles upon which it now pleasts to be restored to power. More than this, sponsive chord in the hearts of every native to sustain itself in its rebuilion against and adopted citizen of this free and giorisus country. A firm believer in America for the a free ballot , it plunged this Nation in-Americans and the perpetuation of its free to one of the most wicked, bloody, and institutions, I appreciate the freedom we unjust fiable of wars, resulting in the here enjoy. In common with my countrymen the world over, I will write, speak, work | killing and wounding of hundreds of and carnestly advocate at all supratic times thousands of brave men, the murdering the Green Isle beyond the sea, the beauti by inches, by starvation, of thomsands of Union prisoners, and in the destruction of thousands of millions of treasure. That war left sorrow and mourning in nearly every household in the North, and our cities, towns, and villages are still painfully reminded of the terrible struggie by the daily presence in our streets of crippled soldiers. That war, was solely the work of the Democratic party, in the bosom of which treason was cradled, nursed, armed and sent forth upon its mission of devastation and death. Can the men of the North, who bore the burden of that struggle, with the bloody battle scenes still vividly before their eyes, be expected to place the authors of that war in power? is a change of government so desirable that true, honest and loyal Union men must be thrust from positions of honor and trust to be superseded by disloyal traitors? Is a change of such paramount necessity that it must be purchased at the cost of degrading patriotism and rewarding treason? As well might a citizen be expected to give the control of his household over to the burgiar who sought to rob and murder his family. The loyal people of the great North have not yet forgotten the Democratic rebellion. They will not forget it as loog as there is a man living who marched with the boys in blue against the hordes of treason. Another insuperable obstacle in the way of such a change as would bring the Democratic party into power consists in the fact that there is no freedom tinued growth of the industries of the country. On the substantial, living issues that interest the people of the United States, the platform of the Democracy is all things come from. The situation in that section is not the outgrowth of the institutions of liberty, nor is it in conformity to the immortal principles set forth in the Declaration of Independence or according to the requirements of our Federal Constitution. The situation in the old Confederate States is, however, the legitimate and direct outgrowth of the accursed institution of human slavery and the war against the Union. The men who formerly owned human beings, who sold men, women and children publiely from the auction-block, who separated husband from wife, parent from child, brother from sister with the same lack of human sympathy that they would manifest in the sale of a dog or a horse, and who went to war to preserve their right to barter in human chattels, still form the controlling element in the South. The opinions concerning the inferiority of the negro and the right to enslave him were handed down to them by their ancestors: they were the growth of two centuries, and that which the course of time has so deeply implanted in the human mind, time only can extirpate. In the North the negro is regarded as a citizen endowed with rights equal to his white neighbor. In the South he is still treated as an inferior being, and his vote grasping monopoly that has been put up as is not counted. The will of the ager, in the act of announcing the with-drawal of "The Tragedy of the Potomac" and the substitution of "three new and Chicago in a body to help secure his ability, then, and not till then will the people ment is based upon the right of the nomination. If the Southern meth. ods of conducting elections are just, then our Constitution and the Declaration of independence are wrong. If the Southern methods are unjust, illehundred years of unreleating persecution and tyranny over freland shows her hatred gal, and contrary to the spirit of our for the unconquered and unconquerable peo-ple of the Green Isle. It is only necessary to institutions, then the party which has its greatest strength in the South should add that every English Celt-hating journal not neede to the control of our Government. Such is the opinion of the great masses of the intelligent people Republican candidate, Blaine. It is a safe rule for every man of Irish descent or libertythroughout the North. There is no ving sympathies to favor whatever or who such necessity for a change as to require the restoration to power of the old party of slavery, treason, lawlessness and with contempt every one and everything that Southern election frauds. No amount had even a semblance of justice, favor or con-cession to the Irish American element as a of talking can convince the in-telligent liberty-loving masses of the North that they are any the less fit to govern this country than the old slave-bolders and ex-rebels. In recognized fact. When the sics of November roll around the Irish-American element can by the potency of their ballots, stiently but emphatically resent the issue and assert the dignity of their manhood. The Democratic free trade doctrine, as advocated by a twothe natural course of events there will thirds majority of Democratic Congressmen thirds majority of Democratic Congressment, reasserted as a rallying cry in the Democratic platform, means the decadence of America, the building up of English manufacturers, the reduction of the wages of American work-ingmen to the level of the pauper labor of Europe; the accumulation of wealth in the bands of the few to the detriment of the some time be a change of the party in power, but it will not be this year, nor four, nor eight, nor twelve years hence. The war of the rebellion dealt a shock to the Nation from which it will not rehands of the few to the detriment of the many; the creation of an aristocracy and the consequent degrading of American manhood; the turning of the wheels of American prog-ress backward, never-ending labor, destruc-tion of our industries for the momentary gratification of petty theorists and English sympathizers. Under the teachings of the Republican party, as contended for nearly unachinement by its Representatives in Concover for many years to come. The treason of the South destroyed the con-fidence of the Nation in the political trustworthiness of that section. That confidence can not be restored until the States which were made solid for the destruction of the Union, and have been kept solid by oppression, murder and read, shall throw off the mantle of cruel light of race prejudice, pu ballot box, and allow the will of majority to amort its sway .- Cle

(See Speech by G. W. Curtis in Chicago Convention, June 5, 1884.)

John Gordon had a friend at Arles- wine shouldn't be treated in the same ford, or rather an acquaintance, on way as physic. By-the-by, what whom he had determined to call, and brought you into this part of the world he went forth to call on Rev. Mr. at all?"

Blake. Of Mr. Blake he only knew "I came to see one Mr. Whittlethat he was a curate of a neighboring staff."

parish, and that they two had been at "What! old William Whittlestaff? Oxford together. So he walked down Then, let me tell you, you have come to to the inn to order his dinner, not feel- see as honest a fellow, and as gooding his intimacy with Mr. Blake suffi- hearted a Christian, as any that I cient to justify him in looking for his know."

"You do know him?"

dinner with him. A man always dines. let his sorrow be what it may. A woman "Oh, yes, 1 know him. I'd like to contents herself with tea, and mitigates | see the man whose bond is better than her sorrow by an extra cup. John old Whittlestafi's. Did you bear what Gordon ordered a roast fowl and asked he did about that young lady who is living with him? She was the daughter his way to the curate's house. Rev. Montagu Blake was curate of of a friend-simply of a friend-who Little Alresford, a parish, lying about died in pecuniary distress. Old Whittlethree miles from the town. The vicar staff brought her into his house and was a feeble old gentleman who had made her his own daughter. It isn't gone away to die in the Riviera, and every one who will do that, you Mr. Blake had the care of the souls to know."

himself. He was a man whose lines "Why do you call him old?" said had fallen in pleasant places. There John Gordon.

were about two hundred and fifty men, "Well, I don't know. He is old." women and children in his parish, and "Just turned fifty." not a Dissenter among them. For looking after these folk he had one hundred been a married man, he'd looked main entrance into Mr. Whittlestaff's and twenty pounds per annum, and as younger. He has got a very nice young garden. He could but see the drunken, berley, many thousand miles from

"Oh no," said Blake. "I won't say

"I wonder whether she is fond ofthe sort of man to make a girl fond of

> CHAPTER X. JOHN GORDON AGAIN GOES TO CROKER'S HALL. The next morning, when John Gordon reputable old man with a wooden leg and a red nose. This was Mr. Baggett, or Sergeant Baggett, as he was generally called, and was now known about all Alesford to be the husband of Mr. Whittlestaff's housekeeper, For news had got abroad that Mr. Baggett was about to claim his wife. Everybody knew it bedered sons. fore the inhabitants of Croker's Hall. And since vesterday afternoon all Croker's Hall knew it. He was standing close to the house, which stood a drunk. little back from the road, between nine and ten in the morning, as drunk as a lord. Though he had only one leg of the flesh and one of wood, he did not tumble down, though he brandished in the air the stick with which he was accustomed to disport himself. The Sergeant had come out on the road from the yard into which the back-door of the house opened, and seemed to John Gordon as though: having been so far expelled, he was determined to be driven no further, and he was accompanied, at a distance, by his wife. "Now, 'Timothy Baggett," began the unfortunate woman, "you may just take yourself away out of that, as fast as your legs can carry you, before the police comes to fetch you." "My legs! Whoever heard a fellow told of his legs when there was one of them wooden. And as for the perlice, I shall want the perlice to fetch my wife along with me. I ain't a-going to stir out of this place without Mrs. B. I'm a hold man, and wants a woman to look arter me. Come along, Mrs. B." Then he made a motion as though to run after her, still brandishing the stick. But she retreated, and he came down, seated on the pathway by the roadside, as though he had only accomplished an init does not know one now. tended maneuver. "Give me a drop o' summat, Mrs. B., and I don't mind if I stay here half an hour longer." Then he laughed loudly, nodding his his head merrily at the bystanders.

All this happened just as John Gordon came up to the corner of the road.

"Fifty is old. Perhaps, if he had from whence, by a pathway, turned the Manager Lincoln-Ladies and gentlemen, I regret to say that the tragedy entitled "The reached the corner of the road at which stood Croker's Hall, he met on the roadway, close to the house; a most disthing in Farces, I assure you-by the veteran Composer, Gideon Welles. [Unbounded applause by the Copperheads.]

> and infamous of these cartoons was one | 10. It honors the soldiers who saved which Harper's Weekly printed after the the Union by putting down a Democratbattle of Fredericksburg, in which Co- ic rebellion. It has granted large penlumbia is represented as asking an ac- sions, and has enacted that Union solcount of Abraham Lincoln for her mur- diers shall be preferred in the choice of civil officers. It names for Vice-Presi-

> In another cartoon Mr. Lincoln was dent a soldier statesman against Henrepresented in the midst of a company dricks, the copperhead and demagogue. bar-room loafers, himself reeling 11. Its candidate for President has exalted ability and great experience, is

> The flight through Baltimore was pic- one of the foremost statesmen of the torially illustrated in Harper's in a age, and was selected as his chief admanner designed to cast discredit on viser by President Garfield. Against the courage and veracity of Mr. Lin- him the Democrats have named a man coln: indeed, there was nothing too vile of no experience or knowledge of men, for Harper's Beekly to say of the mar- who never had force enough to make tyred President at the time when its people know or care what his opinions support might have been of service to were, and who was nominated by cor-

> > ---

with a venom that they have justly ac- sharp quarrel in the Democratic party itself remains. We are perfectly satis-We leave Mr. George William Curtis fied with the nominations. The work to make the most of his "Journal of of the convention is another triumph of Civilization," and we have only to add unmitigated humbug, both as to ticket that it does not lie in the mouth of that and platform. Neither specifically reppaper to say that the candidate of the resents anything or anybody. We have Republican party is not worthy of sup- seen one "Reform Governor" of New port because he is not like Abraham York tried, and even though he had Lincoln, "a knight indeed without fear only the canvass in which to display and without reproach." Harper's himself, the great body of "Republican Weekly did not know a "knight" when Independents' who supported him have

The cartoon of which an exact fac- old as Tilden, but he is quite as much

With great pretensions to supporting Harper's Weekly January 31, 1863, during the elarkest period of the war. It reform in the State administration of represents Abraham Lincoln as a seedy. New York, he killed about all the really scared and trembling theatrical man- vital Reform bills passed by a Repub-and places, for the same blessing of freedom land of my nativity. In conferences with a large number of my countrymen in this city and State, and in correspondence with scores of them from all parts of the Union, since your nomination, especially among the boys who wore the blue during the late unpleasantness thaving personally bad the honor as a volunteer private soldier from thio in the Union army at seventeen years o age, the aggregate of opiniou I found is crystallizing in your favor the gentlemen to whom I refer having been hitherto leading and working Democrats in their respective localities. The planks of the Republican platform, relative to the "duty of our Gov-ernment to protect the rights and promote the interests of our own people; protection to American industry; the establishment of a National Bureau of Labor; the enforcement of the Eight-hour law: the public lands a heritage of the people of the United States for actual settlers in small boldings: opposition to the acquisition of large tracts of iands by corporations or individuals, especially where such holdings are in the hands of nonresidents and allens; liberal pensions to disabled Union soldiers and satiors, and th wislows and orphans of those who died in the war: the restoration of the navy to its old time strength and efficiency; the people of the United States, in their organized capacity, constitute a Nation, and not a more confi erney of States; a free ballot, an honest count and a correct return; the passage of such legislation as will secure to every citizen of whatever race or color, the full and con plete recognition, possession and exercise of all civil and political rights," appeals to the natural pride, the sound judgment, the wadom and support of every thinking, patriotic, independent, fair-minded American citizen. The platform of principles of the Democratic party, where it speaks plainly, simply continuce that organization where it has been for the past twenty-four years as the opposition party. The main sections of the declaration of principles, however, are as usual made up of shuffling cowardice, Janus-faced pro-fessions, intentionally deceptive, the fersions, intentionally deceptive, the creation of non-producing theorists who are more interested in their pet hobbies than in the building up and conto all men, and bears no certain sound to any one. It is therefore undeserving of the sup-port of all citizens who admire honesty and candor in public matters as well as in the every-day affairs of life. When a universallyrecognized statesman and a leader of the old guard that has kept the Democratic flag century, like Allen G. Thurman, is set ashie, through the machinations of the most corrupt and despicable gang of monopolistic conspira tors and political pirates that ever purchased a Senatorship or scuttled the Democratic ship, because he was a fitter representative of all that had been pure in Democracy, and had a record on the side of the masses of the people, for an untried accident, a creature of circumstances, a willing tool of monopolists, like Cleveland, it is high time that the heretoore taithful old Democratic guard, who has had notices serve I upon them that their serv tens are no longer required, should vigorously repudiate the cheap pigmy that had been and Olivers of the Standard Oll ring. All of the old guard, who prize square dealing above hypocrisy, brain more than matter, the inte ests of the whole people more than the abject tool of the monopolists, should work and vote against a man who was placed in comination to catch a half-dozen Independent Republican dudes, one two-hundred-tollar a sight kicker, one preacher advocate of bread and water for workingmen, one imported English carica-turist, the English press and English free-

Very cheap raw material may be sometimes used for mayors of cities, and occasionally in tidal wave years for Governors of States, as can be safely inferred without going a thousand miles away from home, but the enlightened people of this grand Republic will not elevate to the highest office within their gift an enemy of the workingmen, a bigoted accident, a willing and subservient tool of him, and its opposition was a constant rupt rings of which he would be the tool. - Troy (N. Y.) Times. hindrance and annovance. Harper's Weekly was the doughface of 1860 to 1864 as it is the doughtace of The Democratic Nominations. Whatever advantage the Democrats Mr. Blaine is honored by the opposition of a newspaper conducted on the may have expected to reap from the principles which the elder Harpers laid nomination of Cleveland as a sop to the down in war times and the younger "Independents" has been discounted. Harpers have pursued in time of peace Whatever disadvantage attaches to the

it had one offered it in 1860. Possibly discovered and admitted that he was an trade sympathizers.

"old humbug." Cleveland is not so simile is given above was printed in of a humbug.

pretty a little parsonage as could be girl there with him: and if he isn't too found in England. There was a squire old to think of such things, he may with whom he was growing in grace marry her. Do you know Miss Lawand friendship, who, being the patron rie?"

of the living, might possibly bestow it upon him. It was worth only two handred and fifty pounds, and was not, therefore, too valuable to be expected. He had a modest fortune of his own, three hundred pounds a year, perhaps, daughters?" and-for the best of his luck shall be ""Well, ves. They're nice girls too.

tle girl, with a further sum of said Gordon. five thousand pounds belonging to ... There are prebendaries and there * herself. He was thirty years of age, in the possession of perfect though he's an uncommonly good felit necessary for him to abandon any of living from the other, I shall think mythe innocent pleasures of this world. self very lucky. Miss Lawrie is a hand-He could dine out, and play cricket, some girl, and everything that she and read a novel. And should he ought to be; but if you were to see Katchance when riding about the parish, tie Forrester, think you would say that or visiting some neighboring parish, to she was A 1. I sometimes wonder come across the hounds, he would not whether old Whittlestaff will think of scruple to see them over a field or two. marrying." So that Rev. Montagu Blake was, upon Gordon sat silent. How supremely the whole, a happy fellow.

you remember Gordon at Exeter.

"John Gordon! Gracious me! Of this young parson. They were alone There he may select hanging or about-course 1 do. What a good fellow you together, and it seemed as though Prov-are to come and look a fellow up! idence had provided him with a friend. Chicago Herald.

"Yes: I know her." "Don't you think she's nice? Only my goose is cooked. I'd go in for her sooner than any one I can see about." "Sooner than your own squire's four mentioned last-he was engaged to the But I don't fancy one out of four. And daughter of one of the prebendaries of they'd look higher than the curate." Winchester, a pretty, bright lit- "A prebendary is as high as a squire," are squires. Our squire isn't a swell, health, and not so strict as to make low. If I get a wife from one and a happy was this young parson with his

He and John Gordon had been Kattie Forrester and his promised livthrown together at Oxford for a short ing, and with his bottle of port wine time during the last months of their and comfortable house! All the world residence, and, though quite unlike seemed to have smiled with Montague each other in their pursuits, circum- Blake. But with him, though there stances had made them intimate. It had been much success, there had been was well that Gordon should take a none of the world's smiles. He was stroll for a couple of hours before din-ner, and therefore he started off for that the world would never smile on Little Alresford. Going into the par-sonage gate he was overtaken by Blake, and introduced himself. "Don't wife whom he had chosen. Then he red-nosed man, and the old woman, whom he recognized as Mrs. Whittlestaff's servant, and a crowd of idlers who followed Sergeant Baggett up to the scene of his present exploits. Croktown, just where the town was begin- sons, but the following are a few: ning to become country, and where the girls will come out." This was said by Mrs. Baggett, advancing almost over the future needs of the country. the future needs of the country.

with triumph.

TO BE CONTINUED.]

-Ap English paper says that the 3. The Republican party trusts the or personally. His political record is broider and ornament the quitrent people. tablecloths; hence these cloths, becom- 4. It has always protected labor. The There are a few fatuous souls who and called doyleys.

felt tempted to tell his own story to he shall be put to death is in Utah.

striking (war) farces or burlesques."-Chicago Tribane.

Eleven Reasons.

quired by inheritance.

A young reader asks why he should personal political ambition. er's Hall was not above a mile from the be a Republican. There are many rea-them, and the larger houses a field or and the most prosperous period in the all to get a nomination for President. two. "Yes, sir: master is at home. If history of the coun ry. The grand suc- And so in every point where excel passed him. He only laughed, and 4,500,000 Republican voters. These men of high character shall be elected looked around upon the bystanders voters have not changed in character, to high office;" and they fiercely conintelligence or beliefs. No other body demn any man who is not "above sus-such confidence.

word doyley, now a familiar one with people absolutely as no other party short but it is full of vulnerable spots. fashionable ladies, is derived from the ever has. It has had the courage to His personal career has not been prominame of Robert D'Oyley, one of the fol- serve the best interests of the people, nent, but very ugly stories are told lowers of William the Norman. He re- with faith that they have the intelli- about him, at home. Statesmanship ceived a grant of valuable lands on the gence and patriotism to appreciate nobody claims for him. Even his percondition of the yearly tender of a such service. Thus it has represented sonal views on public questions are not feast of St. Michael. Agreeably to the the South, nor the political tricksters strength. But the days of Polk and fashion of the time the ladies of the or "bosses" of corrupt cities, nor the Pierce are gone by, and either of them D'Oyley family were accustomed to em- theorists, nor the millionaires, but the was a statesman of renown and record ing curiosities and accumulating in the abolition of slavery removed competi-course of years, were at length brought tion of unpaid workers, and elevated Hendricks will even carry Massachuinto use as aspkins at the royal table all labor. The Homestead law gave setts. Election day will dissipate the every industrious man the power to delusion. Cleveland may get 5,000 support himself and family without de- votes that went for Garfield four year -The only place in America where a pendence upon any employer, and so ago. But he will fail to get more than convicted murderer has choice of how fixed a limit below which wages can that who went for Hancock. Massacht-be shall be put to death is in Utah. not be depressed. At the desire of setts will show what fidelity to Republabor, the Eight-hour law has been licanism means in her most em assed and the importation of coolies tones, when she casts her vote.-Le been prohibited. Above all. a.) Journal

Decrying "the machine" in politics land, over a brainy, gifted statesman like Blaine. Is 1776, 1812, and from 1861 to 1865 he has used every political appliance he has used every political appliance mre the growth, freedom and unity in the known to modern times to further his United States. Perfolious Albions, seven Denouncing "corrupt rings," he has used every one of them except Tam-1. The past twenty-years, under Re- many, traded with them, dickered with houses all had gardens belonging to publican rule, form the most glorious them, purchased them and sold them- Every Celt-hating English journal opposes the you please to ring the bell one of the cess of the party in the past is the lence is claimed for him he proves to be the body of her prostrate husband. 2. Fast success has been due to the Massachusetts bolters magnilo mently "Drunken brute!" she said, as she right purposes and true wisdom of set out with the postulate that "only of citizens has shown itself entitled to picion." Grover (leveland is far from being above suspicion, either politically tablecloth of three shillings value at the and obeys, not the large land-owners at known. In this is supposed to lie his compared with Cleveland.

unanimously by its Representatives in a party's National platform, American industry, the miss country will continue; America

" Iou can yet see the bu where the New York Th the wood under,